And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I have sat in sessions of this Senate for three years and unless there is another special session this will be the last opportunity I will have during my term of office to express myself on a piece of legislation in the Senate. I have never been one of the vocal Senators, in the sense that my speeches were rather few and far between, but when I speak, I speak with sincerity; I have never given any thoughts to this Senate that I did not believe in implicitly and I assure you, gentlemen, tonight is no exception to that rule; I have never been more sincere or more intensely interested in any bill which has ever come before the body of this Senate than this bill.

I am going to ask you, out of consideration to me, to follow my remarks carefully. I assure you I do not intend to deliver an harangue, but inasmuch as I am going to discuss the merits of this piece of legislation, technical in nature, it will be important for you to follow me if you are going to understand me.

I believe we are all in accord with the fundamental proposition, that, as representatives of the people, it is our duty in representing our people to present to the Senate on legislation the opinions of the people we represent, and as one of the Senators from Allegheny county

I can tell you this, the people of Allegheny County are almost unanimous in their interest in the failure of this bill. The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, the Pittsburgh Press, have printed numerous editorials condemning the thing that this bill would do. The real estate board of Pittsburgh, a group of men who certainly should know the workings of this bill, are against the bill. Yesterday the president and the secretary of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board came to this Senate Chamber and talked to members of the Senate to give them the reasons why this bill is dangerous to the financial structure of the great county of Allegheny, and I say to you that if this bill should pass, you will have on your consciences, if the Governor should sign it, the probable financial destruction of the county of Allegheny, because you are interfering with the method for the assessment of taxes and on that method of assessment is determined the taxes which we need in our county to run our government.

In order to discuss this bill it is necessary to discuss the history of the present board for the assessment and revision of taxes in Allegheny County. Prior to 1939 there were two boards for the assessment and revision of taxes in Allegheny County. There was one board which did the assessing for tax purposes for the city of Pittsburgh and there was another board, known as the county board, which did the assessing for the purposes of taxation for the county government and for the various municipal subdivisions thereof.

In 1939, my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Walker, introduced a bill in this Senate which had the effect of combining both of those tax boards, and in accordance with the provisions of that act the boards were combined. In 1942, the new board, the first board to operate under the Act of 1939, made the first triennial assessment, and that board had a difficult job because of the fact that it had to coincide two separate assessments of land, and as a result of the difficulty of the job there were thousands of cases where tax assessments were reduced, but there were also thousands of cases where assessments were increased. You know human nature as well as I do, and you know if you increase assessment on the property of people, they resent that increase whether the increase is fair or whether the increase is unfair.

As a result of thousands of increases in assessments, there was an extreme protest aroused in our county against the present board for the assessment and revision of taxes; there were meetings held all over the county, and I might say in passing, those meetings in many cases were inspired by the author of this bill. As a result of those protests county commissioners, able men that I think they are, one of the most splendid things I have ever seen any governmental body do, they determined to investigate the charges which were made themselves, they did not appoint a committee to investigate that would whitewash them. They went to Mr. McClurg, one of the outstanding economists of our city. The county commissioners put the problem directly in his hands and they told him they wanted him to nominate and choose a board of people who had no connection with politics in our county, men who had eminence and learning and understanding in their field, and they said they wanted an honest report on those accusations which had been aired in the papers of our county.

That board made an investigation, that board did a magnificent job, and that board found things that were wrong with our board for the assessment and revision of taxes, and then our county commissioners did another tremendously courageous thing, they adopted almost in toto the recommendations of this investigatory board. At the present time I can say to you that six of the seven members of the board for the assessment and revision of taxes have resigned in Allegheny County, because of the criticism leveled at them from this investigation committee of which I have spoken.

We do not need this bill in Allegheny county to clean up the situation, and I again repeat that the situation is caused primarily by the fact that we had a combination of the two boards for the assessment and revision of taxes and it was most difficult for that board to make the two assessments coincide.

In discussing the merits of this bill, there are many glaring defects in it. Do you know, gentlemen, that there have been approximately twenty thousand appeals taken to our board for the assessment and revision of taxes, and under Senator Walker's act of 1939 it is mandatory that those appeals be heard by the board for the assessment and revision of taxes—there are seven members of the board—and yet this bill in the face of the problem which confronts us, the board, under the terms of this bill, would be cut to three members and I ask any member of this Senate if he thinks it is possible for a board of three members to conduct the hearings which are absolutely mandatory under this law.

There are provisions in this bill that I am in accord with. I want you to know I am not interested in whitewashing anything that is wrong with our board for the assessment and revision of taxes. Those things, however, are few. In some instances the author of the bill started out to do something that, had he accomplished it, probably would have been beneficial to the effectiveness of the act of 1939.

It is interesting to note that under the provisions of this bill these three men, who would be responsible for the assessment and revision of taxes of a county which has an assessed real estate value in excess of two and a half million dollars, must all be registered real estate brokers. A lawyer or engineer would be prevented by this bill from being a member of that board, and yet I know you agree with me on the basis of your knowledge of assessments of taxes, that it would be a good thing if someone trained in the law or trained in engineering were to be a member of that board.

The board, in addition to making assessments of real estate values, also has the duty of assessing personal property for taxation purposes. Do you know in our county we collect annually approximately two million dollars of taxes on personal property, that is, on stocks and bonds, and yet under this bill, if it passes, you are not going to put on the board a man who has any qualifications to determine the value of stocks or bonds or other securities which are taxable under the personal property act affecting our county.

This bill is unconstitutional because of the fact, as I indicated to you, that six of the seven members of the board have resigned, their resignations not having been accepted as yet. There is written into this bill the provision that with the passage of the bill the term of office of the men who have resigned is declared to be vacated, and it is not within the province of this Legislature to do that; the appointing power has the power of dismissal, and until such time as the county commissioners of Allegheny County accept the resignations of those members of the board, they still in law are members of the board.

It is interesting to me, being an advocate—and unfortunately one of the few in the Senate—of civil service, that there is an attempt in this act to set up civil service, but I can only say to you the attempt is a failure, the provisions are pseudo civil service, and the employees of the board in no way are protected by the provisions of the bill. I think that because with all the verbiage in the bill there is not any provision that protects an employee in case he is illegally dismissed by our board of county commissioners or the board of assessment or revision of taxes.

Then, in section 3, page 7 of the bill, a limitation is placed on the number of persons who can be employed as subordinate or special assessors. The bill says the board can not employ more than 25 subordinate assessors or ten special assessors, and I ask you does it seem logical that we should hamstring the board of commissioners of Allegheny County and say to them "Gentlemen, no matter what the situation you can have no more than 105 employees of your board."

This week I understood, when this bill was amended, that one of the amendments would eliminate this specific provision and yet I was very much shocked to find when the bill was printed that provision is retained.

There are interesting little things in the bill that to me are quite laughable. For instance, the author in his desire to see that the proper people are appointees of the board, set up a method of examination and he requires that those people must have a mark of eighty per cent. While I am not an expert on measurements, I say to you the percentage is not important but the type of examination you give is important, and in this bill we find something entirely new to any legislation I have ever read in the history of Pennsylvania, which requires, after the examination is given, that the examination questions be printed in the paper. If they want to be helpful why do not they print the examinations first, so that everyone can pass.

Again, Mr. President, there is a Hatch Act provision in this bill. I have stated repeatedly on the floor of this Senate, although I believe in civil service, I do not believe in Hatch Acts; I believe every person of our democracy should have an interest in his government and an opportunity to express himself actively in working for his democracy.

One of the interesting things is, with all the civil service we find this statement; "The board shall have power to fire any employee not needed," and you do not have to be a Pennsylvania lawyer or a Philadelphia lawyer to know that catch-all would be a thing that would enable the board of county commissioners of Allegheny County, if they cared to, to fire any member of the board or any person employed by the board.

Under section 5, page 10, a register is set up. I think that is a fine idea and I personally believe every person whose property is assessed should have an opportunity of comparing his assessment with that of other people whose properties are located in a district similar to that in which his property is located.

I have no objection to section 7 of the bill. But then we come to section 8 (1) (a) page 11, in which an attempt is made to tell the board for the assessment and revision of taxes how they are to determine value, and after they go through all these various categories they finally end up by saying to the assessor, "you just go ahead and assess in accordance with what you think is the fair value."

I have almost finished, gentlemen. In section 11 there is a provision that the subordinate special assessors can not sit on the board. If that section had been amended so that these men who can sit with the board but can not sit on the board, had been permitted to hear tax appeals, then perhaps the first provision cutting the number of members of the board to three would be justified, but unfortunately the bill does not make that provision.

I want to say to you gentlemen and to the Governor of this state, if you pass this bill, knowing its contents, knowing the harm it would do to the county of Allegheny, then you have done an unconscionable thing, and if as a result of the passage of this bill there is any damage done to the government of our county, then you gentlemen on the Republican side are going to be the persons who will have to tell the people of Allegheny County that you did the thing deliberately, knowing the possible effects of the bill and without any consideration as to their welfare.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I do not think we in the Senate should have to pass a bill to satisfy an unhappy man's grouch.—I mean the sponsor of this bill, Mr. Owen B. Hannon, a member of the House. I do not think Mr. Hannon should use postal blackmail on our colleague from Allegheny, Senator Walker, to try to force this bill through the Senate.

The people of Allegheny County have asked you members of the Senate, through the public press, to please not meddle in their tax problem as it is in Allegheny County today; they have said to the legislature, please keep your hands off and we can settle our own problems. If you pass this bill as it is written I am sure you are going to becloud and confuse a situation that is much confused at this time.

Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. It is a pleasure, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, and ask if he will answer my questions and not make a speech on each one.

Mr. WALKER. The answer is yes to both, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Is the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, in favor of all the provisions in this bill.

Mr. WALKER. No, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, has the gentleman from Allegheny Senator Walker, asked his Caucus to support him in helping to get this bill to pass the Senate?

Mr. WALKER. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, tell me the provisions in this bill that he is not in favor of.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I will be very happy to answer that question, if the gentleman will release me for thirty seconds to explain.

In answer to my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Barr, there are some features in this bill of which I do not approve; I have a slight objection to them. People who are far more conversant with the intricate mechanisms of assessing property, for example, Mr. McClurg, who was mentioned by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox—their opinions count more with me than opinions of others, because they are supposed to be experts; they disagree with my conclusions, and while I am not convinced, I am bowing to superior numbers and superior experience. There are some features in the bill I do not approve of.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to have the gentleman point them out. I ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, if he will tell me the features of the bill he does not approve of. I think the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, should point those things out to us, I think he should call them to my attention; and I should like to have the man who is supporting the bill in the Senate tell us the parts of the bill he does not like.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise on a point of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am inquiring to learn whether or not the Republican Caucus action is so binding that no matter what anybody points out on the Senate floor the vote will not be changed.

Mr. WALKER. That is right, Mr. President; when the roll is called, the votes will come in no matter what Barr and Walker say.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I have not finished my parliamentary inquiry. My reason for asking, Mr. President, is that nobody is paying any attention to what is being said.

Mr. WALKER. Nobody cares, Mr. President. Mr. Barr and I, if we can just take the two reporters out there in the Racket Club, we can explain this thing for the record, and that is all we are going through.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair noticed when the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, was speaking, virtually no one excepting the Chair listened to the gentleman, as most of the Democrats were out of the room, and when the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, was speaking most of the Republicans were out of the room.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not like this question to be trifled with, as I think it is of vital importance to our county. I can not insist that the members of the Senate listen, but I do not think Caucus action on a bill such as this should be so binding, until they find out the bad features of this bill which my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Walker, said he will tell me. What are the bad features of the bill? The gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Walker, did there were some bad features in the bill.

Mr. WALKER. I can remember when we were kids, Mr. President, we used to play post office; if the gentleman will tell me what he is objecting to, maybe we can get somewhere.

Mr. BARR. I give I have the floor, and I should like the gentleman from Allegheny to tell me the bad features in this bill; the gentleman said he agreed there were some bad features in the bill.

Mr. WALKER. I will say to my esteemed colleague from Allegheny, Senator Barr, I am not convinced on this question of a three man board. I thought perhaps we should stick to a seven man board, as I am advised by a lot of experts a three man board can not handle the situation. And now I would like to explain why they insist on that, because I think this becomes important. There was a seven man board that operated during 1942 and 1943, and now in this proposed bill, introduced by Mr. Hannon, they are cutting the membership down to three. It is true a lot of newspapers did object originally to the Hannon bill, and frankly I do not know what their attitude would be on this bill as it is now before the Senate for action. Under this bill the county is divided into three sections and every year we have this triennial assessment, instead of having it come in on the entire county as a whole at one time, and as a result this three man board will have one-third of the county to handle every year instead of having the entire county.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order. The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. JASPAN. I suggest the absence of a quorum, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, if this were something involving the fair-haired city of Philadelphia you could hear a pin drop in this Chamber. This means something to Allegheny county and my colleague from Allegheny county, Senator Barr, has a perfect right to have these matters placed on the record, and I insist I have the right to answer those questions without all these silly interruptions.

Mr. JASPAN. That is the very reason I ask that a quorum be present, to hear these arguments. I think it is a very important matter and I agree with the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, and I think everyone should be present here on the floor to listen to the arguments.

Mr. HOLLAND. I ask for a roll call to check whether there is a quorum present.

Mr. BARR. I am very serious, Mr. President, and I should like to have my questions answered.

Mr. WALKER. If I may continue, Mr. President, I am not reconciled that a three man board would be better than a seven man board. As I previously said, these experts insisted that three men could handle it because in this Hannon bill now before us the county of Allegheny is divided into three sections, so that this new board would have one-third of the county coming up each year instead of having the entire county coming up in a year's time and they, therefore, feel a three man board could handle it in that way.

I agree with the statements of my fellow colleagues from Allegheny, Senator Cox and Senator Barr, when they said Pittsburgh newspapers were opposed to this bill in its original form and frankly I do not know what their attitude is going to be when they have an opportunity to see the amended bill, because I have not seen any comment one way or the other in any of our metropolitan papers on it.

Another point in the bill to which I was not reconciled was the point mentioned by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, which is found on page 7 of the bill, where it says the board may appoint to serve, at its pleasure, 95 subordinate and 10 special assessors, because, Mr. President, I personally was of the opinion that the number of assessors and special assessors should be left to the board or the county commissioners, because it is their responsibility, but this matter was demanded by some of those real estate boards mentioned by my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Cox, including Mr. McClurg, whose experience he quoted and who was present at the time this matter arose. Some of those men in that conference thought 95 as the maximum for assessors and 10 as the maximum for special assessors, would be adequate, and therefore that was left in the bill, and being a neophyte in this assessment business, in spite of the fact I sponsored the acts of 1939-1941, I was willing to let them override my judgment in this matter.

There are also one or two other items with which I do not agree, but I understand I was out-voted by the group which was amending this bill a week ago. One of those items is on page 9, where the bill says the board shall not appoint employees sponsored by any political organization or any officer of any political organization, and may if necessary advertise for competent employees.

Mr. President, I was not in favor of that section of the bill because I felt if the board found a competent assessor or a competent special assessor, he or she should be permitted to be appointed regardless of the fact he or she might be a committeeman of the Democrat, Republican or Royal Oak Party; I am not in favor of having people barred from public office because they take an active interest in our public life.

One other item in the bill to which I did not agree was this suggestion in the act that you could not engage in political activities if you were a member of this board or an assessor or a special assessor; with that, of course, I disagree as a matter of policy because I think taking an active interest in politics is just as much a part of our American way of life as our inherent right to attend a ball game. Just because a fellow happens to be an expert real estate appraiser and takes a job to help Allegheny county solve this problem, I do not think we should say he can not attend a ball game or he can not take an interest in elections. Therefore, I was opposed to that section.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I think my original statement was that this was the trick of a man who is rather unhappy, and since the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, has told me all these things he does not like in the bill, I am more convinced than ever that Mr. Hannon is using a little political blackmail on the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, to shove this bill out on the floor and get it passed.

Now, Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, who are all these experts he has referred to.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I did not take part in the conference but I mentioned the name of Mr. McClurg—I think he is a member of the Pittsburgh Real Estate

Board and also a member of the investigatory committee that filed the report and many of the substantive amendments which are in this bill were recommended by this investigatory committee in their reports.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I should like to read to the members of the Senate a telegram addressed to me by Mr. Leonard P. Kane, vice-president of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, which says: "according to Pittsburgh papers Senator Walker has stated on the Senator floor that Pittsburgh Real Estate Board and assessment research committee have endorsed the Hannon bill with its amendments. This is a deliberate lie as the real estate board has gone on record as vigorously opposed to Hannon bill and the research committee has never taken any action favoring this bill or any other bill. The board and the committee are of the opinion that present legislation is ample, providing some change is made in the board personnel."

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I received a copy of that telegram also from Mr. Kane, who was a Democratic member of the House.

Mr. BARR. He was a Republican, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. Let us not dig up his registration card—he was a member of the House for a number of years. I met him here on the Senate floor within half an hour after I got a copy of this telegram—in other words, he brought the telegram down here—and I asked him how about this, because I pointed out to him I never had made any statement on the floor with regard to this bill; he obtained his information through three or four sources and he said he had never read the bill now before the Senate, and we dug up copies of the bill for this group who were down here, and I asked him if those fellows would please read the bill as it now is and then talk to us afterward, and, Mr. President, that is the last I ever saw of them.

I can understand why some of these men are opposed to this bill, because the members of the Real Estate Board of Pittsburgh are going to have the opportunity of suggesting to the county commissioners, who have been very fair about this thing, that they shall appoint or shall recommend the members of this board. In other words, if there were seven members, they would be approved or suggested or recommended and practically appointed by the real estate board.

As the story was told to me by Mr. McClurg and Mr. Monteverde, the county commissioner said to the real estate board, "You fellows appoint this new board of assessors," and they said, "Oh no, that is your job;" and it was finally decided the county commissioners would not appoint anyone who was not recommended by the real estate board. So it is easy to see, Mr. President, that some members of this real estate board, especially its officers, are beginning to come to the point where they say, "We will make great sacrifices and take these jobs." and by that you can easily see there will be two, three, four or more men who will be bitterly disappointed, and I can understand them being against this bill.

I want to repeat, so that I will not be misquoted, there are two members of this board who are in favor of this bill, one is Mr. McClurg and the other is Mr. Monteverde; as to the attitude of the rest of the members of the real estate board I do not know.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, in response to the statement of my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Walker, I want to correct his statement and tell him again that Mr. Kane was a Republican member and I think he is at present Republican City Chairman, and he also was when he was a member of the House. This Mr. Hannon, a representative of the House, made a statement on the floor of the House that the real estate board had O.K.'d this bill, so one of the members of the House, Mr. Louis Leonard wrote to the board and I have in my hand the answer written to Mr. Leonard by Mr. Fred J. Hettling, President of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, which is as follows:

"PITTSBURGH REAL ESTATE BOARD

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 1, 1943.

"Hon. Louis Leonard
Member of the House of Representatives
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

"Dear Mr. Leonard:

"I wish to thank you for your letter of April 29th and copy of House Record.

"Mr. Hannon did not meet with a committee of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board in reference to his Bill, H. R. 663, but met a few members of our Board in a lunch room in Pittsburgh; when, naturally, his bill was discussed.

"Mr. Hannon asked me for a letter rescinding the action of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, which I absolutely refused. To my knowledge, no person present admitted that they had not read this Bill. Mr. Hannon made the statement that several amendments had been made to his original bill, and out of courtesy to him and one or two personal friends of his and mine who were in this group, I told Mr. Hannon I would refer his bill back to the committee and ask them if they cared to take further action. My action was based on the presumption that this bill had been materially amended, as he stated.

"For your information, I did refer this bill back to our committee, and their statement was to the effect that the bill had not been materially amended and that our action should not be changed and that we should oppose the passage of this bill very vigorously.

"Again thanking you for your interest in this matter, and assuring you that it is greatly appreciated, I am

Yours very truly

FRED J. HETTLING, President."

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I can find two people in Pittsburgh or three or four now, who are in favor of the bill—Senator Walker and Mr. Hannon—and Mr. Walker is not so sure he agrees with most of the bill—and he says Mr. McClurg and Mr. Monteverde. In reply to that I would like to advise my colleague from Allegheny I would like to talk to them, because I am not too sure they are for it. Here are thirty-two men on the other side and the gentleman is going to make them vote for a bill he does not agree with—that is certainly a strong caucus the Republicans have.

Now, Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Republican Floor Leader, the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Heyburn.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Has the gentleman from Delaware read House Bill No. 663.

My HEYBURN. I have.

Mr. BARR. Can the gentleman from Delaware tell me in short just what it does do to the board of assessors of Allegheny county, without being prompted by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker?

Mr. HEYBURN. Among other things, it reduces the membership of the board to three members, as I understand, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. That is just one of the things the bill does, Mr. President.

Mr. HEYBURN. That is enough to make a complaint about, is it not?

Mr. BARR. No, Mr. President. For the information of the Republican Floor Leader, there were seven men on this board and six of them have resigned, so that does not mean anything. There seems to be a little back room politics, Mr. President, behind this bill. Harvey Taylor came out to Allegheny County to prevent the Democrats from getting together concerning this matter—they should put him under civil service because he is being a big help to the Democratic party.

They brought this matter up before the policy board and there the Republican Chairman of Allegheny County voted not to support this bill and ex-Senator Coyne voted not to support the bill, but the Young Republicans, of which Mr. Walker formerly was a member—they are the ones behind this bill and they are the only faction in Allegheny County that is behind it, and I do not think the people of Allegheny County should be inflicted with a bill of this kind.

I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—29.

Becker,	Farrell,	Letzler,	Thomas,
Bowers,	Geltz,	Mallery,	Tyler,

L. 551) entitled "An act prohibiting the employment of miners as herein defined in the bituminous coal mines unless certified by a miners' examining board providing for the appointment of such boards and defining their powers and duties providing penalties and making an appropriation" by increasing the number of apprentice miners permitted to work with one miner redefining the word "miner" and reducing the number of years of experience necessary to qualify an apprentice to take examination for certificate

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 551) entitled "An act prohibiting the employment of miners as herein defined in the bituminous coal mines unless certified by a miners' examining board providing for the appointment of such boards and defining their powers and duties providing penalties and making an appropriation" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That from and after the [first day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight] effective date of this act no person shall be employed or engaged as a miner in any bituminous coal mine in this Commonwealth except as hereinafter provided for without first having obtained a certificate of competency and qualification from a miners' examining board appointed under this act. Provided however That any miner holding such certificate may have [one person] a maximum of two persons working with him and under his direction as apprentices for the purpose of learning the business of mining and such apprentice or apprentices shall be permitted to work under the direction of such miner at the face without a certificate. For the purposes of this act in order to determine who shall be required to possess certificate the term "miners" shall mean [all] only underground workers in bituminous coal mines who cut drill blast or load coal or rock at the face of an entry room pillar or other working place also timbermen and trackmen whose duties require them to set timbers and lay or repair tracks at the working faces except as hereinafter provided.

Section 2 Section five of said act as amended by the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 867) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 5 All examinations held by miners' examining boards shall be conducted in the English language and shall be of a practical nature so as to determine the competency and qualifications of the applicant to engage in the mining of bituminous coal. The board or boards shall examine under oath all applicants as to their previous experience in mines. Each member of the examining board or boards shall have power to administer oaths and any false statement wilfully made by an applicant under oath shall be deemed perjury. All persons who shall be actually engaged as miners in a bituminous mine in this State at the time of the passage of this act and who shall have reached the age of twenty-one years and have had at least two years' practical experience as mine workers shall be entitled to a certificate without examination upon the payment of a fee of one dollar and after producing satisfactory proof that they have been employed in a bituminous mine in this Commonwealth but no certificates of service shall be issued after the [first day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight] effective date of this act. The form and manner of issuing such certificates shall be designated by the Secretary of Mines. Certificates granted by a board shall entitle the holder thereof to be employed as and to do the work of a miner in the bituminous mines of the Commonwealth.

All persons possessing certificates of qualification issued by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania entitling them to act as mine foreman assistant mine foreman or fire boss shall be eligible to engage at any time as miners in bituminous mines of this State. Supervisory and technically trained employees of the operator whose work contributes only indirectly to mine operations employees who are not performing the work of a miner as that term is defined in this act and apprentices of miners shall not be required to possess a miner's certificate.

A certificate shall not be granted unless the applicant appears in person before the board and answers orally intelligently and correctly at least eight practical questions propounded to him.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, this bill deals directly with the safety of bituminous coal miners. After the bill passed the House and came to the Senate, it was referred to the Committee on Mines and Mining. I was very much opposed to the measure as passed by the House, but in the Committee on Mines and Mining in the Senate, we discussed the bill briefly and I was placed on a subcommittee, with the Chairman of that Committee, the gentleman from Clearfield, Senator Letzler, to see whether it was possible to offer some amendments. Yesterday the Chairman of that Committee and leaders of labor along with the Secretary of Mines and Mining, met for several hours and discussed proposed amendments. The amendments were offered yesterday by the gentleman from Clearfield, Senator Letzler, and now appear in this bill.

It so happens, Mr. President, that I sponsored this act back in 1937 and, naturally, I was not in favor of changing the act, but now since the bill is amended as it is I find no fault with it. I must say the gentleman from Clearfield, Senator Letzler, played a great part in seeing to it that the amendments were accepted.

I feel, Mr. President, yesterday we did a job that up until yesterday I thought was impossible in this body. The Secretary of Mines and Mining came to our meeting and for awhile it was apparent he was headstrong on the bill as it passed the House, but after deeply considering the proposed amendments, he did recede from his position and the Chairman of the Committee receded from his position.

I realize the Republicans in this Chamber have a majority and they could, if they so wished, have passed the bill as it came from the House, but I am grateful to know it is possible to sit down with men and decide issues that are important. I can not say that of all the committees in this Chamber. I have witnessed bills passed out on the floor of this Chamber without any hearing on them whatsoever. We know certain committees have met for less than one-half minute and without any due consideration for the opposition, have taken the position they have might regardless of right.

I say again that yesterday, after considering this measure, I found out it is possible for men who are honest, men who are fair men, who are interested in certain legislation, to compromise and bring out bills that will be for the best interests of certain people.

I want to publicly thank both the Secretary of Mines and Mining and also my colleague from Clearfield, Senator Letzler, for the due consideration and their efforts to restore this bill and place it in the position it is now in, where I believe all of my colleagues on this side and the other side can support it.

Therefore, Mr. President, I call for a roll call and ask my colleagues to vote "aye" on this bill.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Sitting in this Senate, in the closing day of this Session, it is hard to realize that somewhere in the world Americans and the men of our Allies are fighting a desperate war so that the rest of us may live on as free men. We are as remote from the struggle as though we were on a desert island in an uncharted sea.

This capitol of Harrisburg—this Administration—this Senate—go their accustomed ways "strictly as usual."

While the people, who elect us are intent upon the war, are making the implements of war, are sending their boys, and their girls too, into the armed services to fight the war, are reading casualty lists, are receiving, many of them, those ominous telegrams that inform them that their boy has been killed or wounded or taken prisoner, we drone on to the close of a Session which has regarded the "winning of the war" as somebody else's business—as something remote, far away, which is not our concern. I do not doubt the patriotism of any member of this Senate. I know there is not one of my colleagues who would not lay down his own life so that his country might live. But, somehow or other we have gotten side-tracked. We are standing still on a cut-off while these critical days rush past us, leaving us to bicker about politics and to seek economic advantages for special interests already comfortably endowed with special privileges.

The Governor of Pennsylvania came to us at the beginning of this Session and he was full of fine phrases. He said our job was to win the war, and that nothing else mattered.

The passage of time has been the Governor's fine phrases wither away, and it has seen them bud anew as fine profits for economic interests which are the reason for being of the Republican party of Pennsylvania.

The Republican party of Pennsylvania has proved that it is so wedded to the status quo—so ingrained in a philosophy of do-nothing—so irretrievably bound up to selfish interests, that it is unwilling and unable to legislate an effective program for organizing this state so that every citizen is enabled to put his whole strength into our national objective of victory.

At Casablanca, it was decided we would fight until our enemies surrendered unconditionally. At the capitol in Harrisburg, it was decided that Pennsylvania would surrender unconditionally to reaction, to politics, to sloth and to governmental ignorance.

That is just what we have done here in the Legislature. We have done little or nothing to strengthen the home front. We have done little or nothing to help the soldier in the field. We have done nothing but make ourselves ridiculous in planning for the post-war era.

General Martin has led his regiments from behind. He was elected to be positive, to be a war leader, to be the kind of Governor that Andrew Curtin was in the days of the Civil War, when he was Abraham Lincoln's strong right arm.

But Governor Martin has had no program. Governor Martin has provided no leadership. Governor Martin has washed his hands of this Legislature and publicly disclaimed responsibility for what his party leaders and followers do in this Senate and in the House.

This Administration has given us plenty of fine words, but its actions have been cloaked in indecision, in a blindness to generalities in a lack of imagination, in an absence of courage and of statesmanship.

The only parallel to the kind of government we are getting in war-time Pennsylvania, that I can recall, was the war-time government of France, where quarreling politicians and greedy industrialists played "politics as usual" until Hitler marched under the Arc de Triumph.

When the people learn how little we have done that was good, and how much we have done that was mischievous, we will yearn for a Special Session so we may correct our blunders and avoid their wrath.

Food will win the war and write the peace, they say. This Senate and this Martin Administration have done nothing to rally Pennsylvania's farmers. You of the majority have killed legislation which would have helped move good farmers from poor eroded farms to rich soil where they could produce food for our people. You have killed legislation to establish centers where farmers could bring their broken farm machinery, more precious today than tanks, and pool their resources and their skills so that their machinery might function. You have done nothing to mobilize a supervised land army of boys and girls and city people who are anxious to aid the farmer in getting in his crops.

You of the majority love to damn the National Government. You love to talk of state's rights. If the state is to be an impotent instrument, valued only for the rich patronage it affords, do you wonder that the people lost their old regard for state's rights?

No one in Pennsylvania can make a more eloquent or touching speech about "home and mother" than the present Governor. In fact, that was his issue when he ran for office.

And what has his Legislature, what has his party, done for the care of children of working mothers, drafted into war industry? We have passed a ludicrous bill, called impiously a child care bill, which turns our air raid wardens into nursemaids. That is mockery, and these children and their mothers are the victims of your cruel joke. Society will pay this bill of yours in delinquency and crime and disease.

You of the majority have done nothing to improve the public health services of the state, services more vital today than ever, and severely strained by the drive of war, which has taken so many doctors and nurses from civilian life.

The school teachers of this state shape the minds of the people of the state. They formed the character which imbues our brave fighting men with love of country. We are what our education made us. What have you done for education? You plead to the teachers there is no money to pay them decent wages, while you repeal taxes, levied on your big business friends, which are ample to pay every teacher in Pennsylvania a living wage, and take some of the load off the homeowner to boot.

The soldiers in the field look to us to care for them when they return, those that do return. What do you promise them? You use them as an excuse for job-raids on the state payroll. You tell them you are doing great things for them. Some thousand or two thousand of them may get state jobs when they come back, if their fathers and mothers are Republican district chairmen who were for Martin in the primary.

How about the men who will want jobs—and education—and assistance, when they come back?

Let's take jobs first. You have set up something called a post-war planning commission, something about as effective as the comical jobs mobilization campaign in the James Administration. And your Governor is using it as a political dumping ground. He wanted Mark James out as Secretary of Commerce and a Republican county boss in, so the Commission is made a resting place for James. And along comes a broken-down, small-time labor hack, a fellow who cannot carry his own union and who cannot carry his own district, a bogus labor leader, and the Governor dumps him into the post-war planning commission at $6,000 a year, more money than the man ever made in his life and ten times what he is worth. A lot of post-war planning a man like that will do. A lot of employment he will organize for the returning soldier.

Plain hypocrisy is the name for that, Mr. President. And a shameless waste of the people's money.

This is fakery, this taking up a word that the people like, such as post-war planning, and prostituting it to the lowest kind of cheap ward politics, and stupid politics at that.

The people of this state are lucky the Federal Government and some local governments will go ahead and plan for post-war work for men and women who will need it sorely. You paraders of state's rights should learn that in order to have rights you must deserve them.

You have done nothing to provide state scholarships for the boys leaving the armed forces who wish to resume their educations. You have done nothing to insure returning soldiers unemployment insurance benefits if they cannot find a job. You want boys between 18 and 21 to fight for you, but you don't dare let them vote for or against you. And you do nothing to make it easy for the man in service to cast his ballot, although he has more right to it than you or I or anyone else in this state.

While we fight for democracy, you make the practice of democracy more difficult in Pennsylvania. You passed one Farrell Bill to deprive war workers of their franchise. You passed another Farrell Bill to prevent associations of working men and women from aiding candidates whom they believe their friends, while all of you Republican Senators guard jealously your party's right to dig into the sock full of money that Pew and Grundy and other selfish privilege-seeking men hold open so that you may corrupt elections with its contents.

The Senator from Philadelphia apparently wants to make sure his magnificent majority of two votes is at least doubled the next time he stands for office, even if he has to disenfranchise his constituents to do it.

The record of this Session is a record of neglect, of indifference, of callous disregard for the real problems of these critical times. It is also a record of very real concern, of concentrated effort, of deep thinking on how to grab jobs, build up the Republican machine, and pay off the debts you owe Grundy and Pew.

You have been successful in your major objective. You had the votes and nothing stuck in your throats or repelled your consciences. But, you have failed the people of Pennsylvania, and you have failed your country in its time of peril.

You have left the faith, and you have gone wandering after strange gods, gods of greed and selfishness. You have put party above country, and the country will know how to judge you.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President and members of the Senate, all through this Session I have listened, sometimes quietly, to the low demagogic tricks of the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Holland.

Some years ago we elected as President of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt, who is now Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces of the United States and the President, not only of the New Deal and the Democratic Party, but also the President of all the people of the United States, and every last member on this side and particularly the Governor of Pennsylvania has gone all-out to co-operate with the leader of our country in its war effort. He has gone all-out even to the extent of something destroying some of the things most sacred in his own mind as principles of the Republican party, in order to make sure the country as a whole would understand that the Governor of Pennsylvania is loyal to the Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces of this country during this war.

Almost a year ago, the people of Pennsylvania by an overwhelming majority, elected Governor Martin as the war Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and every citizen, including the demagogue from Pittsburgh, should swear his allegiance to the Governor of Pennsylvania as he extends every effort, every last effort, to cooperate with the President of the United States in trying to win this war.

I want to call to the attention of the members of the Senate an editorial appearing in the Pittsburgh Press of April 25, which reads as follows:

"STOP THESE CHEAP TACTICS"

"Because the National administration is Democratic certain petty politicians of that party seem to have developed the idea that the war belongs to them that their political opponents are perforce opponents of American victory."

I want to assure the Senator from Allegheny that every man on the Republican side is just as much interested in American victory as he and the members on the other side are. I want to assure him that men on this side have lost their sons in the last war; I want to assure the Senator that men on this side, including the Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and including the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, have their sons fighting on all the far-flung fronts where the United States army and navy are now fighting the battle of this democracy.

I continue to read from the article:

"They have been too free in charging lack of patriotism, Nazi sympathies and war obstructionism against those who don't agree with them on certain domestic issues.

"This tendency reached a peak last week in the Legislature.

"Representative John R. Bentley of Pittsburgh gave one of the most disgraceful exhibitions of hysterical demagoguery the Legislature ever has seen, during debate on the congressional reapportionment bill.

"Because he doesn't like the Republican measure—which was a decided improvement over the ridiculous reapportionment bill passed by the last Legislature, he shouted at his political opponents:

"You aren't concerned with winning the war against the foreign enemies of the United States. You are too busy fighting a war against the Democratic Party in Pennsylvania—a party you hate because it champions the people."

"In the Senate, Elmer J. Holland of Pittsburgh was almost as violent during debate on a bill to impose restraints on labor unions.

"Hitler and Thyssen formed a plot to kill unions in Germany," Senator Holland harangued. A similar plot exists between Joe Grundy, head of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association and General Martin, the Governor of Pennsylvania. I find that the Senate of Pennsylvania is destroying everything we are fighting for."

"Ordinarily, we'd just say, 'Horsefeathers,' and let it pass. But in time of war such low, contemptible demagoguery can't be dismissed so lightly.

"Republicans and Democrats are fighting shoulder to shoulder in this war, equally anxious to win it. The sons of Republican politicians are dying in foxholes with the sons of Democratic politicians.

"Governor Martin was a major-general in the Army of the United States, with a long and distinguished military record.

"Even Joe Grundy—and, Lord knows, we've verbally stripped his hide many a time—is just as patriotic an American and just as anxious to win the war as is Senator Holland or Representative Bentley.

"This hitting-below-the-belt; these deliberate pleas to disunity; these reflections on the patriotism of American citizens—all this cheap appeal to prejudice and disunity is intolerable in time of war.

"This war doesn't belong to Democrats or Republicans or independents or Socialists or what-have-you. It's the American people's war, in which they fight shoulder to shoulder without regard to politics, race or religion. And petty politicians who try to make it appear otherwise are doing their country a disservice."

I say "amen" to that editorial. It seems to me, Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny Senator Holland, is spending a lot of his time in the evening preparing addresses in order to destroy the patriotism of the men on his side and to destroy individual cooperation of men throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and it is about time this Senate stands up on its hind legs and expresses to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, their feeling that that kind of politics is the lowest form of demagoguery known to mankind.

I could easily stand here and talk about the history of Pennsylvania in the last twelve or fifteen years; I could call attention to the fact that the people of Pennsylvania, with the exception of four years in the last forty some years, elected Republican Governor after Republican Governor, with the exception of Governor Earle.

Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, want me during this war time, to refer to what happened during Governor Earle's administration? Does he want me to refer to the disgraceful episodes that occurred during that administration? Does he want me to refer to the attempt to whitewash the disgrace of that administration? Does he want me to refer to men who were acquitted by juries but convicted by the jury of public opinion in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania? Does he want me to refer to the man who went to jail, a high public official, as a result of this investigation?

The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, points to the fact that some man in Allegheny county got a six thousand dollar a year job. Does he want me to refer to the fact that a man who was left out of a jail sentence, because of misdemeanor in office during the Earle Administration, was given a high salaried position in the O.P.A. by Senator Guffey? Does he want me to refer to that? I do not want to refer to it, and I do not like to enter into a contest of demagoguery, but I just want to call his attention to the fact that if it is necessary for me to meet him with charges, I will be glad to do it on any occasion.

The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, is talking about Joseph Grundy and Joseph Pew. Their crime has been that they are big industrialists. I have talked with union leaders in the plants of both of those industrialist leaders and it is strange to me that the leaders of labor unions working for both those industrial leaders have this to say about both those gentlemen, that there is no employer of labor in Pennsylvania who has the high regard of labor that both Joseph Grundy and Joseph Pew have, they both have contributed in a great way to the industrial progress of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I might also call to the attention of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, in his comments about the way in which the Republican Party raised its money, that during the last ten years of the Democratic or New Deal Government in Washington, a new idea came into being, the idea of it not being necessary to raise campaign funds by contributions when the treasury of the United States, and during the Earle administration, the treasury of Pennsylvania, especially in the Auditor General's office in the last three years, when Treasury of Pennsylvania helped the campaign of the Democratic Party.

I recall very well the advent of W.P.A., when every last one on W.P.A. was told that the forty or fifty dollars a month they got was a contribution from the Democratic Party, for which they expected the vote of the man who got it, his wife and his family. I remember how the W.P.A. trucks gathered up all the W.P.A. workers and their families, to make sure they changed their registration.

I recall, too, that ever since 1932 the election of the President of the United States was financed by the money of the Federal Government in subsidizing various groups throughout the United States of America. That is one kind of campaigning.

We, as Republicans, do not think that is the best kind of campaigning and we, of course, say to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, it is true we accept the contributions of individual citizens who believe the Republican Party best serves all the people and makes sure prosperity comes to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to the people generally, but we abhor the fact that, as hypocrites, they say to us in one breath we are taking money from someone in order to run campaigns, and in another breath they dip their hands deeply into Federal and State treasuries in order to finance their campaigns.

I am proud of the Governor of Pennsylvania; I am proud of the stand he has taken with this Legislature; I think this Legislature has done a good job under all these circumstances. I think we have done a constructive and a progressive job. I think we can go home with our heads high and I know as one member of the Republican Party I am glad to go back to my county and say, "Governor Martin and the Republican Party have kept faith with the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. CARR asked and obtained permission to address the Senate.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President and fellow Senators, it is with a great deal of reluctance that I rise to speak at this time, because my heart is grieved that such things should be said as have been said here tonight by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Holland.

First, to take those beloved sons of the mothers of America, mothers whom we are to honor tomorrow in the sacredness of their motherhood, and to take their boys who are out on the far-flung battle lines of the world and drag them deep down through the depths of the slimy sewers of political anger, it is hardly possible for me at this time to speak.

I am reminded of the Scottish poet who observed upon the way of a woman, and who wrote a beautiful little poem and in which he said words that have been to me words of wisdom throughout all my life:

"Oh, would some power the gift give us
To see ourselves as others see us.

It would from many a blunder free us, and foolish notion.
What airs in dress and gait,
Would leave us an even devotion."

To stand and look into the mirror of life and see oneself reflected in his true character would prevent any man—and I say man—from saying the things that have been said here tonight by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Holland.

My friends, this thing that has been done here tonight is a disgrace to Pennsylvania; it is a disgrace to the Democratic Party, if they acknowledge that man as speaking as a representative of their philosophy of government. I say to you, my friends, it is about time that man understood the psychology of human thinking, which certainly, if it does nothing else, teaches those who really think that what a man says about someone else really reflects what he has deep down in his own soul, and no amount of language that he may use to disguise that fact can possibly disguise it. The outburst of spoken words, the language that flows from his lips, are but an indication to every thinking man that somewhere down in his soul there is a foul morass of unhuman thinking out of which only such words can possibly come.

I stand here tonight not in defense of Governor Martin—Governor Martin needs no defense. Build you the highest pillar you can build, thousands of feet into the air, place Governor Martin on that pedestal, and deep down in the bowels of the earth, a thousand feet below, belongs any man who will dare make an attack on the character of as excellent a man as Governor Martin, such as that which has been made here tonight.

I stand here to say to you, my friends, that if demagoguery, such as this, words spoken such as these, for the purpose of winning the acclaim of unthinking masses of people, are to sway the will of the American electorate, then democracy has come to a point where it must soon fall of its own weight, but I am not so pessimistic as to believe the sample of demagoguery we have had here tonight is a true sample of American thinking. I rather believe it is an impassioned utterance from the mind of a man who can not think in terms of high thought but can think only in terms of the lowest mental processes of human thinking.

PRESENTATION TO MAJORITY FLOOR LEADER

Mr. TAYLOR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I do not want to say anything unkind about anyone; I want to say something kind about somebody.

As one of a Committee appointed by the Republican Caucus, for them at this time I wish to say this Committee is deeply appreciative of what Senator Heyburn has done for us on this side of the Senate. He has been an able leader, conscientious, careful, witty, he never gets mad; he does not say anything mean about anybody.

We are mighty proud of him and, as men love men, we love Heyburn.

At this time, on behalf of the Republican side of the Senate, Senator Heyburn, I present to you just a little token of our appreciation of your efforts, something which we hope will bring you many happy memories when you go home. It is inscribed "Heyburn, 1943, State Senator."

Senator Heyburn, I take great pleasure in presenting this to you at this time.

ACCEPTANCE BY MAJORITY FLOOR LEADER

Mr. HEYBURN. Senator Taylor, I desire to take this opportunity to thank you and the Republican Senators—in fact, all the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania—for the very excellent and most kind manner in which you have treated me.

I came here to assume floor leadership of this great Republican Party of Pennsylvania under the administration of one of the greatest Governors the state of Pennsylvania has ever had. It has been a real pleasure to work with such an outstanding man as Governor Martin, and with such an outstanding group as the Republican Senators of Pennsylvania.

I regret very much, in these closing hours, when we are winding up one of the best sessions of the Legislature in which I have ever sat, that some of us, perhaps because we have lost sleep or are overfrought because of political reverses, or for one reason or another, should get into a discussion that has no place in a legislative body, especially in time of war. I rather charge that up to a careless attitude during present conditions.

I want to say to the members of the Senate, as I depart for my home after this 1943 Session of the Legislature, that I shall carry with me only pleasant memories of happy hours spent here working with General Martin for the good of all the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Taylor, I thank you very much, and to my colleagues I say many, many thanks.

PRESENTATION TO THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. WADE. Mr. President and members of the Senate, it is my pleasure too, to perform a very pleasant task, even though it comes at this seemingly untimely moment.

Some fourteen years ago a young man was sent here from the hills of that grand county of Somerset, a county, as a matter of fact, second only in the traditions of Pennsylvania to perhaps Cumberland or Juniata or Perry or Dauphin or Mifflin, or others.

In a very pleasant visit with Mrs. Ealy this evening she confidentially told me that when Senator Ealy was first elected to this body he was not quite certain whether he had been elected to the Pennsylvania Senate or the United States Senate, so he made the trip here by way of Washington.

Senator Ealy is a quiet, unassuming member of this Legislature, but he is a man who immediately gained the admiration and as a matter of fact the affection of every member of this body, be he Republican or Democrat.

In this hour when the water has been somewhat stirred up I can not think of anything better to say than to use the words of the poet:

I watched them tearing a building down,
A gang of men in a busy town;
With a heave ho-ho and a lusty yell
They swung a beam and a side wall fell.

I asked the foreman, "Are these men skilled,
And men you would hire if you wanted to build?"

He gave a laugh and said, "No indeed;
Just common labor is all I need;
I can easily wreck in a day or two
What builders have taken years to do."

So I thought to myself as I went my way,
"Which of these roles have I tried to play;
Am I a builder who works with care,
Measuring life by a rule and square;
Am I shaping my deeds to a well-made plan,
Patiently doing the best I can;
Or am I a wrecker who walks the town,
Content with the labor of tearing down?"

As I have told you, gentlemen, it is my pleasant task to present to Senator Ealy a little token of the affection of his Republican colleagues. The Committee in selecting this gift, this small token of their appreciation of his services, have gotten something they believe will remind the Senator, and Mrs. Ealy, of his colleagues in the Senate, when the evening suns are setting and they are in their Somerset home, or it may be, perhaps—and I may be making a prediction—when they are down in the Governor's mansion and it is eventide, and they look across the blue Susquehanna to the rolling fields of Cumberland, with the crops growing and the woods filled with wild life and game, and the streams filled with fish—let me see, I forgot where I left the Governor—I certainly hope Senator and Mrs. Ealy will enjoy this little token of appreciation from their friends.

Senator Ealy, it is with real pleasure, genuine pleasure, that your Republican colleagues in this Senate give you this little token of their appreciation of the fine things you stand for and the fine things you are doing for all of us and for all of the citizens of Pennsylvania.

ACCEPTANCE BY PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. EALY. Mr. President and Senator Wade, I have not seen this gift you have given to me, but I know that it is a beautiful one, and I want to express my sincere appreciation to the Republican members of this Senate for the gift and I want to thank Senator Wade especially for the kind words which he said. He was a little wrong in stating the number of years which I have spent here, as I have been here some seventeen years, and during that time I have seen passing through the halls of this Senate many men of character and ability.

Some years ago I said to Dr. Woodward, who writes rather voluminously, that I should like for him to write biographies of the different members of this Senate whom he has known. I thought it would be very nice to have a record of stirring scenes and memorable events of the past. The Doctor paints vivid word pictures of men nd of things that have occurred but, although he is one of the most kindly of souls, he sometimes emphasizes the little inconsistencies of life and occasionally may strike with a harsher brush than intended, and do injustice to the nobler and finer qualities of the subject. Perhaps it was for this reason that he felt he would not like to undertake to write biographical sketches of the Senators. I should like, however, to have some member undertake such a task.

It seems to me, as I go along through the years in this Senate, that the composition of the members of the Senate is just a little higher each session. My new associates seem to have qualities for friendship and for work and ability just a little greater than those of preceding Senators. I do not know exactly whether that is because I am growing older and perhaps a little more mellow, but it seems to me that I like each session of the Senate a little better than the preceding one.

The Republican members of this Senate are sometimes a little temperamental, sometimes tempestuous, but they have a high loyalty to one another and they are a group of exceedingly fine men.

To the Democratic members of this Senate I want to say that I want to thank them for the co-operation which they have given me in the work which I have had to do here. We have a two party system of government and I do not find fault with the members of the other side for seriously debating and taking the opposite view-point as to how they think or desire to act—that helps; it has a restraining influence and helps make the kind of government we have, even though we do not agree with them, and I want to thank them as well as the Republican members of this Senate for their co-operation.

I know that Mrs. Ealy and I, as we keep these gifts, will remember the very pleasant things which we have had happen to us here in the Senate. As we take these gifts down, look at them, as we use them, as we display them to others, they will always call to mind these associations, and I sincerely thank my colleagues for these gifts.

PRESENTATION TO SENATOR TALLMAN

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. President, a little less than five years ago, there appeared in the Pennsylvania Senate quite a few new faces.

Among those on the Republican side was a young lawyer from Lehigh county. This man succeeded in winning in a Democratic county, which had had Democratic Senators for many years. He has had the faculty of winning our hearts as he won Lehigh votes.

His services in the Senate must have been very satisfactory because last year he was re-elected in his district to represent them for another four years.

From the state of his career as a State Senator, he has taken a very active part in the activities of the Senate, and particularly a very active part as chairman of the Committee on State Government. The State Government Committee has been recognized, by both sides of this body, as one of the best committees in the Senate.

He has given unstintingly of his time and energy in everything of importance in the Senate, and is always ready to help out any Senator to get something accomplished.

While we might not agree with all the deliberations of the State Government Committee, we always were assured of a fair and impartial hearing, regardless of our political affiliations.

Our sincere wish is that his ability and his sincerity will bring him the recognition he so justly deserves from our great Republican Party. We hope that the time spent in talking in some foreign language with the gentleman from Lebanon has not delayed this recognition.

Senator Tallman, as a token of the appreciation and the high esteem in which you are held by your associates, it gives me great pleasure to present to you at this time a watch which you have so conscientiously earned. It is our hope that this memento shall be a constant reminder of us, your friends, as we now scatter to the far corners of the state, and further serve as an incentive for our reunions in the future.

ACCEPTANCE BY SENATOR TALLMAN

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, Senator Thomas and members of the Senate, it is a very happy privilege, because of the warm friendliness that comes from both sides of this Senate, to serve in the Senate of Pennsylvania, and certainly there is not anyone who could not appreciate very sincerely a token of esteem of this kind, saturated as it is, I know, with the kindly feeling and the warm friendliness of my colleagues.

I want to say to them that I very sincerely appreciate it. I want to thank them very kindly for it, and I want to say to them there comes from me my very sincere and warm affection for all of them.

REMARKS BY THE CHAIR

The PRESIDENT. Gentlemen of the Senate, I am wondering if the Senate will permit me at this time to say a few words.

At a time, gentlemen, when all of the civilized world is looking forward toward America for help, inspiration and preservation, when they are wondering about our great government, wondering whether democracy can function and whether, after all, democracy is the best form of government ever yet devised, when, in all the far corners of the globe we have sons or other relatives fighting and dying to preserve this form of government which they and we cherish, I hope that tonight each member of the Senate, before he speaks or votes, will search his heart to determine whether he is doing his part in maintaining and increasing respect for the government which we all love.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, you need not have any fear about how I intend to put the remarks I want to make concerning some of the things I have heard here tonight, and some of the things I have seen done tonight.

First of all, I believe every member on this side appreciates the kindness we have received at the hand of the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, whom we all know to be one of the outstanding men in this Senate, not only for his ability but also for his goodness.

I think we, too, on this side, fully appreciate the difficult task the Majority Floor Leader has had during this Session and we have tried, as much as a minority can in any deliberative body, to assume our share of the responsibility and to give what assistance we could.

As far as Jake Tallman is concerned, I am proud and happy to say for myself I am glad I can call him my friend.

Mr. President, I have tried as an individual, of course, to keep at all times from saying things about others I would not want to have said about myself—I think perhaps that is another version of the Golden Rule which still applies.

It was not so much that Senator Holland said things you did not like but the fact that he was castigated for so doing, that disturbs me mentally and morally, because, Mr. President and members of the Senate, it is my belief that if a man, after study, feels in his own mind certain things are true this is one body in which he can express that opinion.

If the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, feels this administration has not been successful, that of course, is his right, and if the Senator from Allegheny feels he wants to say that on the floor of this Senate, that too is his right, and he can say that without being a demagogue, because to my mind a demagogue is a man who does not believe the things he says. I know the Senator from Allegheny, and whatever else you may say about him, no person can gainsay he is not sincere in what he thinks to be right, you need not agree with him, you need not believe what he says, but what he says he thinks to be right.

I listened, of course, to the speech of the gentleman from Schuylkill—and I am an admirer of his—but you know, you can say things and you can say you do not want to say those things, and then proceed and say them. To me they are the same criticism.

I would like the members of the Republican Party to go with me to Washington sometime and hear what is said about the President of the United States, and he too was elected by a majority of the people, not only of Pennsylvania but of the entire nation, not once, not twice, but three times; but to a certain group of papers and people in Pennsylvania that man has never been President, to a certain group of papers and people in Pennsylvania that man has never been the leader of this country.

I have heard talk on this Senate floor and in the House of Representatives for the last ten years—although, I am a young man, by the grace of God I been here that long.

I can remember too the acrimonious remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin, when we were in power; I can remember the things that were said about Governor Earle the very first week of the session of the legislature, before anybody knew the whole scheme was going to be that he would be called a thief and the people of Pennsylvania were misled by editorials and by billboards all over the state of Pennsylvania into the belief that every man who was a Democrat was a thief.

We did not complain about that, we took our defeat philosophically, we took our defeat as men, but we are a minority the same as at that time you were a minority, when we admitted your right to fight for the things you thought were right, and we want the same right.

You know, the Marines on Wake Island were terribly outnumbered; they knew possibly all they could get out of it was death and glory, but they did not give up, they fought and they stayed right there and kept the flag flying so that the ideals they stood for would be known to all the peoples of all the earth.

We in our small way have tried to demonstrate to the people of Pennsylvania what we stand for, and if a majority of the people do not believe in that, that will be all right with us, we still know we belong to a minority and are fighting for those principles which at this time are in a minority in Pennsylvania. We do not believe the President of these United States dug into the Federal Treasury and spent money for re-election. It was the American people that voted him to be President of the United States.

Demagoguery is a word that no party has an exclusive right to use. I remember distinctly the night before the last election, when every paper in my community and in the section of the country I come from, had a full page advertisement, one-half or two-thirds of which was taken up by a sketch, and this sketch showed a soldier or a marine on his lonely vigil in the Solomon Islands or in the South Pacific somewhere, words were used in that advertisement that made me stop and think—it was the night before election and every paper in the state of Pennsylvania, at tremendous cost, carried that full page ad, and to a man of open mind it would seem that the outcome of the war depended upon the election of the Republican Party, which sponsored that particular advertisement. That evening I said to my wife, "that advertisement will get more thousands of votes that you and I could count if we stayed up all night. It was well conceived and got votes.

But I repeat, Mr. President and members of the Senate, to no party belongs the right of exclusively calling the other a demagogue. We all have to use the tools we have at hand which we would like to work to our advantage.

The gentleman from Butler, Mr. Carr, who, as I understand is a man of religious tendencies, may believe his type of religion is the type that might castigate all men. I believe in a different kind of religion; I do not believe in that type, I never credit a man with being dishonest in his heart; I never credit that any mother ever gave birth to a man-child who was rotten on the inside, and I do not like to hear that from a man of religious tendencies. I do not like to hear that from him. I am terribly disappointed, Mr. President, because I like more the type of our chaplain; I have the highest regard for that gentleman, and I have always hoped that the day might come, when I get old, that I will look at life the way he does—every man a king, every man an honest man, every man a man of principle.

You may not like what I say, you may not like what Senator Holland says; I did not like what Senator Owlett used to accuse us of, I did not like to face my children when the papers claimed we were all thieves, because we were members of the Democratic Administration that gave so much to the poor people of the state.

We thought we were doing right and if we had to do it over again I advise the whole world we would again re-enact the laws for the common man that were enacted under the Earle Administration. We thought they were good laws and we thought then, and we still think, the W.P.A. program, the Social Security program, the Bank Security program of the President of the United States was so much better for America than the bread lines of Hoover on the Battle of Anacosta Flats.

We did not believe in that type of government and we still do not believe in it. This Democracy is safe, this Democracy is secure, because, Mr. President, the minority has not yet capitulated to the desires of the majority.

As the able gentleman from Somerset has so many times expressed on the floor of this Senate, so long as we have a militant minority to point out to the majority the things they think are wrong, and temper the action of the majority, then I say to you, Mr. President, you need have no concern for this Democracy because it is based upon a militant minority.

Like the rest of the members here, I did not want to hear in the dying hours of this session anything that would leave us with any bad feelings toward one another; more or less, like the gentleman from Delaware, I had hoped we would leave here feeling kindly toward one another and respecting each man for his own opinion.

I thoroughly disagree and have always disagreed all my life with the beliefs expressed on legislative action by the gentleman from Butler. but that does not destroy in me my regard for his opinions; that does not destroy in me my respect for his right to his own judgment; that does not destroy in me the willingness to accede to the demands of a majority when that majority feels a thing is right, but Mr. President, and members of the Senate, in closing allow me to say when any member of this Senate speaks on any subject, that is his opinion. The speech of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, was milk-toast compared to speeches I have heard against Governor Earle in both the Senate and the House of Representatives; his speech was nothing compared to harangues aimed at the President of these United States, before and after our entrance into the war, by the gentleman from Michigan, Mr. Hoffman, and the gentleman from New York, Mr. Fish. We all know they do not accept President Roosevelt as their Commander-in-Chief or anything else, and if the members on this side believe Governor Martin has not been a success that is their opinion and they are entitled to it.

As for myself I will await the verdict of the people of Pennsylvania when the time comes.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I first want to thank the Chair for not recognizing me and granting me the floor when the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, finished his speech, because when one speaks in anger or when one's motions are aroused, one says things and the next day he is sorry he said them. Words are like swords, once you utter them they go up and hover over your head and then when you least expect, they descend and cut your throat.

There were a lot of things the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, said tonight that some day he is going to be sorry for. I have no objection to the gentleman speaking against the Republican Party, or any of its officials, or any of the members of the Senate on the Republican side—that is our Republican form of government—but when the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, takes it upon himself to challenge the patriotism of the men on the Republican side, by saying on page 1 of his speech that he recognizes that we are patriotic, and then on page 4 he says we are so unpatriotic we are trying to lose the war, he ceases to be political, he becomes insulting, and when he insults my patriotism he insults my honor, and those are the kind of things I think are well left unsaid at a time like this.

I appreciate the very careful attempt of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, to make out of the speech by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, a political castigation of the administration of Governor Martin, but, Mr. President, it went far beyond that and the gentleman from Westmoreland knows it went far beyond that.

All I want to say, Mr. President, is this, that you, Ed. Martin and I have a bond in common, we appreciate the fact when there is no war, it is easy to go to war, and it is a lot easier to send your sons, but it is a lot harder to send your son when we are at war. I would not place any man ahead of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, when it comes to patriotism and love of his country; I would not place any man's war record ahead of that of Elmer Holland; but I do want to say to Elmer Holland that he has no monopoly on patriotism or love of country, and I hope God will be merciful enough to forgive Elmer Holland for the things he said against us tonight, because Governor Martin is as interested in winning this war as any man in this state or in this country, because he walks through the valley of the shadow of death every night, and there can be no Gethsemane any worse.

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 722, as follows:

An Act to amend the title and section one of the act approved the eight day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (P. Section 3 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Will the gentleman tell me, if he can, the number of personnel involved in the Department of the Auditor General that they now propose to change over into the Department of Revenue?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am unable to give exact figures as to the number of employees. I do not think that has been discussed in my presence. Someone on the floor of the Senate said the other night that six hundred are involved, but whether that is correct or not I do not know—it sounds too heavy to me.

Mr. HALUSKA. I desire now to interrogate the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Becker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lebanon permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BECKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Can the gentleman from Lebanon tell me whether he knows the amount of personnel that is involved in the transfer of jobs now held by the Department of the Auditor General to the Department of Revenue.

Mr. BECKER. I would not be able to say with any definite accuracy, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Does the gentleman from Lebanon recall a conversation taking place between both of us some weeks ago with regard to a banking bill wherein the gentleman from Lebanon told me the only reason banks would be examined once in two years rather than once a year was because there was a shortage of personnel.

Mr. BECKER. I recall the conversation, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Has that shortage now been overcome?

Mr. BECKER. I am sorry, Mr. President, I did not understand the question.

Mr. HALUSKA. Will the gentleman from Lebanon tell me whether there is still a shortage of personnel in the Department of Banking?

Mr. BECKER. There is, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Can the gentleman from Lebanon tell me how many persons are involved in that Department?

Mr. BECKER. I will say, Mr. President, without being sure, that there might be fifteen out of sixty, on the matter upon which I was interrogated when the gentleman from Cambria interrogated me some weeks ago.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I bring that to light because several weeks ago in connection with the banking bill, changing bank examinations from one to two years, it was pointed out very clearly to me that change was to take place solely and purely because of a shortage in personnel, involving possibly fifteen persons. I was told on the floor of this Senate that we do not have in this Commonwealth sufficient men to make proper bank examinations.

Now here tonight we find a so-called ripper bill changing the personnel from one department now held by a Democratic office holder, to another department, held by the Republican party, involving some six hundred persons, and I say if you are unable to find fifteen persons for the Department of Banking and you are compelled to extend bank examinations, I can not see how it is humanly possible, with efficiency, to transfer six hundred persons from one department to another; it just does not make sense, it is purely political. In the Department of the Auditor General you now have trained persons, men and women who have been trained to do that type of work, and now if they should be dismissed you have to go out and find and train six hundred more persons to take over their work, and that can not be for the best interests of the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, by agreement—and I would like the Chair to take note of this because I do not want to be called to order for digressing from the subject at hand—by agreement with the Republican Floor Leader I have asked permission, and permission has been granted, to take up for consideration House Bill No. 722, House Bill No. 723 and House Bill No. 768, in order that the arguments for one can be used as arguments for all of them, and thus save time.

I regret exceedingly, Mr. President, that this matter had to wait until the dying days of the session, because it is very important not only in the matter of the transfer itself and what it means, but in the psychology behind the transfer.

Mr. President and members of the Senate, I hate to get up twice within a very short time and address this Senate, but I have been selected by my colleagues to make the argument and give you the logic for our position on the matter of this legislation, and if you will bear with me I will try and get through it as quickly as I can. I have a duty to perform and I will do it to the best of my ability.

First, Mr. President, I want to ask the Republican Floor Leader if he will consent to be interrogated?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Late this afternoon it was called to my attention, above and beyond everything else these bills do, they take away from some members of the armed services of our country the jobs they held prior to their entering the armed services, and so I have before me an amendment and I would like to ask unanimous consent from the Majority side, in order that I may present amendments to this bill, and to the other bills, which would guarantee to the men who left their jobs to perform their duty for this country, that they shall come back here and have the jobs they are entitled to. Therefore I ask the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Heyburn, whether he will grant his permission as Republican Floor Leader to the inclusion of these amendments.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am very sorry I am unable to comply with the request of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, because he knows these are the last hours of this session and any amendment offered would have to lay over for printing. I regret the gentleman from Westmoreland did not think about the amendments sooner. These bills have now been on the Calendar for a week or so.

Mr. DENT. I might say to the gentleman from Delaware that this may seem like a move that has dishonesty as its purpose, but I want the gentleman from Delaware to believe sincerely this was not called to my attention in fact these amendments were not prepared until I came down to the Senate for the session that started around ten o'clock. I was out for over an hour getting these amendments ready, Mr. President, and I am sorry if we are too busy, if we, the members of this Senate, are too busy, after so much time we have spent here in Harrisburg, that we could not spend one day longer if it meant saving one soldier, not the money involved, but if it meant saving one soldier the peace of mind I know it would give him to know when the war is over the job he had would be ready for him.

I regret this happened so late, too, but I for one am willing to sit here until Christmas, if necessary, rather than do harm to one man or one woman who has entered the armed services of this country.

I will proceed with my arguments by saying I regret we have been so busy we could not take time out to look after the welfare of those soldiers who are not too busy if you please, to fight our battles in the fox-holes and trenches of Africa.

Mr. President, these bills appear on our Calendar as the last controversial measures. There is no excuse for that as they could have been called up long before now and we could have had this messy business over with. I want the members on the other side to realize that now when I am talking about legislation motivated by political reasons, I have become now and for the next few minutes will be a politician to the nth degree because, Mr. President, aside from everything else, this is a political measure. The bill I am talking about have absolutely no merit, there is nothing that can be argued for these bills other than the political expediency of their passage.

In order that the record may be straight, and in order that Governor Martin, who has stated not once but more than once to the members of this side of the Senate, that he does not approve of legislation that takes away from a man elected to public office any of the rights he had when he was elected to that office by a majority vote of the people, he does not believe that is proper legislation to pass. I want to give to Governor Martin—who is incidentally my Governor—some argument for his veto message if he still believes as he did a few weeks ago.

The appointment of inheritance tax appraisers, investigators and claim agents has a long history. I am sorry this is going to take a little while but it is necessary. In 1937 I was one of the leading men in the Senate of Pennsylvania to fight against the transfer at that time, because I did not believe it was good government then, and I believe now as I believed then.

Former Auditor General Warren R. Roberts, in his review of four years as Auditor General, had this to say in regard to assessing inheritance taxes, and I quote from his worthwhile piece of literature:

"Statutes of the Commonwealth impose upon the Auditor General the power of appointment of Appraisers who levy inheritance taxes.

"When I became Auditor General one of our first acts was to institute a survey of the procedure, the method of levying taxes on decedents estates and the collection of delinquent inheritance taxes. For the first time in the history of the Commonwealth, Special Appraisers, experienced and trained as lawyers and accountants in orphans' court work, were chosen to make this survey and subsequently to assist in the collection of delinquent taxes. The great amount of delinquent taxes collected by the State has more than justified the appointment of these men."

Mr. President, I want to stop right here for just one minute and say if the majority members do not want to hear what is wrong with these bills, then perhaps I had best make sure they may read it some day, and although I had planned to cut my remarks short, this subject is one that will come back in the days to come to haunt every member of this Senate. I, therefore, want to say to the majority members of the Senate, that they can leave the hall of the Senate, they can retire to the ante-chambers if they wish, they can get beyond the hearing of my voice if they want, but I will still put into the record of the Senate of Pennsylvania the inequity that attaches itself to the passage of these bills.

I again quote from the statement of Auditor General Warren R. Roberts: "Reports of the Special Appraisers indicated that in many counties very little attention had been paid toward the appraisement of estates and the collection of inheritance levies. Millions due the Commonwealth, under the provision of the Inheritance Tax Laws, had been uncollected and records were found to be in a deplorable condition in many places. This resulted in a complete reorganization of the Inheritance Tax Bureau, together with the selection of competent appraisers, assistants and clerks in each of the County offices, under provisions of the Act of 1929.

"Our survey of conditions disclosed that even after the enactment of the direct Inheritance Tax Law in 1917, and the transfer measure of 1919, very little attention was paid by those charged with the duty of assessing and collecting these levies. With a staff of Special Appraisers assisting the local appraisers throughout the state, we found it was possible to install modern methods in the local inheritance tax offices and to increase the Commonwealth income by this source by millions each year.

"Efforts were being made to collect delinquent inheritance taxes. This involved a tremendous amount of work in the checking of old records and making investigations, but as a result, nearly two million dollars in delinquent taxes have been collected, of which $612,101.91 was collected through the splendid work of the reorganized tax office in Philadelphia.

"Through the work of the Special Appraisers, a long standing practice of representatives of estates and attorneys, in connection with debts and deductions whereby the state lost a great deal of revenue, was broken up. The Special Appraisers discovered that these representatives would endeavor to learn from the local appraiser the gross amount of estates being appraised and after obtaining this information they would ask for amounts on debts and deductions that in many instances were fantastic, making every effort to bring this amount within a range of a gross amount of the estate and thus reducing the amount of the inheritance taxes. Rules and regulations now have been established upon the matter of debts and deductions and appraisers now make thorough investigations before allowances are granted."

I think it is only right to comment at this time, Mr. President, that we had a bill upon the Calendar a few days ago which dealt with that particular subject, which allowed the re-creation of that particular business that has been destroyed by the Democratic officeholders in the Auditor General's office, that is, the appointment, Mr. President, of special appraisers. What do these special appraisers do? They do one thing, they pay off political obligations. Under the old system, special appraisers were named by the department to act in certain estates, numerous fees were paid out to those special appraisers. As an example, let us take the case of Harry J. Auker, special counsel for the Wanamaker estate, who is now suing the state of Pennsylvania for $50,000 as a special fee in an appraisement that he made under an appointment. Mr. President, he never assisted in the collection of the moneys, he never did anything but send a letter in stating he was selected by the former Auditor General as a special appraiser of the Commonwealth and the Commonwealth is now fighting that case, because they do not believe he is entitled to that, and yet they have paid to other attorneys thousands and thousands of dollars on the same pretext.

As I understand it, this man was assisted at the time by a man by the name of Robert Boyle, and he also claims $15,000 from the same estate as a special appraiser, although he was also appointed as an assistant in the office of the Registrar of Wills of Philadelphia, working upon that very job and performing the very duties that now he wants a fee of $15,000 from the state of Pennsylvania for that same work.

If you add that the $10,000 this man Boyle claims in the Harrison estate, you can easily reach the point where you can see where the $91,000 that Auditor General Ross some weeks ago with regard to a banking bill wherein the gentleman from Lebanon told me the only reason banks would be examined once in two years rather than once a year was because there was a shortage of personnel.

Mr. BECKER. I recall the conversation, Mr. President.

If you add that the $10,000 this man Boyle claims in the Harrison estate, you can easily reach the point where you can see where the $91,000 that Auditor General Ross spent to set up his special department, was justified, to go out and collect these taxes, and which has succeeded in bringing into the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a sum much greater than any amount ever collected before.

I have here before me the statistics of amounts of money that are now delinquent. I can easily imagine what will happen in the state of Pennsylvania when these bills are finally passed. Here we have delinquent taxes in the amount of $3,277,584. Special appraisers can be named, Mr. President, who would receive as much as $1,000,000 of that amount as special fees for work that is being done now by clerks who receive $2,000 to $3,000 a year.

When a bill was dropped from the Calendar the other night which allowed re-establishment of special assessors, I had come to the point where I thought perhaps the majority side had seen the evil of allowing such a set-up to continue in Pennsylvania, but lo and behold, Mr. President, I find that one of the innocent amendments offered to House Bill No. 722 was that the Department of Revenue shall be permitted to name the regular officers as required by law and then these words were added "and other person." The department did not need a bill that specifically allowed the setting-up of the special appraisers and they, therefore, dropped the special appraiser bill but included in House Bill No. 722 the very thing I complain about; they include in that bill, by the inclusion of those two words, the right to set up these special appraisers who will milk the taxpayers of Pennsylvania of thousands upon thousands of dollars and if I should happen to come back again to the Senate and compare the cost of collecting delinquent taxes under Auditor General Ross as against the cost of collecting taxes under the Department of Revenue, if history repeats itself the comparison will be odious.

I am more disturbed about other things, Mr. President, that you should know about. This department in its investigation has found that disagreement between the Department of Revenue and the Registers of Wills offices throughout the state run from 52.7 per cent in some counties to as high as 72.6 per cent in other counties. In other words, Mr. President, thousands upon thousands of dollars are registered as delinquent in the offices of the Registers of Wills in the local counties, but those same dollars are not registered as delinquent in the offices of the Department of Revenue which, incidentally, at the present time have a right to collect those taxes and do receive the money.

Mr. President, if we were to go into all the ramifications surrounding the collection of taxes and the collection agencies set up to perform that duty, we would find that in that particular field could be found the most fertile ground for graft, the most fertile ground for political connivance and skulduggery, and it is said, Mr. President, by men who know, that the amount of money collected under the administrations of Auditor General Roberts and Auditor General Ross demonstrates that prior to their term there must have been something wrong in the collection of delinquent taxes. Mr. Ross has succeeded in collecting taxes that have been delinquent since the term of the now Governor of the state of Pennsylvania when he was Auditor General, and they were delinquent then. That is a point that is very important, Mr. President; are we to witness by the passage of this act something we have tried for years to keep from doing, are we to witness the centralization of all activities under the Governor of the state.

You pass a bill here and with a loud voice take the affairs of the Auditor General and throw them into the lap of the Governor; you are now transferring from the Auditor General the duties he was duly elected to perform and you are putting them into the lap of the Governor.

I say you are doing that because the Department of Revenue is under a man who was appointed to that office by the Governor and, therefore, must do what the Governor bids him to do. Of all the complaints I have heard expressed in this Senate against President Roosevelt, one I have never been able to understand is the charge that he has tried to centralize everything under his own control and to have a Congress subservient to his will.

Why, Mr. President, this is the first Session of the legislature I have ever served in where nominations to offices that require the advice and consent of the Senate have been withheld from the Senate until after the Session is over. I say that is the most dictatorial attitude ever taken by any man who has been Governor of Pennsylvania and I make that criticism as one member of a party making it against a member of another party. I make no charges against Governor Martin which I can not support by facts. Where are the nominations for the Liquor Control Board, where are the nominations for the Milk Board and where are the nominations for the Game and Fish Commission? I just heard that the Chairman of the Committee on Executive Nominations has them in his desk.—I am awfully sorry—he had better get the desk open before midnight because we are going to quit.

In all seriousness, Mr. President, as members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, we are constitutionally bound to perform our duties under the law. As I understand it we are a body that must pass on the qualifications of certain men selected to perform certain administrative duties in the state of Pennsylvania, but what happens in this administration? For the very first time in the history of Pennsylvania, all the important patronage is withheld as a club, if you please, over the head of the Legislature, in order that you perform your duties. I say that because the record proves I am right; the record shows that Mr. Martin, Governor of Pennsylvania, has taken away from the Senators of Pennsylvania the rights they hold by election to their office.

Mr. President and members of the Senate, you can make all the excuses you wish for passage of these bills, but behind them, Mr. President, are one of two things, one is a political grab, a patronage grab, one is to take from this man, who was elected as a Democrat, the jobs he is entitled to as the executive officer of that department, to take whatever jobs there are—two, three, four, five or six hundred—take them out of that particular man's office in order that the faithful of the Republican Party may get appointments. That is one reason that may be behind this bill, and the second reason that may be behind this bill, Mr. President, is that they want to take certain legitimate firms throughout the state of Pennsylvania and give them appointments as special appraisers in the appraising of delinquent tax estates, decedents estates and by doing that, Mr. President, a great big lush fund can be built up for political purposes.

I heard talk here tonight about dipping down into the public treasury for political purposes. Is there much difference, Mr. President, in feeding to certain politicians enormous fees? I remember reading once where the late George Wharton Pepper received $300,000 as a fee for acting as a special appraiser, $300,000, and yet the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell, would want to take a man and send him to jail if he contributes $10 to a Democratic candidate running for office.

We on this side, Mr. President, are not novices in the game of politics, we know full well that $300,000 or some part of it could easily be spent to help elect somebody that would give you another appointment; $300,000 of the taxpayer's money passed out to an individual firm in the state of Pennsylvania for doing a job Auditor General Roberts and Auditor General Ross have demonstrated that collectors and appraisers who receive from $2,400 to $3,500 a year can do even better than the men who receive the enormous fees.

As a sidelight upon that one particular case I might tell you something else, that when the $300,000 was paid to George Wharton Pepper it was discovered they had failed to take care of his brother-in-law in the divvy; they failed to cut him in on the $300,000 fee, so they hoppedskipped back to Harrisburg and an additional $30,000 was added and given to the brother-in-law of George Wharton Pepper, who had never entered the case prior to that time.

All these facts, Mr. President, are contained in records that I have.

Now, Mr. President, these bills that you have now before you, are designed, as I say, for one of two purposes, or both, one for a political grab, to rip out of office men and women appointed by a duly elected representative of the people, and the other to rob the taxpayers of millions of dollars in special fees to special appraisers.

Someone has said, and very wisely said, that these bills could very easily be called the rip, rob and run bills, because they do things, Mr. President, never heard of in the state of Pennsylvania before; they take from a man, in the middle of his term of office, jobs he is entitled to have, and that is all right with me, because if I remember rightly, this party of ours can not depend upon political patronage for votes; if I remember rightly, we elected Governor Earle when we had no state offices and very few local offices. I believe, if you look around, you will find we had a few constables and squires and a few minority commissioners, as required by law, but Governor Earle was elected because the people of the Commonwealth were aroused at the things happening on Capitol Hill, and then four years later when we had charge of all the departments on the Hill, and we had more patronage than we knew what to do with—we had so many job holders running around we did not know who or what they were and what happened?—The job holders did not elect us, the people defeated us, and the people will do the same to this administration if they feel you are wrong. I for one can not say they are wrong—I am still awaiting the verdict.

Mr. President, before ceasing my argument against these bills, I want every member of the Senate to know that I want contained in the record—and I do not want to read it unless I am forced to do so—the entire argument of the history of the appraisement situation and delinquent situation in the state of Pennsylvania. I think it will make very good reading for the members of the Senate some day in the future. It contains a few extra pages in here which I have added because I thought perhaps the logic of the matter ought to enter into the picture.

I do not believe there is anything in here of an abusive nature, I know I tried to keep it from being that, although when dealing with the subject of ripping and its allied subjects it becomes very difficult for one not to get abusive, especially when he realizes that what has happened to the people of Pennsylvania is of so much more importance than what has happened to the jobholders under Auditor General Ross. They lose their jobs, Mr. President, by these bills, and I am sorry to see that soldiers lose their job, too, and those who have bled and died or the Senate floor should have a little more regard for those who are really bleeding and dying on the battle fields.

Mr. President, I could say a lot more about this, but I will not because the hour is late, but I am going to ask permission of the Senate to include as a part of my remarks this treatise I have written on the subject of transferring of jobs in the middle of the term of office of the present Auditor General.

EXTENDED STATEMENT BY SENATOR DENT
BRIEF REVIEW—INHERITANCE TAX PERSONNEL
DEPARTMENT OF THE AUDITOR GENERAL APPOINTMENT OF INHERITANCE TAX APPRAISERS, INVESTIGATORS AND CLERKS

Former Auditor General, Warren R. Roberts, in his "A Review of Four Years as Auditor General," had this to say in regards to "assessing Inheritance Taxes."

Quote: Statutes of the Commonwealth impose upon the Auditor General the power of appointment of Appraisers who levy inheritance taxes.

"When I became Auditor General, one of our first acts was to institute a survey of the procedure, the method of levying taxes on decedents estates and the collection of delinquent inheritance taxes. For the first time in the history of the Commonwealth, Special Appraisers, experienced and trained as lawyers and accountants in Orphans' Court work, were chosen to make this survey and subsequently to assist in the collection of delinquent taxes. The great amount of delinquent inheritance taxes collected by the State has more than justified the appointment of these men.

"Reports of the Special Appraisers indicated that in many counties very little attention had been paid toward the appraisement of estates and the collection of inheritance levies. Millions due the Commonwealth, under the provision of the Inheritance Tax laws, had been uncollected and records were found to be in a deplorable condition in many places. This resulted in a complete reorganization of the Inheritance Tax Bureau, together with the selection of competent appraisers, assistants and clerks in each of the County offices, under provisions of the Act of 1929 x x x x x x x x x x.

"Our survey of conditions disclosed that even after the enactment of the direct Inheritance Tax Law in 1917, and the transfer measure of 1919, very little attention was paid by those charged with the duty of assessing and collecting these levies. With a staff of Special appraisers assisting the local appraisers throughout the State, we found it was possible to install modern methods in the local inheritance tax offices and to increase the Commonwealth income from this source by millions each year.

Efforts were being made to collect delinquent inheritance taxes. This involved a tremendous amount of work in the checking of old records and making investigations, but as a result, nearly two million dollars in delinquent taxes have been collected of which $612,101.91 was collected through the splendid work of the reorganized tax office in Philadelphia.

"Through the work of the Special Appraisers a long standing practice of representatives of estates and attorneys, in connection with debts and deductions whereby the State lost a great deal of revenue, was broken up. The Special Appraisers discovered that these representatives would endeavor to learn from the local appraiser the gross amount of estates being appraised and after obtaining this information, they would ask for amounts on debts and deductions that in many instances were fantastic, making every effort to bring this amount within a range of the gross amount of the estate and thus reducing the amount of the inheritance taxes. Rules and regulations now have been established upon the matter of debts and deductions and appraisers now make thorough investigations before allowances are granted. Unquote.

Upon Mr. Ross' induction as Auditor General, after a thorough survey of the Inheritance Tax Department, and in order to continue the good work of Auditor General Roberts, the surface of which had just been scratched, and after a conference with Mr. Linn L. Reist, Chief of the Bureau of County Collections, Department of Revenue; Ralph M. Umsted, Deputy Attorney General representing the Department of Justice; the Executive Committee of the Register of Wills Association of Pennsylvania; Hon. Walter J. Kress, Deputy Secretary of Revenue and J. Warren Mickle, Chief Inheritance Tax Appraiser of Pennsylvania, a bureau of Inheritance Tax was properly organized. In May 1941, when Mr. Ross assumed office, there were 3139 estates more than one year old—in other words delinquent—on which no appraisal had been filed; no tax collected and apparently no effort being made to do so. In order to remedy this condition an enormous amount of work was done. Reports were established which compelled the Chief Appraiser of each County to report as of the last day of each month, the number of Estates on hand (current); number of Estates Over one Year Old; Amount of Delinquent Tax Collected and Current Collections. This information was then gathered into a Monthly Report and a comparison made by counties and districts. By this system of reports the Chief Inheritance Tax Appraiser of the State was, at all times, in touch with the work in each County, and in counties where the work lagged or fell behind, a Special Appraiser was dispatched to such counties to assist the appraisers. By this method 50% of the delinquent estates were closed out as of June 30, 1942, with the possibility of 90% of the remainder being closed out by the end of the fiscal year.

The State was also divided into ten workable districts and in each district a Special Appraiser was appointed to assist the appraisers in making appraisals as well as assist the Register of Wills in the collection of delinquent inheritance taxes, which was by agreement with the Department of Revenue. The work of the Special Appraiser was confined to his own particular district in order to keep them from traveling from one end of the State to the other as was done in the previous administration and thereby keeping their traveling expenses at a minimum. Delinquent tax collections for the first year of Mr. Ross' term of office amounted to $1,702,575.22; for the year preceding his first year in office, delinquent tax collections amounted to $1,068,824.01, or an excess collection of delinquent taxes over the previous year of $633,751.21. The percent cost on gross collections during Mr. Ross' first year in office was 7.5% and the percent cost for the preceding year was 6.9% or an increase of but .6% for an excess collection of delinquent taxes of $633,751.21. An immense amount of work was necessary to accomplish this splendid result. Numerous estates on which inheritance taxes had become delinquent and a penalty of 12% per annum imposed, by reason of being more than one year old, many of them being delinquent as long as 10, 15 and 20 years, were discovered by these Special Appraisers—apparently forgotten and ignored by County and State officials—and collections made.

In addition to ordinary appraisals these Special Appraisers are required to keep check to see that the Commonwealth receives its proper share of the Federal Estate Tax on which 80% credit was allowed by the Federal Government and also to see that all remaindermen interests are properly appraised at the death of the life tenant and tax collected. Trust Estates also received a large share of their attention and the Commonwealth has received millions of dollars as revenue through the Watchfulness and diligence of these Special Appraisers.

Inasmuch as Auditor General Roberts had reorganized the inheritance tax bureau during his administration, together with the selection of competent appraisers, assistants and clerks in each of the county offices, Mr. Ross made very few changes in personnel, so as not to affect the efficiency of the county offices.

Appointment of Inheritance Tax Appraisers by Auditor General—A Check on Department of Revenue

The Fiscal Code places upon the Auditor General the duty of appointing Inheritance Tax Appraisers, Investigators and Clerks to assist the Register of Wills of the various counties in the assessment of Inheritance Taxes and to approve all salary vouchers and expense accounts of such appraisers and investigators.

The Fiscal Code also provides that tax settlement for Corporation Taxes are made in the first place by the Department of Revenue, which settlements then are transmitted to the Auditor General for audit and approval and the failure of the Auditor General and the Department of Revenue to agree upon a settlement within four months results in the submission of the case to the Board of Finance and Revenue by the Department of Revenue. It is to be noted that in the assessment and collection of this tax, the Legislature in its wisdom placed a safeguard around it by not allowing the Executive Branch of the Commonwealth to be the sole judge in the assessment and collection of this tax. Likewise, the Legislature placed a safeguard around inheritance taxes by conferring the power to appoint appraisers, investigators and clerks on the Auditor General so that the assessment of this tax would not be placed solely under the executive branch of the Commonwealth.

Would Commonwealth Save Money by Transferring Appointment of Appraisers

The transfer of the power of appointment of appraisers, investigators and clerks to assist the Register of Wills to assess Inheritance Taxes from the Auditor General to the Department of Revenue would simply add to the confusion. Should this occur, the Department of Revenue and the Department of Justice, both of which are appointees of the Executive of the Commonwealth, would be in position to make any kind of a settlement by "stipulation" as they saw fit. Even under present conditions, appraisers were often put to a severe test in trying to uphold their appraisals. A case in point occurred recently when these two departments accepted, by stipulation, a value of $62,000 (the value placed by the Executor for the entire stock of a corporation) which the appraiser with the aid of the Department of Revenue appraised at $250,000. A Deputy Attorney General stated in writing about four weeks previous that in his opinion there was little doubt but that the appraisal would be upheld.

There would be no reduction in the expense incurred for the assessment and collection on inheritance taxes, irrespective under what department the appointment of appraisers, investigators and clerks was placed, but on the contrary, should the appointment of the appraisers, investigators and clerks be transferred to the Department of Revenue, it would then be necessary to set up an additional Bureau of Inheritance Tax audits, in the Department of the Auditor General, so that appraisals could be audited daily. It would be necessary to have trained accountants, investigators and lawyers experienced in Orphans' Court work to compose its personnel, with expense accounts for the investigators, and thereby increase the expenditures of the Commonwealth by tens of thousands of dollars annually.

July 30, 1942

Honorable F. Clair Ross
Auditor General
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Subject: Report of Edward B. Logan, Secretary of Department of Revenue, to Hon. Arthur H. James, Governor, dated July 23, 1942

Dear Mr. Ross:

I have pleasure in handing you herewith my comments on the above report. This report is so inaccurate as regards to figures and the real facts are evidently deliberately distorted so as to meet the ends of the compiler of this report, that I find it necessary to comment on same paragraph by paragraph.

"Inheritance Tax"

Quote:

"As for the collection of Inheritance Taxes I find that the amount deducted for salaries and expenses in Philadelphia was $27,767.45 in April, 1942. Last year in April, 1941, the amount deducted for Salaries and Expenses was $21,369.10—a difference of $6,398.35. This represents an increase in April, 1942 of 29%. This means in a year's time collecting Inheritance Taxes in Philadelphia is costing $76,000 more than it cost before Mr. Ross came into office."

Comments:

Inheritance Tax work is more or less seasonable, or in other words, the volume of work, especially in the larger counties, is so great at certain periods of a year as to require additional personnel for various periods. Had Dr. Logan made an analysis of the first year of your Administration and compared it with the previous year, he would have readily seen that he would not be justified in taking the month of April, 1942 and compare it with April, 1941 and then arbitrarily assume that an increase shown in this month would prevail throughout your entire term of office. Referring to the foregoing analysis, the total expense of the Philadelphia Office (not including Register of Wills commissions which are fixed by law) amount to $290,182.14 for the period May 1, 1940-April 30, 1941 and which is the year immediately preceding your induction into office. The total expense for the period May 1, 1941-April 30, 1942, being the first year of your administration, was $318,679.64 or an increase in expenditures of $28,497.50 and not an excess of $76,000, which Dr. Logan so arbitrarily assumes. Delinquent tax collections for the year 1941-42 in Philadelphia County exceeded the Delinquent Tax Collections for the year 1940-41 by $237,359.84.

Quote:

The number of employees in Philadelphia appointed by the Auditor General in April 1941 was 116. In May 1942 the number had increased to 160, an increase of 44 employees or 37%. The time at which these employees were added to the payroll by Mr. Ross can be seen in the following table which shows the number of the Auditor General Inheritance Tax employees for each month from April, 1941 to May, 1942."

Comment:

Why Dr. Logan should again select the months of April

1942 and April 1941 as a basis of comparison and use April 1941 as his yard stick is beyond comprehension. An analysis of the years May 1, 1940-April 30, 1941 and May 1, 1941-April 30, 1942 reveals the following:

	1940-41	1941-42	Dr. Logan's Table 1941-42
May	138	115	116
June	139	118	118

April	112	153	155

or an average monthly number of 142 employees for the first year of your term and 130 for the year immediately preceding. As you will note, the month of April, 1941 shows the lowest number of employees for the preceding year and Dr. Logan again uses the peculiar reasoning that 116 is the number of employees that should be engaged for the ensuing year.

Quote:

"The amount of Inheritance Taxes collected in Philadelphia in April 1941 was $1,345,333.33. In April 1942 the amount was $1,271,251.47—$74,081.86 less than in the previous year. It is evident there is no justification on the basis of taxes collected."

Comment:

Dr. Logan once more in very much in error. Inheritance Tax Collections in Philadelphia County for the month of April 1941 amounted to $356,689.64 and not $1,345,333.33. For the month of April 1942, $295,449.41 and not $1,271,251.47, as Dr. Logan states above.

The employment of these extra employees, most of which are for a temporary period, is justified when the number of delinquent estates completed is taken into consideration, thereby enabling the Department of Revenue to collect $237,359.84 excess in delinquent taxes over the preceding year. Delinquent appraisals as a rule entail more work than current appraisals. It must also be borne in mind that the ever increasing number of Joint Bank Accounts entail additional investigations and make the employment of additional personnel necessary.

Some three months ago, as you well know, steps were taken to reduce the "per Diem Payroll" in Philadelphia County and whatever reductions take place will not be because of Dr. Logan's tirade.

Quote:

"The situation in other counties is similar as the following table shows."

	1941		1942
	No. Em- ployees	Cost	No. Em- ployees	Cost
Huntingdon	1	$1,800	2	$3,000
Lackawanna	9	15,780	10	19,380
Luzerne	11	19,920	12	25,200
Montgomery	8	21,680	12	28,740
Northumberland ...	5	4,500	6	8,100
Washington	4	7,320	7	12,120

Comment:

The following table shows the correct number of employees and salaries:

	1941		1942
	No. Em- ployees	Cost	No. Em- ployees	Cost
Huntingdon	2	$2,400	2	$2,400
Lackawanna	9	15,780	10	19,380
Luzerne	11	22,500	12	25,800
Montgomery	8	20,600	11	27,520
Northumberland ...	5	4,500	6	8,100
Washington	4	7,320	7	12,120

You will note discrepancies exist in the counties of Huntingdon, Luzerne, and Montgomery. In Northumberland County salaries of three employees were increased from $600 to $900 per year and who is he that can question an increase in salary from $600 per annum to $900 per annum?

Quote:

"Throughout the State in April 1942, $77,910.52 was deducted from Inheritance Taxes for salaries and expenses when the year before in April, 1941, $65,099.45 was deducted. This is an increase of $12,811.07 or an increase of 19%. Over a period of a year it means $153,000 more than the cost of collecting inheritance taxes before Mr. Ross took office. Throughout the State, Mr. Ross had 354 Inheritance Tax employees when he took office in May 1941. Since that time he had added 79, bringing his total number to 433 in May 1942. The following table shows when the increases were made."

"I have already shown that forty-four of these additional employees were in the City of Philadelphia."

Comment:

A comparison of April, 1942 with April, 1941 again seems to serve Dr. Logan's purpose. April, 1941 is the month which shows the least number of employees for the year preceding your induction into office and the Inheritance Tax Department could not efficiently be administered with 354 employees. A comparison of the period May 1, 1941—April 30, 1942 with the period May 1, 1940—April 30, 1941 shows the following:

	1940-41 Total Number of Inheritance Tax Employees	1941-42 Total Number of Inheritance Tax Employees
May	363	369
June	379	372
July	370	377

December	376	417

or a monthly average of 404 employees for the period May 1, 1941—April 30, 1942 and 369 employees for the period May 1, 1940—April 30, 1941, an increase of 35 employees throughout the entire State. When it is taken into consideration that the hiring of these extra employees made it possible to collect an additional $633,751.21 in delinquent taxes. Dr. Logan's complaint on "126 additional employees" once more fails its purpose. The cost of collecting Inheritance Taxes for the period May 1, 1941—April 30, 1942, being the first year of your term, was $892,011.13 and for the period May 1, 1940—April 30, 1941, being the year preceding your induction into office, was $801,100.34, an increase in expenditures of $90,910.79 and not $153,000, as Dr. Logan arbitrarily assumes.

Quote:

"Inheritance Tax collections during the year prior to Mr. Ross coming into office were $15,392,191.42. During the first year in office, when he added 79 employees, collections were $13,307,389.49—a drop of more than two million dollars. Again, I say, these increases were made entirely without justification."

Comment:

Dr. Logan's figures once more are grossly inaccurate. Inheritance Tax collections during the year prior to your coming into office were $15,562,552.83 and during his first year in office gross collections were $14,615,483.58. And as stated above, the average increase in employees was 35 with an increase in collection of delinquent taxes of $633,751.21.

Quote:

"I find that in some counties where Inheritance Tax appraisers had been compensated on a per diem basis for the days worked, they have been placed on a yearly salary basis, thus greatly increasing the cost of collecting Inheritance Tax in those counties. For example, in Perry County, prior to July 1941, the Inheritance Tax Appraiser had been paid at the rate of $8.00 per day. In August 1941, he was placed on a salary basis of $1020 per year. For the year prior to July 1941, this employee received total compensation of $616.00 for his work during that year at the rate of $8.00 per day. Therefore, under this change which the Auditor General has made, there is an increase of $404.00 or an increase of 65% to collect inheritance taxes in that county."

"I checked the records to see if these increases could be justified on the basis of collections and I found that in Perry County for the year August 1940 to July 1941, when the appraiser received $616.00—$11,287.00 was collected. For the year August 1941 to May 1942 the amount of collections was $11,518.00, practically the same."

Comment:

As you will note, an entirely different period is selected by Dr. Logan for comparative purposes, viz: August 1940 to July 1941 with August 1941 to May 1942, this latter period being three months less than a full year. This clearly indicates Dr. Logan's purpose.

During the period May 1, 1940 to April 30, 1941, being the year preceeding your induction into office, gross collections in Perry County amounted to $8,294.73; during the period May 1, 1941—April 30, 1942, being the first year of your administration, Gross Collections amounted to $13,719.95, an increase in collections of $5,425.22.

Quote:

"In Wyoming County the Inheritance Tax Appraiser prior to July 1941 received $8.00 per day and in August 1941 was placed on a salary of $1200 per year. For the year prior to July 1941 at $8.00 per day this employee received $820 total compensation for the year. There is, therefore, an increase of $380 per year—an increase of 40% for the collection of inheritance taxes in that county."

"In Wyoming County the amount collected from August 1940 to July 1941 when the Appraiser was paid $820.00 was $28,312.84. During the year for which the Appraiser received $1200, August 1941 to May 1942, the amount collected was $4,360.48."

Comment:

My comments about the period of comparison for Perry County also applies to Wyoming County.

Gross Collections for Wyoming County for the period May 1, 1940—April 30, 1941 amounted to $12,510.13; for the period May 1, 1941—April 30, 1942, Gross Collections amounted to $21,124.46, an increase in collections of $8,614.23.

MERCANTILE TAX

Quote:

"An examination of the payroll and expenses of the employees appointed by the Auditor General for Inheritance Tax and Mercantile Tax work convinces me that the amount being deducted is unreasonable and thoroughly unjustified and therefore, I want to take whatever steps I can to protect and stop, if possible, this misuse of inheritance and mercantile taxes."

"I find that the situation I am protesting began soon after Mr. Ross became Auditor General in May, 1941, as can be seen by the information which follows:"

Comment:

Had Dr. Logan approached this matter with an open mind and made comparisons and analyses for periods covering the first year of your administration with the previous year, he would have realized how utterly ridiculous, inaccurate and unfair are the foregoing charges.

Quote:

"The situation is especially bad in Philadelphia. The amount deducted for salaries and expenses for the collection of Mercantile Taxes in the month of April 1942 was $20,400.61. For the month of April, 1941 the amount deducted was $15,253.14. The amount deducted in April 1942—$20,400.61 represents an increase of $5,147.47 or an increase of 33%. This means that in course of a year's time at this rate the payroll and expenses of the Auditor General's employees will cost $61,000 more than was the cost before Mr. Ross came into office."

"In looking back, the amount deducted in April, 1940 was $13,011.06. The amount deducted in 1942 exceeds that amount by $7,389.55 or an increase of 58%."

"I find at the present time that there are 113 employees appointed by the Auditor General in Philadelphia assigned to the collection of Mercantile Taxes. A year ago, April 1941, there were 71 employees. In one year's time, therefore, Mr. Ross has increased the number of employees by 42—a 59% increase in the number of employees in one year when this increase occurred can be seen in the following table which shows the number of employees of the Auditor General's Department for each month from April 1941 to June 1942. As the table shows, Mr. Ross has added 47 employees to be paid from Mercantile License Taxes since April, 1941."

Comment:

An analysis of the Receipts and Expenditures of the Mercantile Tax Office for Philadelphia County shows an increased expenditure of $60,286.53 for the period May 1, 1941—April 30, 1942 over the period May 1, 1940—April 30, 1941 and an increase in current collections of $111,-197.83 fro the same periods. Due to the normous increase of pin ball machines and the large amount of work these appraisements entail, it became absolutely necessary that the number of employees be increased in this county. However, since the Superior Court decision illegalizing these machines, you well know that steps have been taken several months previous to Dr. Logan's statement, to reduce the Per Diem payroll in this County, even though it will probably again be necessary to increase same after January next.

In references to increases in personnel in the rest of the State, which are negligible, Fayette, Lancaster, Lehigh, Northampton, Schuylkill and Westmoreland, are mentioned by Dr. Logan where increases have occurred. According to Dr. Logan's own statement, 6 employees were added, one in each county, all of which are in a temporary basis and who are employed for a period of six months or less. However, the percentage of increase in these counties rises considerably and no doubt, the good Doctor's vanity was tickled by being able to note increases of such magnitude.

Quote:

"And this is not all—more employees are being added continuously. The payrolls for both Mercantile and Inheritance Tax collecting are being built still higher. New appointments are still being made. With the additional appointments already appointed and at the rate new appointments are being made, Mercantile and Inheritance Tax collections will cost about a quarter of a million dollars more per year than was the cost before Mr. Ross came into office. This means that for his four year term, the additional cost will approximate one million dollars."

Comment:

Here is where Dr. Logan allows his vivid imagination to run wild. The increase in expenditures in Inheritance Tax collections for the first year of your administration over the preceding year is $90,910.79, but Dr. Logan most carefully refrains from mentioning an increase in collections of $633,751.21 in delinquent taxes and that we kept abreast of the current work, which was as heavy as the preceding year.

Quote:

"The increase in the number of employes and expenses is so large that I have made some preliminary investigations of these employees who have been placed under my supervision. Many of them are performing little or no service for the State. Some of them are assigned to counties but perform no services whatever in those counties, yet their salaries and expenses are being deducted from the taxes collected in those counties. The salaries of many are far out of line with the positions they hold. So many of the employees are Democratic State Committee members or local Democratic Committeemen that the question of serious political abuse of the collection of these two taxes is raised. There are at least twenty-one members of the Democratic State Committee either on the Mercantile or Inheritance Tax payroll and many local Democratic Committeemen.

"In my opinion this aspect of the situation, as well as others, needs much more attention than I have been able to give thus far."

Comment:

It is most unfortunate that Dr. Logan throughout his entire report injects politics in the Inheritance and Mercantile Tax Departments. Particularly is this emphasized in the foregoing paragraph. Dr. Logan well knows that the administration and enforcement of the Inheritance and Mercantile Tax laws have been carried out efficiently without fear or favor and that politics and political abuse have had no place in such administration and enforcement. His own Director of the Bureau of County Collections, Mr. Linn L. Reist, can verify this statement, unless compelled to do otherwise by his politically minded superior. Mr. Reist, who has held this position for a period of 25 to 30 years throughout numerous Republican and Democratic administration, can vouch for the fact that never in all those years have these two tax laws been more efficiently and impartially administered than during the period covered by the first year of your administration.

When you assumed office in May 1941, you found that during all the years Pennsylvania's Inheritance Tax laws were in force, with the exception of the administration of Auditor General Roberts, little or no attention had been given to the proper and efficient functioning of this important division responsible for the appraisal of decedent estates from which the Commonwealth derives approximately fifteen million dollars revenue annually, the third largest source of revenue collected for the Commonwealth.

After having made a careful survey of the procedure and methods of investigating and appraising decedent estates and of the collection of delinquent Inheritance Taxes and after having conferred with Inheritance Tax representatives of the Department of Revenue and the Department of Justice, for the first time in the history of the Commonwealth a bureau of Inheritance Tax was properly organized, with a Chief of Inheritance Tax Appraisers at its head. The State was divided into ten workable districts and in each district a Special Appraiser was appointed. These Special Appraisers were carefully selected by reason of their experience and training as lawyers, accountants and investigators in Orphans Court and Inheritance Tax matters. The results accomplished during the past years has more than justified the appointment of these men. At the outset, these Special Appraisers found the Inheritance Tax records in most counties in an utterly deplorable condition, due principally to a failure on the part of State officials in past administrations upon whom the statutes of the Commonwealth imposed the duty of appointing and supervising Inheritance Tax Appraisers in the counties and enforcing the collection of Inheritance Taxes.

Numerous estates in which Inheritance Tax had become delinquent and a penalty of 12% per annum imposed, by reason of being more than one year old, many of them delinquent as long as 10, 15 and 20 years, were discovered by these Special Appraisers—apparently forgotten and ignored by County and State officials. In many instances cases were found in which Inheritance tax had been paid, but on which the records in the Department of Revenue did not disclose the fact of payment. Lists of delinquent estates forwarded to the Bureau of County Collections of the Department of Revenue to the Register of Wills in the various counties of the Commonwealth were found to be incomplete, inaccurate and confusing. Numerous cases were found by Special Appraisers where, because of ignorance or negligence on the part of officials and their agents in the counties, statements of debts and deductions were approved containing deductions which were excessive and unlawful and which had been allowed as offsets against the appraised value of estates, thus depriving the Commonwealth of many thousands of dollars in Inheritance Taxes justly due it.

In May 1941 when you took office, there were 3139 estates more than one year old—in other words delinquent—on which no appraisements had been filed. No tax collected, and apparently no effort being made to do so. In order to remedy and correct the chaotic condition which prevailed, a tremendous amount of work was done. All county Inheritance Tax records were checked, investigations were made and modern business methods in the handling of this important work were instituted. More than half of these estates delinquent in May 1941 have been closed by June 30th and by the end of the year ninety percent of the remainder will be closed. Delinquent Inheritance Taxes collected as a result of a comparatively small additional expenditure of money exceeded the amount of such taxes collected the year prior by $633,750.67. The practice of allowing improper and unlawful deductions in Inheritance Tax settlements has been stopped and by reason of the diligence of the Special Appraisers will be prevented in the future. Were it not for these Special Appraisers and competent and efficient investigators and appraisers appointed by the Auditor General for service in the various counties, I can accurately state that during the past years the Commonwealth would have lost hundreds of thousands of dollars which have been collected.

In conclusion, it is evident from the fact that for a period of forty-three months the Department of Revenue acquiesced in and approved the "conditions" of which Dr. Logan now complains, and that he is only now actuated by political motives.

Respectfully submitted,

STATEMENT OF J. WARREN MICKLE, CHIEF OF INHERITANCE TAX AND MERCANTILE TAX
APPRAISERS DEPARTMENT OF THE
AUDITOR GENERAL

The recent published statement of the Secretary of Revenue criticizing the Department of the Auditor General, for its part in administration of Inheritance and Mercantile Tax laws—copy of which has not yet been provided to this Department—indicates either an absolute lack of proper knowledge of laws and procedures governing these important levies, or a deliberate attempt to mislead the people of Pennsylvania.

Both of these taxes are appraised under the direction of the Department of Revenue.

Both are settled by joint agreement of the Department of Revenue and the Department of the Auditor General.

And both are collected by the Department of Revenue.

The Department of the Auditor General has just two functions in the appraisal and collection of these taxes; first, to certify to the Department of Revenue names of persons to be employed in making appraisals; and second, to join the Department of Revenue in approving settlements.

All appraisers—although appointed by the Department of the Auditor General—work under the sole supervision and direction of the Department of Revenue; and their salaries and expense accounts are approved by the Department of Revenue.

Since Auditor General Ross took office more than 14 months ago every appointment for this work has been certified regularly to the Department of Revenue as required by law, and heretofore no criticism has been forthcoming.

Similarly, payrolls and expense accounts of these employees have been submitted to the Department of Revenue regularly, as required by law, and here again no question has been raised heretofore.

It seems strange indeed that the Department of Revenue, after all these months should suddenly discover that the very procedure in which it has been cooperating without question have become objectionable to the point that they require immediate public censure without so much as a word of complaint to the Department of the Auditor General.

We have sought without success to identify in our official records figures quoted by the Secretary of Revenue. The only conclusion to be drawn therefore, is that chaotic conditions in the Inheritance Tax and Mercantile Tax sections of the Department of Revenue make it impossible for the Secretary of Revenue to find accurate figures in his records.

Official records in our Bureau of Inheritance Tax show that when Auditor General Ross took office one third of all unsettled inheritance tax cases was delinquent for from one to twenty years.

During the first year of the Ross administration appraisers appointed by the Department of the Auditor General have handled all current work promptly and in addition made it possible for the Department of Revenue to close out 60 percent of the delinquent cases on hand when Mr. Ross took office. As a result of this sharp increase in delinquent tax collections the Commonwealth received $633,750.67 more from this source during the first year of the Ross administration than during the previous year.

In making these additional collections possible we employed an average of only 12 more persons per month throughout the State than had been employed during the previous year; and these persons were employed with the full knowledge of the Department of Revenue.

In the matter of Mercantile Taxes, Philadelphia appears to have been singled out for special criticism.

Here, during the first year of the Ross administration, we employed an average of 36 more persons per month than had been employed during the previous year.

Most of these additional employees were added at the request of the Department of Revenue which pointed out that they were needed to insure business-like operation.

As a result of this increased personnel we completed appraisals sufficient to make possible collection in Philadelphia by the Department of Revenue of $111,197.83 more mercantile tax revenue during this year than had been collected during the previous year.

Re: Estate of Walter Maguire

File 1208-LLR

Dear Sir:

In going over the file in the above matter I note we have not replied to your letter of August 13 addressed to Honorable E. Russell Shockley, Deputy Attorney General.

The present status of this appeal is that the Department of Revenue is attempting to get certain information from the Federal Estate Tax Returns and has written to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue in Washington for permission to examine the Federal files in this estate. The Internal Revenue Agent who discussed the case with the representatives of the Department of Revenue indicated that the Federal government has placed a value of $10,000 per share upon the stock of this company. He stated that the Commonwealth should have no difficulty in sustaining a value of $2,500. With all of this in mind it has been considered that it might be possible to settle this case without the necessity of a hearing and the employment of expert witnesses to testify.

If expert witnesses are necessary we believe that we may be able to obtain them from the Department of Mines and thus avoid the necessity of insuring a large appraiser's fee. We will give further thought to this problem if the case cannot be settled after the information in the Federal Returns is made available.

Very truly yours,
B. B. BASTIAN, Assistant
Deputy Attorney General.

Re: Walter McGuire Estate, Montgomery County

Dear Mr. Shockley:

I am forwarding to you herewith copy of correspondence with the Bureau of County Collections, Department of Revenue, regarding the above estate.

Several weeks ago the suggestion was made to this department that it might be well to have Special Appraisers appointed to appraise the coal lands and other property of the Lynchburg Collieries Company in order to uphold the appraisal of $2500 per share placed on this stock by the Inheritance Tax Office of Montgomery County. This value was placed on this stock after an examination of the Corporation Tax returns and was agreed to by the Bureau of County Collections and the Montgomery County Inheritance Tax Office.

Powerful interest will be arrayed against the Commonwealth when this appeal is heard and if it is the desire of your department that the Auditor General appoint Special Appraisers (mining engineers familiar with coal lands in Westmoreland County, where coal lands owned by Lynchburg Collieries Company are situated, and who can qualify in Court as experts) will you please so advise us.

Thanking you for your prompt attention and cooperation to this matter, I am

Your memorandum of August 7, 1942 was received concerning the appointment of a Special Appraiser or Appraisers to evaluate the coal lands of the Llewellyn Coal Company.

This matter is as you indicate in the Department of Justice for attention since the appeal has been taken, and we would suggest that you take the matter up with E. Russell Shockley, Deputy Attorney General, in the Department of Justice, as I believe that he is in contact with Paul Wisler, Esquire, of Montgomery County, who has been appointed by the Department of Justice to represent the Commonwealth in this appeal.

Referring to our recent conversion in regards to having a Special Appraiser (or Appraisers) appointed to value the coal lands of the Llewellyn Coal Company, the entire stock of which was held by Walter McGuire, deceased.

Will you kindly advise what conclusion the Department of Justice rendered in reference to having Special Appraisers appointed.

As this appeal will be heard in Montgomery County sometime in September we do not have very much time to have an appraisal made.

Your prompt attention to this inquiry will be appreciated.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA } ss:
COUNTY OF DAUPHIN

GEORGE W. REILY, being duly sworn according to law, deposes and says:

That he is President of Harrisburg Trust Company; that Walter P. Maguire, a resident of Montgomery County, Pennsylvania died on the 27th day of April, 1940 and by his last will and testament appointed the said Harrisburg Trust Company as his Executor; that the said Walter P. Maguire had engaged in the general business of buying and selling coal and maintained an office for that purpose in the City of Philadelphia; that after his death an employee of his office reported that there were registered in his name One Hundred (100) shares of the capital stock of Leechburg Collieries Company, Inc., being the entire amount of capital stock issued and outstanding by the said Leechburg Collieries Company, Inc., but that the certificates for such shares had not been in Mr. Maguire's possession; that upon investigation it was found that all such shares had been pledged as collateral security for the payment of a demand note held by Lewis W. Hicks, who was the General Manager and Treasurer of the said Walter P. Maguire did not have sufficient funds to pay the balance of Twelve Thousand Five Hundred ($12,500) remaining due upon the said collateral note and to pay the other debts of the estate; that as a result of a complete investigation made by the proper officers of the said Harrisburg Trust Company, including conferences with the said Lewis W. Hicks and his attorneys, it appeared doubtful if the estate could establish title and ownership to the said one hundred shares; that is a result of such investigation it seemed unwise and inexpedient for the Harrisburg Trust Company duties and the workings of the office, in that fourth year of his office, the fiscal code of the State of Pennsylvania was amended. There was set up and there was established for the first time the collection of these inheritance taxes by the Department of Revenue, the appointment of investigators and appraisers by the Department of the Auditor General and the prosecution of the collections by the office of the Department of Justice. In other words, during the last year of the term of Edward Martin as Auditor General—whether it was his idea or not I do not know and I do not think it is too material, but he was a part of the administration and it must have been with his approval at that time—the people in charge of the government of our Commonwealth saw fit to divorce the centralization in any one office of this very important work of collection of millions of dollars every year, separated that power and authority by appointing appraisers and investigators in one department, the auditing and accounting being in that department, having the collection of moneys in another department, the Department of Revenue, and having the prosecution of collections in a third department. That is the way the law has existed from 1929 down to the present time, and it is curious, when these three bills are attempted to be passed into law, that same Edward Martin is on the scene again but happens to be Governor of Pennsylvania now, and now we are going to break down all the good that was done in 1929 and we are going to break down the checking of one department against another and we are going to centralize all this power again.

What difference does it make whether there is centralization in this work or not? What advantage has been gained by having it decentralized, which was inaugurated during Edward Martin's term as Auditor General?

I have, and I hope I shall always have, the milk of human kindness in my heart, and I would not call anybody a crook, but when we look at those thousands of delinquent taxes in estates of decedents, going back to 1929 and beyond, amounting to millions of dollars in delinquent taxes, why have they not been prosecuted, why have they not been collected, why has the Department of Revenue not made collections, why have collections not been enforced by the Department of Justice.

The answer might well be that at times it seems expedient for some people or some officials to gain a little political favor, and there can be much political favor gained when we are dealing with millions of dollars—that is the situation as it exists today.

What is going to happen when we have centralization of this work in one department instead of having three departments, one checking against the other? The appointment of these officers is going to be by the Department of Revenue, they will be Department of Revenue men and those men will be accountable to only one department, and that is the Department of Revenue, and when the Department of Revenue wants to overlook collection of taxes in any particular estate, when it wants to minimize the appraisal, when it wants to do anything that is to the detriment of the fiscal policy and laws of this Commonwealth, there is no way to check against it. There will be auditing of the Department of Revenue by the office of the Attorney General, that is true, but the office of the Attorney General will be able to audit only such accounts and reports as are spread before it by the Department of Revenue, and there is not going to be any check upon the real assets of a decedent's estate; there is not going to be a check upon the amounts of moneys which were actually collected.

In a nutshell it is a bad system, it is turning your back on something good which you gentlemen on the other side inaugurated in 1929, and tonight you have turned not only this legislative clock back but you have turned back the wheels of progress; you have turned back legislative advancement which you made in 1929, and we are going back to the one department system on which there can be no check.

I am sorry the Majority Party and the administration in power today have seen fit to have endorsed such a program as is included in these three bills. I know individually a lot of you fine gentlemen on the other side do not like these three bills, and I am sorry you have permitted yourself to be stultified by Caucus action to the point where, when a vote is taken, it will be a straight party vote. You are going to do what you know in your hearts you should not do; you are going to vote for centralization of this important work in one department.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, it is my desire to answer some of the remarks of the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Watkins. Most of the men here know that up until this point throughout the entire Session, I have not risen on my feet excepting on matters pertaining to bills, and I have refrained entirely from getting personal, from speaking personally; all my remarks were directly concerning bills which were on the Calendar.

Tonight I must say I am disappointed to know so many things have been said here tonight of no avail. It is apparent the gentlemen on the right side of the House resented the remarks made by our colleague from Allegheny, Senator Holland. Just a few moments ago the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Watkins, made some personal remarks referring directly to the present Auditor General and I can not help but answer him. I sat in the General Assembly the first week in January when ex-governor James made certain remarks referring to dishonesty or misconduct in office of the present Auditor General—I have no knowledge whether or not he has any basis for those remarks. Now, tonight, in the last hours of this Session, the gentleman from Schuylkill takes the floor and makes practically the same remarks, that this man was guilty of misconduct in office, he is dishonest, he is a thief, he is a robber, but they have failed to do anything about it. I am sick of listening to men make remarks of that nature without backing them up. I say to my Democratic colleagues and to my Republican colleagues, if they have any knowledge whatsoever pertaining to the office of F. Clair Ross, and they have had it four or five months, it would have been their duty and it is their duty now to act or forever hold their peace. They will go back home and speak of a man being dishonest. I am here to vote for any resolution to prosecute any man in public office who has been dishonest, but we can not do it by talking about it, making insinuations or showing papers carrying headlines, but we say to ourselves we shall take no action.

So I say to the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Watkins, if he has any knowledge directly or indirectly, let him introduce a resolution tonight and I will vote for it, to start an investigation, and if F. Clair Ross or any other public officeholder is guilty of misconduct let us bring it to light before we adjourn, but if we have no such facts, with all decency, let us not talk about him.

Mr. MCGINNIS. I am going to designate these bills as hit-and-run bills, and I do not blame the Republican Party for being ashamed of these bills and holding them until the last minutes, in the darkness here, and run out on a Sunday morning. Whether you run to church or not I do not know but I have always felt that people can be fair and unfair. I can remember when I first came to Pittsburgh we only had six thousand Democrats in Allegheny County, and today we have a hundred thousand majority registration. We did not have a job, the Republican Party had everything, they ruled everything, they had all the jobs, and they thought they were there forever, and yet they were cleaned out. We have most of the city officials in the county. As I have said, we have nearly a hundred thousand majority in registration in Allegheny County.

I have talked to the Governor several times about these bills, and I will say very frankly the Governor said the mercantile tax should be eliminated, but he indicated very clearly to me he thought it was a fair thing, or at least we had some claims that this thing should not be changed in the middle of an administration; if we were going to do it we should do it at the end of the administration of Clair Ross, because when the people went to the polls and voted for Clair Ross to collect these inheritance taxes, the people at least felt they were electing him to do that for four years.

I will admit there has always been some criticism of the mercantile taxes, and if the Governor was determined they should be eliminated, it might not be so bad, but I am sure the Governor was not in too much sympathy with ripping out, in the midst of an administration, and disrupting or creating confusion in the collection of these taxes, because if we start this thing now in the midst of an administration, with new employees, you are going to have confusion.

I contend the best thing to do would be, if you are going to do it, to do it at the end of an administration. It is a strange thing the mercantile tax was never thought of being abandoned during about seventy-five or a hundred years under Republican rule, but now, simply because Democrats happen to hold these two departments, or did have them, they must be ripped out and so, Mr. President, I feel that a party can overdo itself, a party like the Republican Party can be too greedy and too hoggish and if you do it, it may come back to hit you in the face.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I am a little bit surprised to hear the Minority Leader, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, who has characterized himself so many times as an Andrew Jackson Democrat, who believes the victor belongs the spoils, complain so bitterly about a few jobs in the inheritance tax department.

I am sure, too, that he heard the Majority Floor Leader the other evening read from a message of Governor Earle where he recommended the very thing the Republican Party has now included in the bill under discussion.

I might say, too, we could point to so many ripper bills advocated by the Democratic Party that I would just be wasting time recalling them. In fact I always like to point out that postmasters are protected by civil service, but try and find a Republican postmaster in Pennsylvania.

In answer to the statement of the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, I want to say very frankly the only way I know Mr. Ross is by reputation, by seeing him here in Harrisburg, seeing his picture in the papers—certainly I do not know him personally, neither do I know anything upon which I can base a charge of anything at all with regard to his office. The remarks I made were based upon a message delivered to the Legislature of this Commonwealth by a former Governor of Pennsylvania, and Supplements were handed to us, containing facts the former Governor of the Commonwealth claims would substantiate the charges that were made. That is on what I based the few remarks I made.

I agree with the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska, and I want to say now I am making no personal charges against Mr. Ross—I have nothing personal against him at all; he may be entirely innocent of the charges made—but charges were made by the former Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the highest office in the gift of the people of this Commonwealth, and that Governor claims this man was dishonest in the conduct of the office of Auditor General. I have already stated, so far as the Republican Party is concerned, if we were to press any kind of an investigation, immediately the charge would be made that it was politics, that it was spite, that they were made when this man was a candidate for Governor, and again I reiterate and say the burden rests upon the Democratic Party, and upon Mr. Ross to clear himself in the eyes of the people of this Commonwealth of the charges made by the former Governor of this Commonwealth.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I hesitate to inflict myself upon this body at this late hour. As a matter of fact, the Senate has heard what the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, has said, and I think we have gotten far afield in this discussion.

This is not important, but I here take slight issue with my colleague from Schuylkill, Senator Watkins—even though I agree every word he says is true—but I was in his body back in the Session of the Legislature in 1929, and at that time the General Assembly of the state of Pennsylvania dedicated themselves to the policy that all state revenues would be collected through a new Department of Revenue, and all over the state of Pennsylvania the word went out that we had agreed on a sound policy for the state of Pennsylvania, thus we would throw all collections of revenue into one department, but in the years intervening since May 6, 1929, when the late Charles Johnston of Montgomery County was commissioned as the first Secretary of Revenue, from time to time we apparently reached into other departments and took away a bureau. At one time we took the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, then in the Department of Highways and brought it over into the Department of Revenue, and again I say, from time to time we took over these loose ends and brought them into the Department of Revenue, where they should be and where they all are, as we understand here tonight, with this one exception.

Now Mr. President, regardless of whom the official is, at the moment, regardless of when he was elected, I call to your attention the fact that in January of this year we inaugurated a new Governor, and in fairness to him this is the time to make the last consolidation and to get every bureau that is collecting revenue for this Commonwealth under the one head, so that every member of this Legislature, whether he is a Senator or a member of the House, can find out from that department just what the revenues of the Commonwealth are. Then on the other hand, this man or that man may have control of those jobs, that is of but little consequence. As a matter of fact, one of the cabinet officers has told me within the last twenty-four hours that this figure of 371, which the gentleman from Delaware has given, is the present number of clerks handling this particular work, but he has estimated he can do it with a little less than two hundred, just a few short of one-half, and that point I should like to interject here, because the point I want to make to this body is that when these bills are passed and signed by Governor Martin and become law, then we will have completed the plan started in the Legislature back in 1929, which was to get all the revenue collecting bureaus of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania under one head, and I congratulate this body when they vote to do that and say they have made a forward step and they have completed a good business-like plan.

Mr. DENT. I just want to remind the members of the Senate that the Revenue Department still does all the collecting; the Auditor General collects none of the Revenue. The Auditor General does the accounting and the auditing.

I also want to call your attention to something which you may have missed, that it will cost $232,000 more to perform the same duties under the requirements of these particular bills, as compared to the cost today under the present administrative code. It will cost $232,000 more because the Auditor General must still audit the accounts, a staff must still be there, and it will take the same amount of work as it is taking under the present system, so as a matter of economy you have $232,000 more added to the expenses of collecting delinquent taxes in the state.

In answer to the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Watkins, I just want to say that although Governor James saw fit to finish his administration as he started it—that was entirely his business—he had to elect some scapegoat, and so he elected Clair Ross.

When he entered the office of Governor of this state he took many healthy, political swings at ex-Governor Earle and then, of course, when ex-Governor Earle entered the military service, in order that he might defend the right of Governor James to stand up on the rostrum in order to make political capital out of a man that was elected to public office, I want to say Governor James never had any foundation for his statements, because the cost as compared with the previous administration is so little in excess of what is was during the administration of Auditor General Roberts and everyone, including the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward, publicly claimed that Auditor General Roberts performed his duties better than any other Auditor General in their memory—the cost of collections under the administration of Mr. Ross was .06 per cent higher than it was under Auditor General Roberts, and yet Auditor General Ross collected $633,751.21 more than was collected by Auditor General Warren Roberts.

Mr. McGINNIS. In answer to the issue raised by the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Watkins, that ex-Governor Earle recommended the transfer of inheritance tax collections as provided in these bills, to the everlasting credit of the Democratic Party that was not done. We had ambitious men, greedy men, men thirsty for power, like every party, but to the everlasting credit of my party we did not come down here on the last night of a legislative session, hold bills up here and sneak out in the night and put through bills like this; our party did not do that and I am glad they did not do it.

The question was raised here as to the number in the armed service; there are 45 men and women from the inheritance tax office fighting the battles in this war tonight.

Mr. BARR. I call these bills not the Honorable David Harris, Secretary of Revenue bills, I call them Honorable David Harris, Republican Chairman of Philadelphia bills, and unless these bills pass, Dave Harris is afraid he will lose the mayor down in Philadelphia at the next election, but I will say to you if you pass these bills they will react against you and I will tell you we are going to elect a Democratic mayor in Philadelphia.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred:)

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I ask that the roll be verified.

The PRESIDENT. Request has been made to have the roll verified.

HOUSE BILL No. 942, PRINTER'S No. 669
CALLED UP

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I call up at this time House Bill No. 942, Printer's No. 669, on page 19 of today's Third Reading Calendar, which was passed over temporarily.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 942, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the Insurance Department for the payment of certain moral claims against the Commonwealth and that department

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The sum of Ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Insurance Department of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the payment of moral claims against the Commonwealth and that department arising out of the deposit of funds in escrow prior to the year one thousand nine hundred fifteen with the Insurance Commission pending the determination of liability under certain insurance policies where final determination of the question thus arising has been rendered impossible

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally,

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, ordinarily I would not talk on a bill that has excellent prospects of passing this Senate by unanimous vote, but behind this bill is a human interest story unparalleled in the history of the Pennsylvania Legislature. This bill, if passed, represents the fulfillment of a thirty year dream by a resident of my county, the county of Lackawanna.

It seems fitting, Mr. President, on the eve of Mother's Day, that the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania should recognize their obligation to an aggrieved old lady from this great Commonwealth.

For nineteen hundred years mankind has had an unfailing source of inspiration of heroic deeds, great accomplishments and sublime achievements; for nineteen hundred years the word that represents this ever-flowing fountain of inspiration, which has charmed the ears and thrilled the hearts and gladdened the minds of all children of men, has been "Mother". Tonight as a result of the belief that this bill will pass, bringing to a successful conclusion a twenty-year fight in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, there will arise tomorrow morning a mother of seven children, a lady who has been a familiar figure in the halls of the Pennsylvania Legislature—you may have seen her moving in and about this Senate Chamber, not only in this session but in the 1941 session, Mr. President—bent with the years of her sorrow, with her little tattered black shawl wrapped around her head, carrying her customary cane, coming in and asking the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania to aid her in her successful fight to have the Commonwealth meet an obligation.

Thirty-four years ago this woman's husband was killed in an elevator accident in a building in the city of Scranton. Then began her fight to be justly compensated for the loss of her husband—which tonight I am happy to say is ending—I hope—by this bill appropriating $10,000 to the Department of Insurance, to check and make certain her obligation is legal, to make happy in the autumn of her life, the few remaining years of this splendid old woman.

She has asked me to thank the members of the Senate for their unfailing courtesy, for their spirit of toleration, when she stopped them in the last few years asking for their support.

On Tuesday of this week she asked me about the prospects of passage of this bill, and my answer was one of discouragement. She did not say anything to me verbally, but her tear-dimmed eyes expressed more eloquently than words her keen disappointment, and I am delighted to see in a Session replete with rather vicious legislation, that the members of both parties are recognizing the traditional chivalry of aiding a splendid old woman in distress.

She has asked me to sum up her appreciation in the word of Tiny Tim, the crippled youngster in Dicken's Christmas Carol, by saying "God bless us everyone."

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WOODRING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, yesterday my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, was stricken with illness. He rallied and attended today's Session until this evening at which time he suffered a slight relapse. He was taken to Philadelphia, and prior to leaving he asked me if I would hand in for the purpose of spreading upon the record, a statement which he had intended to deliver at this evening's session concerning legislation which has been enacted during this Session.

On behalf of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, I ask permission to have his statement spread upon the minutes.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any objection? The Chair hears none.

EXTENDED REMARKS BY SENATOR SHAPIRO

Mr. SHAPIRO. According to the history on our desks, up to the first day of this week 65 bills were enacted into law. Of these 65 bills 12 dealt with the change of name of the Pennsylvania Motor Police.

As a result of the enactment of the other 53 bills motor vehicle owners will pay less for their licenses, the life of the Anthracite Coal Commission was continued, the Joint State Government Commission is Republican controlled, some institution under Welfare will receive some fire insurance money, some new appointments to jobs have been made and increases in salaries have been granted in the House and Senate, increases in the salaries of local politicians have been authorized, pandering is now a cause for divorce, fish may be taken from certain waters and fish bait may not be sold except under certain conditions, the Federal Victory Tax may be collected by the state, the end of Mr. Beamish's career as Public Utility Commissioner has been accelerated, the time for veterans to make application for their bonus has been extended, the Republican party is now able to pay a political obligation to a labor leader by an amendment to the State Labor Relations Act; insurance premiums to policy holders will be increased by changing the method of computing the reserve; insurance company's business will be increased by authorizing the sale of insurance to minors; the insurance of medical, hospital, surgical and funeral expenses and increasing the amount for which insurance companies may issue policies in certain cases; taxes will be collected more economically in the county of Huntingdon; the 7th and 8th county taxes on seated land will now be returned to the County Commissioners and collected by the County Treasurer; the failure to make reports and returns on County Treasurer's sales for delinquent taxes has been corrected, and it will be necessary to give written notices to certain persons whose assessment is changed, superannuated teachers who return to active school service will not receive any smaller allowance on their second retirement than they received prior to their return; copies of auditor's report must be filed in school districts of the 3rd and 4th classes; if you want declaratory judgment you must be more careful of the service and return of your petition; if you are the fellow who erroneously or inadvertently paid money to a municipality on an assessment which was later declared invalid you can get your money back; judgments and liens held by political subdivisions may be set off; an affidavit of active duty in the armed forces may be taken within or without this Commonwealth where required in cases of divorce; soldiers will be entitled to a renewal of their automobile licenses upon return from war; trustees occupying dual capacities may make certain investments with the consent of their co-trustees; if you are going out of business at one address you can not go out of business again at the same place; you need no longer be disturbed if your favorite pin boy in your favorite bowling alley has gone to war; method of payment for private property taken in connection with the Chester Highway has been properly set up and the armory which was destroyed by fire may be rebuilt out of the funds established for that purpose; the act to prevent the fraudulent sale of cheese is repealed; the farmer is no longer a dealer if the stock he sells is surplus or unprofitable; vinegar may now be sold more freely and county fairs may be held less frequently; busy lawyers will have twenty days in which to appeal from the order of the Liquor Control Board; the filing of Treasurers Bonds in second class townships is no longer a problem; neither is the financing of sewers in second class townships; the County Commissioners in each of the third class counties will be able to establish a registry survey bureau; doctors' internship period is reduced to nine months; historical society records and definitions are preserved and clarified as are provisions for the education of physically and mentally handicapped children.

This is the outstanding record of the bills enacted into law thus far.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. FARRELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I propose to ask unanimous consent to present two bills but before doing so I should like to offer a short explanation.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, an old man walked in to my home last Sunday, having traveled seventeen miles. Mr. Anderson of the Board of Education was talking to me at the time and this old man said to me "I want to ask you if you will present two bills, Senator." I said "Certainly, but it is too late." Then he said, "Will you not put them in anyhow?" I said, "What district do you come from?" He said, "I come from the district of Senator Jaspán." I said, "Why do you not take these bills to Senator Jaspán?" He said, "Why, I will not present any one but you with such good bills."

I assured him it was all right, but I said it was too late; however, if it means anything to that old gentleman, I will present these two bills. I have not read them, but I believe they pertain to the Public Assistance Act.

Mr. President, to carry out my word, if there is no objection, I read in place and present to the Chair two bills.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. I do not object, Mr. President, but I suggest that the two bills be received and filed, without printing, preferably in some place in the office of the President of the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. I second the motion, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPÁN. May I suggest, sir, that the bills be turned over to me and I will give them to one of my constituents.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria will proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I would like to inquire from the Chair as to disposition of House Bill No. 1071, which passed this body with amendments. Can the Chair tell me what finally was done on that bill by the House? Does the Chair have that information?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate insisted on its amendments and there has been no further message from the House.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, many hours ago the House refused to concur in amendments and we certainly should have been notified of that action many hours ago.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate has received no such message.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, there is some juggling going on here.

Mr. HEYBURN. The explanation could be, Mr. President, that there has been some oratory in the House and they have not been able to do any business.

RECESS

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for fifteen minutes.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

NOMINATION AND ELECTION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. HEYBURN. I move, Mr. President, that the Senate now proceed with election of a President Pro Tempore to serve during the interim.

Mr. TAYLOR. I second the motion, Mr. President. The motion was agreed to.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, it gives me pleasure to place in nomination for President Pro Tempore a man whose mind is clear, whose judgment is sound and whose ideas are good; I think he has been a very excellent leader of the Republican Party in Pennsylvania.

This is a very high honor to be bestowed upon one of our members. It, therefore, gives me great pleasure to present in nomination the name of Charles H. Ealy, the Senator from Somerset.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, it gives me great pleasure to second the nomination of Senator Charles H. Ealy, for President Pro Tempore of the Senate for the interim.

Mr. MCGINNIS. Of course, Mr. President, I am a politician and I hesitated about running against my good friend from Somerset, Senator Ealy, and, therefore, I have refused to be a candidate—I do not choose to run—and I endorse the nomination of my good friend from Somerset, Senator Ealy, whom I have always admired and respected very much.

The PRESIDENT. Senator McGinnis, that is one of the most unselfish acts of your life.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, speaking as a representative of the sixty at sixty Pension Party which has no candidate, I take great pleasure in seconding the nomination of the gentleman from Somerset, Senator Ealy, whose character is superlative, to serve as President Pro Tempore during the interim.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any further nominations? The Chair hears none. The nominations are closed. The Clerk will call the roll.

For Mr. Ealy:

PRESENT—1

Ealy,

The PRESIDENT. The Honorable Charles H. Ealy having received 46 votes, none dissenting, the Chair declares him to be duly elected President Pro Tempore of the Senate for the interim.

Mr. HEYBURN. Apparently, Mr. President, the Honorable Charles H. Ealy has been drafted for the third time.

OATH OF OFFICE TAKEN BY PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. HEYBURN. At this time, Mr. President, I suggest that the newly elected President Pro Tempore, Honorable Charles H. Ealy, proceed to the rostrum to be inducted into office, and I further suggest that the oath of office be administered by the Lieutenant-Governor, the Honorable John C. Bell, Jr.

(The oath of office was accordingly administered by the Lieutenant-Governor, President of the Senate.)

The PRESIDENT. Senator Ealy, I congratulate you and the Commonwealth.

REMARKS BY HONORABLE CHARLES H. EALY, PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE OF THE SENATE

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I do not know how to express my appreciation, not so much for election to the office of President Pro Tempore, as for the confidence which this Senate has reposed in me. I have been here for a good many years now, as you know; in the past the office of President Pro Tempore was more or less just an honorary position, but since then there have been new duties and responsibilities assigned to him, and it is with some trepidation that I accept this interim election, but I shall try and observe and carry out the duties of the office faithfully.

I extend to all the members of this Senate my especial appreciation, and especially to the members on the Democratic side, who have joined in my election. I do not think that ever I received so whole-heartedly an endorsement by them.

Just one more word, Mr. President. The gift which the members of the Senate presented to me a short time ago was exceedingly beautiful. It is on display now in the room to the right of the Senate chamber and I shall be very glad if all those who have not seen the gift will go in and see it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. FARRELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I have a most unusual request to make—it is most unusual, I know but would the President of the Senate permit himself to be interrogated?

The PRESIDENT. Ordinarily that would be a pleasure but the Chair is fearful he may set a very dangerous precedent.

Mr. FARRELL. Then, Mr. President, may I ask the Chair if he will please tell us what the particular passage of the Bible was, that he had opened when the President Pro Tempore took the oath of office?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is very glad to answer the question of the gentleman from Philadelphia and say it was Matthew, Chapter 5 "The Sermon on the Mount".

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MALLERY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, while the spirits are moving us and while accord is prevalent on both sides of the Senate, I feel like making a statement to which I believe all the members of the Senate will agree.

I wish to state that it is the consensus of the members of the Senate that in our Presiding Officer we have a Prince of good fellows and that we do all express our appreciation of the kindly and fair manner in which he has presided over this body.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair appreciates the sentiments expressed by the gentleman from Blair, but the Chair is afraid he must rule the remarks out of order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like also, while the spirits move the members, to say that those of us on the Republican side of the aisle have enjoyed and deeply appreciate the loyalty to his party principles and the comradeship evidenced by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, as the Minority Floor Leader during this Session and to express our appreciation of his spirit of co-operation. We have enjoyed his co-operation, we have enjoyed his experience in dealing with legislation and his fairness to us in the things we were trying to accomplish, and I would like to say on behalf of the Republican members of the Senate that we have deeply appreciated the fact that he has been the Minority Floor Leader and we hope he will continue to be so in sessions to come.

And also, Mr. President, we want to express to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, from the Republican side of the aisle our appreciation and our expression of good fellowship, for the sterling qualities he has displayed during this session.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair takes pleasure in recognizing the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis.

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, for his kind remarks. With all the bitterness that has existed at times in this chamber—which I hope now is over—I would like to tell you the most beautiful story I ever heard; I heard this story from the lips of William Jennings Bryan.

Many years ago there lived in the Far Judean hills two brothers, who tilled a common farm together. The older brother had a wife and many children. The younger brother was a single man. One night the older brother said to his wife, "My brother is a lonely man; I will go out tonight and move some of the sheaves from my side of the field over to his, so that when he awakes in the morning he will rejoice at his great abundance."

That same night the younger brother said to his workmen, "My brother has a wife and many children, he has many mouths to feed; I will go out tonight and I will move some of the sheaves from my side of the field over to my brother's side, so that when he awakes in the morning he will rejoice at his great stores."

The brothers did that, that night and the next night also, under the shelter of darkness, but on the third night the moon came up and the two brothers met face to face, each with his arms filled with sheaves; and on that site as the legend runs, was built the Temple of Jerusalem, because it was believed that there the earth came nearest to Heaven.

So, Mr. President, I am happy tonight, after all the bitterness in debate at times, and perhaps anger, that we can pass sheaves, one side to the other.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BECKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, in connection with concurrence in amendments to Senate Bill No. 473, I desire to offer a resolution. It is not necessary for me to make any statement with respect to this resolution, for the reason that it has been fully discussed with the members on this side of the Senate, and I know that it has been also on the other side of the Senate. I present the resolution, Mr. President, as co-sponsor with the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, and in co-operation with the remaining four members of the Committee which has been investigating municipal authorities.

RESOLUTION

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. BECKER and DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

EXTENDING THE TIME OF THE COMMITTEE INVESTIGATING ACTIONS OF MUNICIPAL AUTHORITIES IN THE ACQUISITION OF WATER COMPANIES TO FUNCTION AND MAKE A REPORT

In the Senate, May 8, 1943.

Whereas, Pursuant to Senate Resolution No. 23, adopted March 10, 1943, a committee of six members of the Senate was duty appointed to investigate certain activities of various county and municipal authorities in connection with the purchase of water companies, water works and water systems; and

Whereas, Although it was intended that said committee would be able to complete its investigation and to make a report thereof at the present session of the General Assembly, the extent of the task involved has proved to be such that the committee has not at this time been able to complete its work; and

Whereas, It appears advisable to authorize and direct said committee to continue its investigation and deliberations for a further period of time; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the said committee of six members, created under Senate Resolution No. 23 shall continue with the investigation which it was directed to make, and shall make a report thereof at the next session of the General Assembly; and be it further

Resolved, That the present membership of said commit-

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, this may be the last opportunity I may ever have to address the Senate of Pennsylvania. In that respect I would like to say a few words with reference to the announcement of our reading clerk pertaining to House Bill No. 1071, notifying this body that the House of Representatives had receded from their position on Senate amendments.

About one hour ago I paid tribute to the members of the House of Representatives of this Commonwealth for taking the position they had with respect to this bill. I am sorry to say that now I find they have receded from their position and we shall go back home and be compelled to tell the poor, indigent and aged that nothing has been done in this Session in their behalf.

I wish to publicly pay tribute to four of my Republican and all of my Democratic colleagues who voted for the amendment to wipe out that vicious part of the bill wherein a bond must be signed before the aged and indigent can receive relief.

I certainly want to pay tribute to my colleague from Blair, Senator Mallory, my colleague from Clearfield, Senator Letzler, my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Walker, and my colleague from Luzerne, Senator Jones. They had the courage, despite party caucus action, to stand on this floor and vote for my amendments, and I am certain they meant just what they said, and the people back home will know by reading this record that they fought the battle and forgot party lines.

I am hoping to see the day when the people shall elect men of their type to this chamber, men who have the courage to forget party lines and vote for a bill of this type that will help the poor and the indigent.

The Democratic Party stands ready to join with any group of Republicans in a Special Session or at the next Regular Session to wipe out this vicious act.

I was very hopeful, up until this moment, that the House would stand by their decision, and I say again my heart is bleeding to think that I will have to go back home and tell the many thousands of persons who are directly involved, who have already signed away their properties and their life insurance, that no relief has been given to them by this body. Once again I want to thank my Democratic colleagues, and also the four gentlemen I mentioned from the Republican side of the Senate, who upheld me in my arguments, which prove I do not stand alone in my battle for the poor and indigent people.

SENATE SERIAL RESOLUTION No. 125
TAKEN FROM THE TABLE

Mr. HEYBURN. I call from the table for consideration at this time Senate Resolution Serial No. 125, introduced yesterday by the gentleman from Dauphin Senator Taylor.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

RECOMMENDING THAT THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION MAKE A STUDY OF THE DISTRIBUTION OF STATE FUNDS TO ALL POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS AND COUNTIES OF THE STATE

In the Senate, May 7, 1943.

Whereas, The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania recognizes that there should be some equitable distribution of State funds to the cities, boroughs and townships of the first class for the maintenance of their streets and highways in view of the substantial distributions that have been made and are still being made to the counties and the second class townships of the State; and

Whereas war conditions and the curtailed use of automobiles with the consequent reduction in revenues have rendered it impossible at this session to make any further contributions or to set up any permanent plan of distribution to all the municipal subdivisions which is the objective the General Assembly hopes, ultimately, to attain; and

Whereas, one half cent of gasoline tax is now distributed currently to the counties in addition to the substantial appropriation to the second class townships, and

Whereas, a few of the counties, recognizing the situation, have made an equitable distribution of a part of the funds received from the State among their municipal subdivisions exclusive of second class township; now therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That it is the sense of the General Assembly that all of the counties of the State should make a fair and equitable distribution of a portion of the funds received by them from the gasoline tax among their political subdivisions to assist said subdivisions in the maintenance of their streets and highways; and be it further

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), that the Joint State Government Commission in conjunction with the Department of Highways be, and they hereby are directed to make a study of the distribution of State funds to all of the political subdivisions of the State as well as to the counties with the objective in mind of establishing a permanent and equitable distribution of a portion of the funds of the Commonwealth so that all political subdivisions will receive their fair proportionate share of the funds and thus equitably relieve local real estate of taxation to the greatest extent possible.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolution be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection,

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, if it were not for the fact that I am thoroughly and completely exhausted mentally and physically I would deliver a speech against this resolution and start out by saying it is the acme of hypocrisy but instead of talking against the resolution, I at this time desire to interrogate the sponsor of the resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAYLOR. Since we are both exhausted, I will permit myself to be interrogated.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, is the sponsor of the resolution aware of the fact that the Local Government Commission has been studying this problem for a period of years?

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, since I am not very well acquainted with the Local Government Commission, I cannot say.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I would like to advise the gentleman from Dauphin that the Local Government Commission has been studying this problem, and bills were introduced during this session, which were ruthlessly killed, at least, House Bill No. 835, which would have given us a share of the gasoline tax, was a result of a study by the Local Government Commission and I am wondering if the gentleman from Dauphin wants to transfer that function to the Joint State Government Commission, in view of the fact that we have already given them three major problems to work on in the next two years; I am wondering if the gentleman from Dauphin would be agreeable to amending the resolution so as to have this matter in the hands of the Local Government Commission, the commission which has been studying this matter during this session, instead of the Joint State Government Commission.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, inasmuch as the Local Government Commission has been studying this matter for four years and have not yet done anything, perhaps we had better try a new plan.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, as a matter of fact, we have already introduced the best bill approaching this problem that has been introduced in the General Assembly, Senate Bill No. 835, which was sent back to committees and killed. I think that is the most intelligent approach to the problem that could be gotten out of any commission, and with all due respect to the Joint State Government Commission, I certainly doubt whether they will improve on that recommendation.

If the gentleman on the other side insists that the resolution remain as is, I ask my colleagues on the Democratic side to vote against this resolution.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, this is a very nice sop to us after the thing is all over, because in the city of Pittsburgh the home owners and the real estate owners pay a million dollars a year to keep traffic moving and yet the state of Pennsylvania can not give us any of the gasoline tax. Of course, many of the poor home owners do not own automobiles.

I am a single taxer and if I had my way I would never tax anything but the value of land. You know, Mr. President, Henry George wrote the book "Progress and Poverty" and do you know, Mr. President, there is only one book in this world that has a wider circulation in every land than "Progress and Poverty," and that is the Bible.

If you tax a thing that is made by hand it will get higher and higher in price; tax anything that is made by hand and the price will go up, but if you tax land it will go down in price.

Henry George said "if you rob a chicken coop in the United States, they will fine you once, but if you build one they will fine you every year". That is as true as gospel. Tax anything that is made by hand and you will have lots of it—I do not care what it is. Increase the tax on land and you do not change it one iota. Increase the tax on anything made by hand—I do not care what it is—and you drive it out of use.

Tomorrow morning in the city of Harrisburg, if there were an ordinance here to put a tax of five dollars or two dollars on shoes or what not, you would drive them out of use, but you can increase the tax on land in Harrisburg and you will have the same property and you will not drive it out of use.

You know, Mr. President, I am one of those believers who think this earth was put here for human souls and our Creator gave us the fertile lands for human souls, not to be cornered, not to be locked up, but to be placed in use for human souls on this earth, but under our present system of taxation, if I had my way, I would never tax a thing that was made by hand, not an instrument which was made by hand, because if you do you know what will happen, the price will go up, there is no question about that, and the higher you put the tax the surer you will drive it out of use but if you increase the tax on land, you drive it into use.

We have in Pittsburgh the Kauffman Store. I think it is the best store in the United States. The dirt that was there was left by the Indians but Kauffman built this store, put up his building and they pay a thousand dollars every morning for the use of that dirt; a thousand dollars every morning goes to the owner of that dirt. They built that store, they own the store, and that is why a lot of our girls in stores have to work for starvation wages, because Kauffman's must pay a thousand dollars every morning to the owners of that dirt, and they live in Europe—the Liggets, the Schenley estate in Pittsburgh, never built a single building—it may be a little less now, but I know that at one time three thousand dollars every day went to the Schenleys in Europe, and they never built a building, never did a day's work, and the Liggets, who own the Kauffman corner, I do not think they ever did a day's work in Pittsburgh, and yet they get a thousand dollars every day from Kauffman's, the grandest store ever built and run in the United States. Horn's is good, too.

We have some of the most wonderful stores in the city of Pittsburgh of any place in the United States and I hope if anybody comes from this end of the state to our city they will look into our store windows and come in and buy.

You know, we have been worrying about taxation, it worries us, but let me tell you when I was in Cornell University in my senior year, Henry George, Jr. came to Cornell University and gave one lecture and if I had to give up my course at Cornell or perhaps one lecture by Henry George, I would give up the course at Cornell University.

The PRESIDENT. On what bill is the gentleman from Allegheny speaking?

Mr. McGINNIS. I am talking, Mr. President, on this resolution to get some tax back to the people back home, and I am telling the members of this Senate where to get your taxes. What creates the thousand dollars every morning at Kauffman's store? It is the same dirt the Indians left there.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no." I do not want to make a speech on this subject, as the gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator Colman, has expressed my sentiments. I do not know of anything I have been more interested in since I became a member of the Legislature, than in being a party to creating legislation that would return a share of the motor fund to cities, boroughs, and first class townships of the Commonwealth. My predecessor in this Senate, the honorable Senator Williamson, advocated this bill, which I think is sound, and I am not desparing as I believe before Governor Martin goes out of office a bill providing this relief will be enacted.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?
The yeas and nays were required by Mr. COLEMAN and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—28.

Becker,	Ealy	Kephart,	Thomas,
Bowers,	Farrell,	Letzler,	Tyler,
Carr,	Geltz,	Scarlett,	Wade,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Walker,

Crowe,	James,	Tallman,	Wilson, H. I.,
Deitrick,	Jones,	Taylor,	Wilson, T. B.,

NAYS—15.

Coleman,	Gourley,	Mallery,	Shapiro,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.
Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 50
TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I call up from the table House Resolution No. 50, Serial No. 66.

Article

Section 1. The sixteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States is hereby repealed.

The maximum rate of any tax, duty, or excise which Congress may lay and collect with respect to the devolution or transfer of property, or any interest therein, upon or in contemplation of death or intended to take effect in possession or enjoyment at or after death or by way of gifts, shall in no case exceed twenty-five per centum.

Section 4. Sections 1 and 2 shall take effect at midnight on the thirty-first day of December following the ratification of this article. Nothing contained in this article shall effect the power of the United States after said date to collect any tax on incomes for any period ending on or prior to said thirty-first day of December laid in accordance with the terms of any law then in effect.

Section 5. Section 3 shall take effect at midnight on the last day of the sixth month following the ratification of this article. Nothing contained in this article shall effect the power of the United States to collect any tax on any devolution or transfer occurring prior to the taking effect of Section 3 laid in accordance with the terms of any law then in effect.

Be it further resolved, That the Congress of the United States be, and it hereby is, requested to provide, as the mode of ratification, that said amendment shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of the Constitution of the United States, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states;

Be it further resolved, That the Secretary of State be, and he hereby is, directed to send a duly certified copy of this resolution to the Senate of the United States and one to the House of Representatives in the Congress of the United States, and to each Pennsylvania member thereof.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 50 ADOPTED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

Which was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. CHAPMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I have been a member of a Commission which I think has been of great educational value to the citizens of Pennsylvania. I think this commission has done a great work with a very small amount of money.

I think this is the best commission that has been appointed during this Session, certainly for the education of the youth of Pennsylvania, upon the subject of the spiritual legacy of Thomas Jefferson. That commission is composed of the gentleman from Clinton, Senator Stevenson, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel and myself, together with six members from the House of Representatives. Senator Bartlett formerly was a member of this commission.

We have visited the home of Jefferson, Monticello, in Virginia, and while in Virginia we visited educational institutions founded by this great diplomat, this statesman, a signer and the originator of the Declaration of Independence, the author of the Bill of Rights of these United States, President of the United States and also Ambassador to France.

Recently we have had essays written upon this subject by students of Pennsylvania. We have selected from those submitted twenty-one essays. These essays were selected by the State Department of Education of Pennsylvania out of a number of twelve hundred essays submitted. To those who were not winners I will say to them, as is said in sports, not to win but to have made the attempt is their reward. Prizes for these essays will be given in the form of bonds to those various student winners.

I, myself, have been requested by Mr. Anderson, of the Philadelphia schools, to present the prizes to the winners in Philadelphia. In Pittsburgh we have given those essays to Senators representing the districts in which the students have won prizes. There are seven districts in Pennsylvania which participated in this contest. Those seven districts were divided and there were three essays selected from each of those seven districts competing for the prizes.

This commission went to Washington and witnessed the dedication of a monument to Thomas Jefferson, with the President of the United States and all the diplomats of the various high offices of the United States present, and it was very impressive, but as we returned to Philadelphia and had our exercises in the hall of the House of Representatives, I thought our exercises were superior to those we witnessed in Washington, D. C.

Students who contributed essays in this contest learned a great deal of this great statesman, and I know that the coming generations will be benefited by the work of this commission.

We have spent less than a thousand dollars from funds of this commission and I think the reward soon will be returned manyfold. I thank you.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

SENATE CONCURS IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS TO SENATE BILL No. 304

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate concur in amendments made by the House to Senate Bill No. 304.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like the gentleman from Delaware to explain the purpose of the amendment to this bill. As the gentleman from Delaware knows, this is a very controversial bill.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, the purpose of the amendment is to take out section 1205, which changed the time of closing polls from eight until seven P. M.—that is now out of the bill—and there has been inserted in the bill, in section 1843 the words "or unincorporated associations," which has been added to the penalty section.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, this bill was sufficiently vicious before it left the Senate. I think the Senate ought to know what these amendments do. I do not think you want to go any further than you should reasonably go, and when you place a fine of a thousand dollars or two years of imprisonment on a laboring man who contributes to a political campaign I think you are going entirely too far.

First you make it impossible for him to express his opinions, through helping his friends to be elected to office, and now you place fines ranging up to five thousand dollars, and two years of imprisonment.

Gentlemen of the Senate, have we degraded so low that we will take a class of human beings that are in our midst and say to them "We do not allow you to help your friends run for political office, and if you do do it we are going to send you to jail for two years and fine you from $1,000 to $5,000.

I told the members of this Senate what they were opening up when they passed this bill the first time. Here is your first abuse of the Farrell Bill, and you are going to sanction it here tonight and you profess to be, in all your campaign literature, friends of labor.

I do not want to rehash the issues as I have observed them during this Session. We are tired tonight and this is not the proper time to bring anything so important before the Senate of Pennsylvania; this is not the time to bring this type of legislation up, when every man is tired and weary, but I will stay here until Christmas before I will let you pass this bill without argument.

By this amendment in this bill you are saying to every working man if he makes a political campaign contribution you will send him to jail for two years.

Gentlemen, have you lost your sense of proportion, have you lost your sense of decency, have you lost your sense of the rights of American citizens under the franchise given to us by the Constitution; have you gone so far backward that you are going to stifle every decent element in Pennsylvania?

I do not mind your protecting your political future, but do not do it at the expense of decent, honorable men; do not send the father of a family to jail for two years because he is the president of a union, and because at a union meeting they vote to give $10 or $100 as a contribution to a political campaign; for doing that you propose to send him to jail for two years. How far do you think you can go with that kind of stuff?

I hope every decent man in this Senate will vote "no".

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, this amendment does not do anything to the election law except to add the word "or unincorporated association," to the penalty provision, and that is also applicable to a corporation which violates the same law.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if you want the record made clear, I do not think any person here needs to kid himself, but talking in plain everyday language about the difference between incorporated and an unincorporated body, when you are aiming at labor unions, when you are discussing labor organizations, you may proceed under the interpretation of this bill as given to you by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Kephart, but see if I am not right in what I say is the intention of this bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not like to be termed an unreasonable person by my friends on the other side, but this is too fundamental and too deep a problem to be rushed through. I want a roll call, I want a verification of the roll, I want every name stamped upon that roll.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. Gladly, Mr. President.

Mr. MALLERY. I believe, without asking, that the gentleman from Westmoreland is a unionist or is concerned about unionism.

Mr. DENT. No, Mr. President, I happen to be the president of a corporation and have, I think, two hundred and eighty men working for me, union members, belonging to different unions.

I came up through labor ranks. I have been a labor man all my life. I am a machinist by trade; I have been a member of various labor unions throughout my life but now I am a corporation man.

Mr. MALLERY. I should like to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland whether he is a member of a union.

Mr. DENT. At this time, Mr. President?

Mr. MALLERY. Yes.

Mr. DENT. Only a life honoray member, Mr. President, because of services they felt I rendered to them or considered that I rendered to them.

Mr. MALLERY. Does the Senator from Westmoreland carry a union card?

Mr. DENT. Only an annual honorary card.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I should like to ask the Senator from Westmoreland whether he would approve of a union which was predominantly Republican spending the money of that union to elect Republicans.

Mr. DENT. In answer to that question, Mr. President, may I say this, if the Republicans or whatever party they belong to, or men elected to office, give the consideration to the rights and interests of the men who work for a living and belong to a union to which they are entitled, they can spend any amount of money they desire to contribute to campaigning the same as I know corporations do.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President and members of the Senate, in order to make my position clear on this most important bill, in my opinion this bill does not prohibit any member of any labor union from making any contribution he sees fit to make out of his own funds.

I have supported this bill and I do approve of the principle, as I see it, that is, it prohibits a union from using the dues of that union for political purposes.

It does seem to me to be highly improper—for example, a union which might be comprised of a membership, fifty-one per cent of whom are Republicans—to use the money of that union to elect a member of the opposition party.

There is nothing in this bill that prohibits any man interested in labor from spending his money for whatever purpose he wants to spend it.

I do not believe this bill goes as far as I would like to see it go. I will support legislation that will prohibit contributions to any candidate for office, and then I think possibly we would have pure elections, resulting in better legislation, but I do approve of what this bill proposes to do.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Blair.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will the gentleman from Blair tell the Senate of Pennsylvania what are the average monthly dues paid by union members in the state of Pennsylvania?

Mr. MALLERY. I just exactly do not know what the average would be but I presume it would be around two or three dollars.

Mr. DENT. Would it not be something less than $1.50? Will the gentleman from Blair tell the Senate of Pennsylvania how much money could possibly be contributed to a political campaign by an organization whose income is based on union dues?

Mr. MALLERY. I could not hear the interrogation of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

Mr. DENT. Could the gentleman from Blair tell the Senate how much money he thinks possibly could be contributed by organizations, where it would be taken from union dues?

Mr. MALLERY. We have heard here in the Senate a statement that $50,000 or possibly larger sums have been contributed—maybe the sum was $500,000. The equivalent of a thousand members of a union, even at a dollar a month, would create a great sum.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might inform the gentleman from Blair as to the contribution of $500,000, that the union involved had 450,000 members, and that was a little over a dollar each for each member.

Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I believe the gentleman from Blair has stated he wants to go much further than this bill intends. I would suggest the only thing left to do would be to hang a union leader who wants to help the Democrats to win an election. That is the only thing left to do, because you are doing everything else to him if he contributes to a political campaign.

Mr. MALLERY. No, Mr. President, I do not propose any such proposition.

Mr. DENT. How much further would the gentleman from Blair want to go than imprisonment for two years and a fine of $5,000.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I do not think it is fair at all for a union made up of men of all political beliefs—there is not a union in existence that does not have in its membership both Republican and Democrats, and as I have stated, I would be opposed to the funds of any union, made up by a majority of Republicans, used to defeat Democratic candidates for office, as that seems to me to be an improper use of union dues.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman from Blair very much. I just want to clear up one point, that is, union dues are not used for political contributions under any such circumstances.

The only time any money was used by a political organization was when a special assessment was made by the United Mine Workers at a special convention to loan $500,000 to the Democratic National Committee, and every other contribution ever made of any funds by any union was made after a motion made in a union meeting. At that time the union members voted that a certain amount would be contributed, and the men took up contributions from the membership, and only those contributed who wanted to contribute.

I say to all the men in this Senate that I am sincere when I say to you that you are opening up an avenue here that you will have much trouble in closing.

If certain members of a labor organization feel the records of the Senate ought to be exposed or ought to be publicized, they will not be able to do it by using union funds to do it, and yet every year or when one of us runs for office, he receives letters, he receives circulars from various associations telling what bad records certain men have, we receive circulars from school teachers every year about what kind of records men have in the state of Pennsylvania, and yet you deny to labor the right to use its money, contributed by its members, to issue the same kind of political pamphlet telling the records of the men in the Senate and House of Representatives of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, and I think it is their right to do that.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, if township supervisors are using money of taxpayers to send us letters here I certainly do hope that will be stopped. I do not approve of the use of any money this Legislature permits townships to have, to be used to circularize members of the Legislature for or against legislation.

Mr. WATKINS. I have listened with great interest to the discussion between the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, and the gentleman from Blair, Senator Mallery. I was particularly interested in the last statement of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, that union dues are never used for political purposes, and that the particular incident concerning the $500,000 was a special assessment and the implication was given that special assessments are still union dues and that special assessments are made from time to time, as the need arises, for the conduct of the union business—just recently a fifty cent additional assessment in the case of the United Mine Workers caused several Pennsylvania strikes, just this year—but if that is true, if the argument of the gentleman from Westmoreland is that unions do not use union dues or take up special assessments for the purpose of their political campaigns, then this bill will not harm unions in any way whatsoever, because there is nothing to stop men from organizing a political organization, purely political in its purposes, which those members of a union will be able to join, if they desire and are members of that political faith. The only thing this bill will do will be to prevent the use of a union treasury, of which both Republicans and Democrats or any other party may be members, although one may be in the majority, and using money which was contributed by Republicans to help elect Democrats, or contrawise, using money contributed by Democrats to help elect Republicans.

There is nothing to stop individuals who are members of a union or unions, as such, to organize political units to elect, whether they be Republicans or Democrats, those whom they feel are favorable to the union cause or favorable to certain legislation that unions favor. There is no question about that, and as far as I am personally concerned, I consider myself as much a friend of union labor as the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, but there is no question that there has been abuse in many cases, where there have been raids upon union treasuries and money taken out of union treasuries for purely political purposes, and in some cases against the wishes of the majority of members of that union.

For those reasons and because I feel this bill will protect the rank of file of labor I intend to vote for this bill. I think in the long run this is another step forward in helping to get better elections in this state.

I feel, too, that a union member who wishes to support a party, whether it is Republican or Democrat, will be given all kinds of means outside of the union in which to raise money, whether it is for Republican or Democratic candidates for office.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I believe we have had a full discussion on this bill, it has been fully discussed on the floor of the Senate; I need not go into the record, I need not tell the members of the Senate again just what I mean when I say to them this is an unfair proposition; this bill is not needed and, therefore, right at this present time I am going to demand a roll call and I am going to ask that the roll be called now. There is no delay necessary and no need to put the bill over in order or anything of that kind.

MOTION THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the bill go over in order.

PREVIOUS QUESTION

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, there is a motion before the Senate. I move the previous question.

MOTION THAT SENATE RECESS

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for fifteen minutes.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I second the motion. On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion to recess?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BARR. I rise on a parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. BARR. I submit, Mr. President, the Senate can not recess; there is a motion before the Senate.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, before a vote is taken I move that we now adjourn.

Mr. McQUIDDY. I second the motion.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise on a parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, is there not a motion now before the Senate that the Senate concur in amendments inserted in this bill by the House?

The PRESIDENT. There is.

Mr. BARR. That is my point.

Mr. DENT. Wait just a minute. A motion to adjourn is always in order.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, a motion to recess is in order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease).

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will come to order.

It is the understanding of the Chair that the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, raised a question as to whether a motion to recess took precedence over the motion before the Senate?

Mr. BARR. It was not, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. What was the question of the gentleman from Allegheny?

Mr. BARR. There was a motion before the Senate that the Senate concur in House amendments.

The PRESIDENT. That is right, and then the gentleman from Allegheny raised a question whether the motion to concur took precedence over a motion to recess.

Mr. BARR. No, Mr. President, I did not.

The PRESIDENT. What was the question of the gentleman from Allegheny?

Mr. BARR. My point of order is that a motion to recess cannot be entertained while there is a previous motion before the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. That is exactly the same thing as the Chair has stated, expressed in different words.

Mr. BARR. My point of order, Mr. President, is that there can not be a motion to recess while there is a previous motion before the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules that the point of order of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, is not well taken. The Chair further calls to the attention of the gentleman from Allegheny, Rule 9 of the Senate which as the gentleman from Allegheny knows, states the order of preference of motions, which shows that a motion to recess takes precedence over a motion to concur.

Mr. BARR. I thank the President.

PREVIOUS QUESTION

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move the previous question.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, there has been no action on the motion to recess.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise on a parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, a motion was made that the Senate recess, but before that motion was seconded or put before the Senate, I moved that the Senate adjourn. A motion to adjourn is always in order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland is in error, as a motion to recess was made, duly seconded, and then the gentleman from Westmoreland moved that the Senate adjourn.

Mr. DENT. Even if it was moved and seconded, Mr. President, a vote was not taken and, therefore, my motion is still in order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland is correct.

Mr. DENT. Then, Mr. President, let us take a roll call on the motion to adjourn.

The PRESIDENT. The motion to adjourn as made by the gentleman from Westmoreland has not been seconded.

Mr. BARR. I second the motion, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. On the motion will the Senate agree to adjourn, does the gentleman from Westmoreland call for a roll call?

Mr. DENT. It is not necessary. I know what we are doing.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the motion that the Senate adjourn?

(A voice vote having been taken, the motion to adjourn was declared to have been defeated).

RECESS

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion to recess?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the affirmative.)

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order. This bill is not printed and is not on our desks.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senator from Allegheny the Senate is now at recess. The Chair will be glad to consider the point of order raised by the gentleman from Allegheny when the Senate reconvenes.

Mr. BARR. What is the time of the recess, Mr. President?

The PRESIDENT. Fifteen minutes.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in fifteen minutes we expect to be here and if the Senate is not then ready to convene, I am going to say that I am going to protest any action taken thereafter, through the courts, if necessary.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

The PRESIDENT. There is a motion before the Senate, duly made and seconded, that the Senate concur in House amendments to Senate Bill No. 304.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BARR. I rise on a point of order, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. BARR. This bill is not printed and copies of it are not on our desks.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 21

Mr. HEYBURN. I move that Rule 21 be suspended.

Mr. JAMES. I second the motion.

Mr. BARR. Just a minute, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Just a minute.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair refers to the gentlemen, Rule 29, appearing on page 19 of the Pennsylvania Legislative Directory.

Mr. DENT. Would the Chair please read that rule for me? I am sorry but someone interested in legislation needed my book more than I do and my book is missing.

The PRESIDENT. Rule 29 of the Senate provides that the consent of a majority of all members elected to the Senate shall be necessary to alter, change or amend any rule except Rule 38.

Mr. DENT. They can not change that one, Mr. President, and I am afraid maybe I will have to invoke it, if they keep this up. I do not want to get nasty, but there are some things that strike pretty deep. I do not want to get mean. Just go ahead.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is informed that Senate Bill No. 304, as amended in the House, has been printed.

Mr. BARR. Where are the copies, Mr. President? They are not on our desks.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is not sitting at the desk of the gentleman from Allegheny and, therefore, can not answer that question.

Mr. HEYBURN. Maybe the gentleman from Allegheny has lost his copy. We will send for a copy for him.

Mr. BARR. Then, Mr. President, I invoke the rule that each Senator must be in his own seat when he votes.

Mr. DENT. You do not need to change the rule. I will ask my colleagues to allow the bill to be voted on. We will not request that copies be on our desks. You do not have to change the rules on anything.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, here are copies of the bill. Give the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, four of them.

Mr. DENT. If you do not mind, do not distribute the bills; give them to me.

The PRESIDENT. The question is will the Senate concur in House amendments to Senate Bill No. 304, pursuant to motion duly made and seconded.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I insist that every member be in his seat when he votes.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, the Chair has frequently requested the members of the Senate to follow that procedure during the last several months and the Senate has consistently refused to do so. Therefore, at this time the Chair is not going to compel the Senators to do something they have refused to do for four months.

In addition, as far as the Chair is aware, there is no rule which requires Senators to be in their seats when they vote, although there should be such a rule.

The Clerk will call the roll.

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred)

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no".

Mr. BARR. Proceed with the calling of the roll.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from McKean will be so recorded.

An the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion to concur in amendments made by the House to Senate Bill No. 304?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—28

Becker,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Thomas,
Bowers,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Tyler,

HOUSE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

RECOMMENDING THAT THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION MAKE A STUDY OF THE DISTRIBUTION OF STATE FUNDS TO ALL POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS AND COUNTIES OF THE STATE

In the Senate, May 7, 1943.

Whereas, The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania recognizes that there should be some equitable distribution of State funds to the cities, boroughs and townships of the first class for the maintenance of their streets and highways in view of the substantial distributions that have been made and are still being made to the counties and the second class townships of the State; and

Whereas, war conditions and the curtailed use of automobiles with the consequent reduction in revenues have rendered it impossible at this session to make any further contributions or to set up any permanent plan of distribution to all the municipal subdivisions which is the objective the General Assembly hopes, ultimately, to attain; and

Whereas, one half cent of gasoline tax is now distributed currently to the counties in addition to the substantial appropriation to the second class townships, and

Whereas, a few of the counties, recognizing the situation, have made an equitable distribution of a part of the funds received from the State among their municipal subdivisions exclusive of second class townships; now therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That it is the sense of the General Assembly that all of the counties of the State should make a fair and equitable distribution of a portion of the funds received by them from the gasoline tax among their political subdivisions to assist said subdivisions in the maintenance of their streets and highways; and be it further

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Joint State Government Commission in conjunction with the Department of Highways be, and they hereby are directed to make a study of the distribution of State funds to all of the political subdivisions of the State as well as to the counties with the objective in mind of establishing a permanent and equitable distribution of a portion of the funds of the Commonwealth so that all political subdivisions will receive their fair proportionate share of the funds and thus equitably relieve local real estate of taxation to the greatest extent possible

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrave, offered the following prayer:

Our Father, who art in Heaven, we lift our hearts to Thee, believing that Thou who hast been the help of Thy children in ages past wilt answer the cry of Thy children today. Move through this broken, disordered world with Thy redemptive power. Help our armed forces and us at the home front that together we may so hunger and thirst after righteousness that we may help to realize Thy kingdom among the children of men. Forgive us that we ever in any way fall short of the best we know. As the legislature nears the close of this session's work for each and all of us we breathe the biblical benediction, the Lord watch between me and Thee while we are absent one from the other. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BOORSE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this morning when I came into this hall I was amazed to learn of certain conditions that exist in this Commonwealth, and I could not conceive how any such thing could occur. Nevertheless it has occurred, and I think at this time it is very fitting that condition should be corrected, and I am here to try to correct this condition. If the Hon. Lloyd H. Wood and the Hon. Lambert Cadwalader will present to this microphone the Hon. William Jones of Abington Township, I would like to correct this condition.

I learned this morning that a very prominent gentleman from Abington Township had no Holy Bible. With tears in my eyes I went downstairs to our genial, esteemed and most lovable Chief Clerk and explained to him this condition. He said to me, "Howard, don't cry, and I'll see that you get one for Mr. Jones."

Mr. Jones, on behalf of our most genial and lovable and esteemed friend, the Chief Clerk of this House, I present to you this Holy Bible. May you accept it and read it and care well for it, and don't forget to tell us what is says on this page.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman, Mr. William Jones, say a word?

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, there is only one thing I can say and that is, I certainly appreciate this very much. I will treasure this the balance of my days. I thank you.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. HELM offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1943.

Wearying of his labors here in the House and desiring either the rest to which he is entitled or the different work that might be waiting for him elsewhere, the Honorable Herbert G. Gates has resigned as a Member of this House.

He was born in Kittanning on February 2nd, 1881, and has now reached that age of life when he would sooner sit in his home in the foothills of the Alleghenies with his grandchildren by his side as they day dies out in the West than to continue as a member among us.

First elected a Member of this House in 1934, he has, with one exception, been reelected biennially ever since.

His ability, his friendly nature and his devotion to the duties imposed upon him as a Member, have made him a valuable representative to the people of his district.

He has made many friends among the membership of this House and his absence will be a source of great regret to those who have delighted in his friendship and have profited by his knowledge; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of this House note with real sorrow the resignation of the Honorable Herbert G. Gates, and the consequent loss to the House and to the people of his district, of his membership herein, but it sincerely wishes for him the full fruition of every hope and a future filled with the happiness that comes from contentment; and be it further Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House shall forward to the Honorable Herbert G. Gates, our former Member, a copy of this resolution as evidence of the deep regret of the House caused by his resignation.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, this is the kind of resolution that we all like to vote for but it is the kind of occasion which I do not like to see. I have served with Herby Gates now for three sessions and I have enjoyed every contact I have had with him. I think it is a bit of disservice on Herby's part to resign and announce that he will not seek reelection to this House, because I know that among the new men that have come here each session he is a fine example of what integrity, honesty and hard work should be in the legislative halls. His work here has set a high standard which we could all very well live up to and admire, and I can not let this occasion pass without expressing my regret that Herby is leaving us.

I do wish to say, however, that I wish Herby Gates every good thing that he could wish for himself, and I know that he would wish for me. I hope that his life in the future will be happy and contented, and that he will take with him as happy memories as I will take with me of his activities and friendships in this House.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

Such notification shall be given on or before the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred forty-four. Amend Section 5, page 7, line 23, by striking out after the word "Section" the figure "5" and inserting in lieu thereof the figure "6".

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, the bill before us for concurrence is House Bill No. 816, which is the teachers' salary raiser. We in the House here denoted our position on the amount to be given to the teachers of the Commonwealth. The bill went to the Senate and it arrives back in practically the same form in which it passed the House, particularly with respect to the amount of the increases. I am very happy for the opportunity I had to sponsor and to fight for this type of legislation. I believe that the pledge in the main of the majority party during the last campaign has been kept on the passage of this legislation. I acknowledge the advice and help and the work of the members of the minority and the majority on this side of the Legislature. I am pretty well satisfied with the bill as it is.

There is just one section which has been inserted that I think should be called to the attention of the House, and that is section four which has been inserted in the Senate which reads as follows:

If it shall appear to the Superintendent of Public Instruction that the moneys appropriated for the fiscal biennium one thousand nine hundred forty-three one thousand nine hundred forty-five (1943-1945) are insufficient to reimburse the school districts in full for all increases required to be made hereunder he shall notify each board of school directors (or board of public education) as to the amount of such deficiency. Such notification shall be given on or before the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred forty-four. The board of school directors (or board of public education) of each school district may thereupon reduce the increases provided for by this act to an extent necessary to meet the reduction in the reimbursement by the Commonwealth. All such reductions shall be uniform on the same percentage basis.

I don't think it was necessary to insert that provision. However, I think it is harmless; it won't have to be used, because it is my considered judgment that there will be sufficient funds in the General Fund of the Commonwealth to pay these increases in full. It is my considered judgment that the budgetary requirements of the state and the amount of revenues over the amount of estimated revenues will definitely be sufficient to meet these needs. I believe that the bill as it is should be concurred in as a fair and equitable one, taking into consideration the needs of the teachers of the Commonwealth and the ability of the Commonwealth to meet them.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that the House concur in the amendments inserted by the Senate to House Bill No. 816, Printer's No. 757.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I want to take this opportunity on behalf of the position of the minority and on behalf of the school teachers of Pennsylvania to thank the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Cordier, and the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare, for their efforts in their behalf.

I should like also, Mr. Speaker, to put at ease any doubt in the minds of the gentlemen about having to worry about reducing the appropriation of twenty-four million three hundred thousand dollars because of a possible lack of money in the state treasury. I sometime ago stated on this floor that this biennium would end with at least a thirty million dollar surplus. I now say that this biennium is going to end with a surplus closer to fifty million dollars, so that the worry we all have with regard to having enough money for the school teachers should be easily dissipated. I should further say to the gentleman from Lackawanna that the next biennium will give us a greater surplus. I believe that the corporate net income tax, for instance, is grossly underestimated, and I feel that when we come back here in 1945 we will be able to further help the teachers. I feel with the help of the gentleman from Lackawanna we might be able to do real justice to their plight.

As I said before on this measure, I feel that the school teachers have only been met half way. I feel that the value of their services and their work in this Commonwealth is not really appreciated by reason of this bill, but after all, as I said the other night, I have been brought up to be thankful for little things, and therefore I am thankful for this little bill. I am hopeful that in the next session the school teachers will start off with a positive recommendation, and not as we started in this session, without any provision being made at all. I think the school teachers did a remarkably good job in wakening up the people to their condition, but at least we are thankful for the little job that has been done for them.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I have received numerous inquiries from citizens of this Commonwealth, from school teachers and certain Members of this House, wanting to know where, in House Bill No. 816, the money is provided for the increase that the teachers are to receive. In order to clear this up in the minds of all, it is my understanding that House Bill 816 provides for the increases for the teachers, and that the appropriation bill specifically appropriates twenty-four million three hundred thousand dollars to be used to pay the increases provided for in House Bill 816. If this is not correct, I would like the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Cordier, to put me right on it.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, in order that the record may not be misconstrued by the remarks made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, I would like at this time to say publicly again that the Republican party has again met the challenge of an economic situation. The Republican party is the only party that has ever granted moneys to the teachers in increased salaries. The act of 1937 fell flat because of the unconstitutionality of its provisions. The latter half of the James Administration granted the rural teachers a three hundred dollar increase, and this bill grants them a further three hundred dollar increase, or a six hundred dollar increase in the matter of three years over their basic eight hundred dollar salary.

This bill is primarily a rural teachers' bill. It merely recognizes the need at the source, and we feel that we have carried out the provisions of the party platform in this present biennium.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the reference to the unconstitutionality of the school teachers raise in the 1937 session is not a sore subject with me. First of all you know, Mr. Speaker, we had a much tougher time getting taxes during that period than at the present time, and I think there is no necessity for scolding when we tried to do a tougher job than the job we had in this session. Secondly, you know we are an independent branch of the government, we never did control the Supreme Court, and it is a fact that the Supreme Court did not agree with anything that we did in 1937. Therefore, I trust the gentleman from Somerset will not feel too badly about that situation and what we tried to do. We ought to have credit for trying, and we certainly tried hard.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, I accept the apology of the gentleman from Philadelphia in behalf of his party. On the question of unconstitutionality, we realize that a little bit of unconstitutionality is better than a great deal of unconstitutionality.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, there is one more point that I would like to clear up, and that is with reference to the remarks of the minority floor leader on the question of only half doing the job. I will state that the representatives of the P.S.T.A. of the Commonwealth has taken the position that they are well satisfied and well pleased with the bill as it passed the House. The bill is back in the House now in the form it left us in the amount concerned. I am quite sure it is pleasing to the vast majority of the teachers in the Commonwealth.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

HOUSE BILL No. 1071.

An Act to further amend the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2051) entitled "An act relating to public assistance providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children aged persons blind persons and other persons requiring relief providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with and to accept and disburse moneys received from the United States Government for assistance to such persons providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Board Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance pensions for the blind old age assistance and the State Emergency Relief Board" declaring the legislative intent restricting the powers of the Department of Public Assistance and the State Board of Public Assistance extending the powers of county boards of assistance and making provision reciprocal with other states for assistance to certain aged persons and prohibiting the requiring of a bond note or other obligation for repayment of old age assistance cancelling and providing for satisfaction of such bonds notes or other obligations heretofore given

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments. The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title, page 2, line 4, by striking out after the word "intent" the word "restricting" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "eliminating the requirement that in certain cases when relief is given milk orders shall be included in such relief redefining certain of"; also same page, line 7, by striking out light-faced brackets before and after the word "and"; also same page, line 9, by striking out after the word "persons" the following: "and prohibiting the requiring of a bond note or other obligation for repayment of old age assistance cancelling the providing for satisfaction of such bonds notes or other obligations heretofore given".

Amend section 6, page 9, line 7 by striking out after the word "a" the words "legal settlement" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "residence"; also same section, same page, line 8, by striking out after the word "last" the words "legal settlement" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "residence"; also same section, same page, by striking out all of lines 21 to 28 inclusive, and on page 10 all of lines 1 and 2, as follows:

No aged person shall be required in connection with the receipt of assistance for the aged under this clause to give any bond note or other obligation in any amount to secure the repayment of moneys received as assistance and any such bond note or other obligation heretofore given is hereby cancelled and shall hereafter be of no effect. In any case where any such bond note or other obligation has heretofore been entered of record or judgment has been entered thereon such judgment or record shall be satisfied by the Department of Justice

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the Senate deleted the provision in this bill which would provide for the elimination of further taking of bonds from recipients of assistance. I submit to you, gentlemen, that this provision was one of the neediest provisions in the assistance laws today. I believe that up to the present time there are about $21,000,000 represented by bonds on record, which moneys are uncollectable. They are burdens upon the people who are receiving relief and who have received relief. Some people, as we know in the past, who are unfortunate enough to have to depend upon the public assistance and were compelled to give this bond and who may have owned a little home in which they lived with the family, and who today by reason of the better conditions have removed themselves from the relief rolls, are today burdened by this judgment note or bond which is on record. A little of it is collectable. It merely means extra and uncollectable expense upon the Commonwealth in addition to being a burden upon the people.

I submit to you, gentlemen, that we should not concur in the action of the Senate in deleting this provision from the bill, and I so urge you to insist upon our non-concurrence so that we can make the Senate understand this sensible piece of legislation.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, during the closing sessions maybe we have just a little latitude in that these amendments are coming from the Senate without opportunity to properly read them, and some of us may not have the chance to know what we are voting on. As I understand it, Mr. Speaker, we are voting on the Van Allsburg bill, is that correct?

Mr. SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. BROWN. And the Senate, Mr. Speaker, has inserted amendments deleting the bond provision which was inserted by the House, is that correct?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been informed that that is practically the sense of the amendments deleted by the Senate but is unable to answer definitely.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, would you be kind enough to go back to the bill so that I may ask Mr. Van Allsburg a few questions?

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection we will postpone consideration of the amendments for the present.

The Chair hears none and consideration is postponed.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 626

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 8, 1943.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 626, Printer's No. 467, entitled "An Act to validate and confirm certain contracts heretofore entered into by Boards of Township Supervisors where the Township has received in maintenance and improvement of its highways a reasonable quid pro quo for such contracts and to authorize ratify confirm and validate payments on such contracts by the Township and to provide that no Township Supervisor shall be subject to surcharge for payments heretofore made on any such contract."

This bill, if enacted into law, would authorize Township Supervisors in Townships of the Second Class to ratify and confirm illegal contracts previously made by Township Supervisors for work on township roads, or for the purchase of materials, if the township has received a reasonable return for the township moneys expended, and there has been no fraud or dishonesty on the part of the Township Supervisors. The bill paves the way for the validation of contracts which are null or void because the budget had been exceeded, contracts on which expenditures have been made without statutory authority or contracts which are or were invalid for any other defect in compliance with, or failure or omission to comply with, the laws relating to Second Class Townships. The latter provision, which is seemingly a catch-all, would enable Supervisors to attempt validation of contracts made in violation of the constitutional debt limitation placed on townships, or the validation of contracts made without advertising and competitive bidding, or where the approval of the Department of Highways had not been secured for the expenditure involved, as required by the Second Class Township Code.

Under the provisions of the bill who is to determine whether there has been fraud or dishonesty? In many cases it might be the same supervisors who had violated the law, and they would be their own judge and jury concerning whether or not payments should be made on contracts illegally entered into by them. The same thing could also be said concerning the passing of judgment on the question of whether or not the township had received or was receiving a reasonable return for the township moneys to be expended. Sincerity of action should not excuse dereliction of duty by an elective officer who functions under statutory law. Any other view would lead to chaos.

The bill applies to all cases "whenever the Board of Township Supervisors of any township of the Second Class shall have heretofore hired any work to be done, purchased any materials or made any contracts for the township . . ." The word "heretofore" may cover a long period of time. The purpose and effect of all laws which have been long in force for the protection of township treasuries would be swept away by such an enactment. Claims both ancient and difficult of proper investigation might arise. No matter what the intentions of the sponsors of the bill were, its evident possibilities are unsound, if not vicious.

Attention is directed to the fact that in one of the counties of the Commonwealth the court of common pleas very recently refused to set aside a surcharge of over $11,000 made by the township auditors against the supervisors who had made expenditures under a contract illegally entered into by them. The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania affirmed the ruling of the lower court. Lower Nazareth Township Supervisors' Appeal, 341 Pa. 171. This case is typical of the possible cases, in what number a matter of conjecture, which might find an unsound solution if this bill becomes a law and provides an easy way out of dilemmas in which township supervisors may now be entangled. Although the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in the Appeal of the Supervisors of Lower Nazareth Township hints that the Legislature is the proper place to seek an answer to the situation which arose therein, the instant bill goes too far in its effect on statutory law and varied and complex situations which may arise thereunder. The bill contravenes basic principles of sound government.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

EDWARD MARTIN.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of His Excellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

BILL AND VETO MESSAGE LAID ON TABLE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the veto message of the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 403

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 8, 1943.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 403, Printer's No. 531, entitled "An Act to amend section seven of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 208) entitled 'An act to regulate the practice of pharmacy and sale of poisons and drugs and providing penalties for the violation thereof defining the words "drug" and "poison" and providing for the appointment of a board which shall have in charge the enforcement of said law and the power to make rules and regulations for the enforcement of said law and providing for the purchase of samples of drugs for determining their quality strength and purity' by requiring a copy of the latest edition of the Year Book of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association to be kept in every pharmacy."

This bill further amends Section 7 of the Act of May 17, 1917, P. L. 208, which regulates the practice of pharmacy and sale of drugs and poisons.

The bill requires every registered pharmacy to have available on its premises the latest edition of the Year Book of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association, and to record therein all exempt narcotic sales and sales of Poisons.

While those responsible for the introduction of the bill were moved by a desire to establish a needed improvement in the pharmacy business by requiring the keeping of a uniform poison and narcotic record in the same volume that contains all of the pertinent legislation relating to the operation of a pharmacy in Pennsylvania, the bill, nevertheless, has the serious defect that it prescribes the use of a book which will be under the exclusive control of a trade organization, and does not even provide that the book will be furnished at cost by those manufacturing it. This in effect would create a monopoly in the manufacturer which the law would not countenance.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

EDWARD MARTIN.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of His Excellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

BILL AND VETO MESSAGE LAID ON TABLE

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I move that the veto message of the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILL No. 1092.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 8, 1943.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 1092, Printer's No. 425, entitled "An Act to amend section twelve of the act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. L. 710) entitled 'An act allowing and regulating boxing sparring and wrestling matches and exhibitions establishing a State Athletic Commission making an appropriation therefor and appropriating moneys received for monument and memorial purposes and prescribing penalties' changing the minimum age for participants in amateur boxing sparring and wrestling matches and exhibitions and providing a penalty."

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

HOUSE BILL No. 1082.

An Act authorizing the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for a limited period of time to suspend or modify laws either in whole or in part under certain circumstances during the existence of the present war

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title, page 1, line 2, by inserting after the syllable "sylvania" and before the word "for" the words with the advice of the Attorney General and the approval of certain members of the General Assembly".

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 27, by inserting after the word "order" the following:

"Provided that the Governor shall not promulgate any order suspending or modifying the enforcement of any Act of the General Assembly in whole or in part under the provisions of this section without the prior approval of at least a majority of the following members of the General Assembly The Speaker of the House of Representatives the Majority Floor Leader and the Minority Floor Leader of the House of Representatives the President Pro Tempore of the Senate the Majority Floor Leader and the Minority Floor Leader of the Senate"

Amend Section 2, page 2, line 28, by striking out the word "The" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "Subject to the provisions of section one of this act".

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 1082 sponsored by the majority floor leader and myself, to give the Governor war time powers has been amended in the Senate as follows:

Providing that the Governor shall not promulgate any order suspending or modifying the enforcement of any act of the General Assembly in whole or in part under the provisions of this section without the prior approval of at least a majority of the following members of the General Assembly The Speaker of the House of Representatives the Majority Floor Leader and the Minority Floor Leader of the House of Representatives the President Pro Tempore of the Senate the Majority Floor Leader and the Minority Floor Leader of the Senate.

It does seem to me that that amendment was put in without regard to its enforceability. The General Assembly will not be in session after today. These gentlemen live in various parts of the state. There is no provision made in the amendment for the convention of these gentlemen, and the only way their consent or approval could be given would be by writing to them, calling them up or trying to locate them wherever they may be. If an emergency arises and the consent of the Governor is needed immediately, you can see what a tremendous amount of confusion would exist by reason of this amendment inserted by the Senate. I don't know the purpose of the amendment, I don't know who the author of the amendment may be. However, in view of the fact that we have no other alternative, I therefore request that we concur in the amendments inserted by the Senate to House Bill No. 1082.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, my only objection to concurrence in the amendments inserted by the Senate is not sufficiently overpowering to cause me to vote against concurring, but let us put it on the record so there will be no question about it two years from now.

We do know, Mr. Speaker, that in the last biennium this House appropriated one million six hundred forty-five thousand dollars or thereabouts for the use of the Auditor General for the functioning of that office, and we do know that Governor James arbitrarily and without reason cut that appropriation by some one hundred eighty thousand dollars; we do know that Arthur James made political capital out of it by stating in his campaign speeches in the last campaign that the Auditor General was no fit candidate, was no fit person to be Governor because he was running short of money, and he predicted that every bit of the amount appropriated to him would be spent and that before the session was over the Auditor General would have to come in for a deficiency appropriation, because he didn't know how to handle his department. It is happening again, so we might as well say it, the recommendation for the Auditor General's office was kept low. The Administration, feeling that the Auditor General's employees ought to be treated equally with all other state employees, added two hundred thousand dollars to that recommended by the Governor, presumably to permit the Auditor General to give his employees the fifteen percent increase that was mandated by Arthur James preceding the election of 1942.

Now, the fact is this, that we know and we are sure that the running of the Department requires about one million six hundred fifty thousand dollars, so if you give say two hundred thousand dollars extra to take care of the fifteen percent mandate, you are not taking an accurate position. Let me put it this way, two years from now someone is going to make a political speech and is going to say that the Auditor General ran short of money and didn't have enough money to run his office because he didn't know how to run his office and the Auditor

General is going to cry for an appropriation. Let it be known now that we are laying the groundwork, and we are doing this thing in order to prevent such an attack.

While there are some slight defects in the bill, on the whole it is a pretty sound piece of work and my compliments go to the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, and his committee. I will ask the Members on this side of the House to concur in Senate amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TROUT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, to keep the record straight, and as the gentleman from Philadelphia has so aptly said, he is not concerned about it, it is a recognized fact of course that Lancaster County, next to Philadelphia is the most important sub-division in Pennsylvania, and that Lancaster County is naturally entitled to the Chairmanship of the Appropriations Committee. However, I would not attempt under any circumstance to take that away from my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Wood,—let us get that record straight too—my colleague from Lancaster, Mr. Wood. He is not from Philadelphia at all.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, I should like to say to him that we thank him for giving us Norman Wood. Norman would be very welcome in Philadelphia.

L. 662) entitled "An act relating to retirement from the Pennsylvania National Guard" by providing that Colonels having certain service shall be placed on retired list as Brigadier Generals

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 662) entitled "An act relating to retirement from the Pennsylvania National Guard" as last amended by the act approved the first day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2649) is hereby further amended to read as follows

he shall have served in the Pennsylvania National Guard for more than thirty years whether as an enlisted man or officer or both he shall upon application made to the Adjutant General be placed upon the retired list as of the next higher grade but not higher than Colonel Provided however That in considering the period of service aforesaid the military service by such enlisted man or officer whether in the Pennsylvania National Guard engaged in the Federal Service or in the United States Army Navy or Marine Corps in any war or military service in which the United States has participated including the Spanish-American War the Philippine Insurrection the Mexican Border service or the World War or other United States foreign military service shall be included and counted double in calculating the period of service for retirement with increased grade under the provisions of this act Provided further That for the purpose of retirement an officer who has served for more than thirty nine years and five months shall be deemed to have more than forty years of service Provided further That any person who has served as a Colonel in the Pennsylvania National Guard for a period of at least five years who has commanded a regiment for at least one year and served at least twenty years as a commissioned officer in the National Guard of any State Territory or the District of Columbia or in the United States Army Navy or Marine Corps or any two or more of them shall upon application made to the Adjutant General be placed upon the retired list as of the grade of Brigadier General All retired officers shall be entitled to wear the uniform of their grade as retired officers of the Pennsylvania National Guard on all proper military and semi-military occasions This act shall be construed to include deceased officers and enlisted men heretofore retired who had more than forty years of service if application is made to the Adjutant General by some society post or camp of honorably discharged soldiers that the name of such officer or enlisted man be placed upon the retired list as of the next higher grade but not higher than Major General

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, who wants to be a Brigadier-General?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I believe there might be a lot of people, Mr. Speaker. I would like to become a Brigadier-General; I wouldn't even mind recommending the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

Mr. COHEN. I thank the gentleman very much for that, Mr. Speaker. I know many people would like to be Brigadier-Generals, but who wants to be one under this bill?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I am sorry I cannot answer that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell us whether or not under the provisions of this bill the person who will become a retired Brigadier-General gets any compensation?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I am not able to answer the question, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, under the provisions of the law generally, if he becomes a retired Brigadier-General will he receive compensation?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I don't know, Mr. Speaker, whether under the present existing law he would receive compensation or not. I imagine that if he did, if he is a Colonel at the present time, and he is given a promotion from Colonel to Brigadier-General, it probably wouldn't mean anything as far as compensation is concerned, and further I do believe that these men are not receiving compensation.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, it is not possible, is it, that the person who is going to become Brigadier-General is just being built up for the next candidate for Governor?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Well, there are possibilities, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I gave a great deal of study to Senate Bill No. 556, Printer's No. 432. This bill recalls to me a very famous Governor of Kentucky whose name, I believe, was Ruby Lafoon. Ruby went hither and thither throughout the state of Kentucky and the United States making colonels. I am glad to see that our Governor can make Generals, because the best is none too good for our Governor.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, in view of the remarks of the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, regarding the possibility of anyone being made a Brigadier-General under this bill, I feel I could not vote because of my personal interest. I might perhaps be made a Brigadier-General.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Under those circumstances, Mr. Speaker, I for one would be perfectly happy to see the gentleman promoted.

Mr. SARAFF. Mr. Speaker, he can't become a brigadier; he isn't of the right party. I want to ask whether the medical corps is included under this thing?

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 3 This act shall become effective on the first day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-three

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, the other day we passed a bill amending the administrative code, providing for the auditing of the department of the Auditor

General. This is a companion measure and means that this particular act will also have to be amended to do what was intended to be done in the previous bill which was passed, Senate Bill No. 165.

Mr. COHEN. Will the gentleman tell us, once the audits have been made, are they filed with any particular department of the state government or are they kept exclusively by the Governor for his own information?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, there is nothing in the amendment that will prevent its becoming a public record.

Mr. COHEN. Of course there is nothing in the amendment here which would make it public record, if I read the bill correctly.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I think the Auditor General's Department would certainly be the same as any other department at the present time.

Mr. COHEN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, as I stated the other day, when the minority voted for Senate Bill No. 165, the Auditor General has nothing to hide and the audits shall be made. Of course, I must remind you again that we still have one agency of the state that is never audited, and that is the State Workmen's Insurance Fund, for reasons which were debated on the floor at that time. I think in the anxiety of the Governor to say that he should have these audits they have overlooked a good practice. At present all the departments that come under the Auditor General's care in the matter of audits have the further safeguard as to the information acquired, in that copies of the audits must be submitted to the Governor. We therefore have two constitutional offices in the Commonwealth who should have copies of these audits, so that charges cannot be made by either one or the other without a check.

In this instance, since the law must be strictly construed, as to its administration the Governor makes the audits when he pleases; he may make them once a week or once a year or any time he desires, but once this audit is made it becomes his sole property, and no other governmental department such as the State Treasurer, the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the Secretary of Internal Affairs or no other constitutional office of this Commonwealth shall have a copy of these audits.

I think proper governmental administration would dictate to us that some other constitutional office should have copies of the audits of that department. However, I merely intended to point out the defects in the law. As I said before, and I again say the Auditor General has nothing to fear in the matter of audits and welcomes an investigation and audit. I will ask the Members on this side of the House to vote for the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

HOUSE BILL No. 1071.

An Act to further amend the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2051) entitled "An act relating to public assistance providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children aged persons blind persons and other persons requiring relief providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with and to accept and disburse moneys received from the United States Government for assistance to such persons providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Board Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance pensions for the blind old age assistance and the State Emergency Relief Board" declaring the legislative intent restricting the powers of the Department of Public Assistance and the State Board of Public Assistance extending the powers of county boards of assistance [and] making provision reciprocal with other states for assistance to certain aged persons and prohibiting the requiring of a bond note or other obligation for repayment of old age assistance cancelling and providing for satisfaction of such bonds notes or other obligations heretofore given

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments. The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title, page 2, line 4, by striking out after the word "intent" the word "restricting" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "eliminating the requirement that in certain cases when relief is given milk orders shall be included in such relief redefining certain of"; also same page, line 7, by striking out light-faced brackets before and after the word "and"; also same page, line 9, by striking out after the word "persons" the following: "and prohibiting the requiring of a bond note or other obligation for repayment of old age assistance cancelling and providing for satisfaction of such bonds notes or other obligations heretofore given".

Amend section 6, page 9, line 7 by striking out after the word "a" the words "legal settlement" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "residence"; also same section same page, line 8, by striking out after the word "last" the words "legal settlement" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "residence"; also same section, same page, by striking out all of lines 21 to 28 inclusive, and on page 10 all of lines 1 and 2, as follows:

No aged person shall be required in connection with the receipt of assistance for the aged under this clause to give any bond note or other obligation in any amount to secure the repayment of moneys received as assistance and any such bond note or other obligation heretofore given is hereby cancelled and shall hereafter be of no effect. In any case where any such bond note or other obligation has heretofore been entered of record or judgment has been entered thereon such judgment or record shall be satisfied by the Department of Justice.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I appeal to the patriotism of the Members of the House in these closing hours, while we are on the calendar and while we are considering amendments that have been made to bills in the Senate and sent to the House for concurrence, that we do better than we are doing now; that we give the more consideration to important pieces of legislation that are being passed. We will be surprised when we return home if we are not careful and show more decorum than we are showing now. I say to the Members, the new Members and the old Members that we want to get home, and if we have a little order we will get home quicker and we will do our job in a better fashion. I think I have the consent of the Speaker to make these remarks. I appeal to the patriotism of the Members of the House that we have order while we are on the calendar and while we are concurring in the Senate amendments.

The reason I say this is because we are confronted now in an amendment which in the confusion may have been passed over and we never would have known that an amendment was inserted in House Bill No. 1071. The amendment inserted in House Bill 1071 by the Senate, deletes entirely the provisions on page 9 requiring that aged persons who get assistance will no longer be required to give bond, which is one of the most arbitrary, stubborn and brazen pieces of legislation yet to be presented to this House.

I say that because no one has consulted with anyone in this House, and we are asked to concur in this amendment without having known what it was all about. It is not my intention to delay the action of the House. However, I think we ought to stop and find out whether or not we have duties to these aged persons who are not here to represent themselves. We are put in this position: unless we take House Bill No. 1071 as amended by the Senate we cannot get the repeal of the Eckels Milk Act. Those who inserted the Senate amendments knew that and knew that we would be put in this position, and so as I said, we find ourselves in the position now of either going along with the Senate amendment, failing to do our duty to those aged persons who get assistance from this Commonwealth, or fail to repeal the Eckels Milk Act. I do not know what position we ought to take; I do believe that if it is possible even at this late hour, we ought to have a conference committee; or at least we ought to tell the Senate that we have a responsibility and that we are not going to surrender this responsibility simply because in the closing days of the session they put the gun to our heads. I do not know what position the Majority Floor Leader takes, neither do I know what position the Minority Floor Leader takes but for me, and I believe I have the support of a large part of the Members of this House, we ought not immediately concur in these amendments. We ought to send word to the Senate for a conference committee or whatever means can be adopted, that we want to know why they ask us to fail in our duty to the aged people of the Commonwealth.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I move that we non-concur in the amendments inserted by the Senate in House Bill No. 1071.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I yield at this time to the Majority Floor Leader. I am not clear why I was recognized. I only moved that we non-concur in the amendments at this time offered by the Senate to House Bill No. 1071, and the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, is at the microphone, so I imagine I should yield to him.

The SPEAKER. Would the gentleman have any objection to withdrawing his motion to non-concur in order that we may get a positive vote which is clearer and easier to understand?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I do it rather reluctantly, although if the Speaker, the Majority Floor Leader and the Minority Floor Leader feel that would be the thing to do, under the circumstances, of course, I will yield, and withdraw my motion. I understand that there will be a motion that we concur in the Senate amendments, and if that motion does not receive one hundred and five votes it automatically means non-concurrence, is that correct?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. BROWN. And that we could even after that appoint a conference committee and find out why the Senate put in these amendments?

The SPEAKER. If the House by its vote so decides.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, a conference committee could still be appointed today if we non-concurred, is that correct?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. BROWN. And the conference report could still be placed before the House before we adjourn sine die, is that correct?

The SPEAKER. It would require to be printed.

Mr. BROWN. But it could be done?

The SPEAKER. It could be done.

Mr. BROWN. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Then I withdraw my motion, and yield to the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman, Mr.

Brown, and recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the House concur in the amendments inserted by the Senate to House Bill No. 1071, Printer's No. 758.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I am asking the Members of the House to vote "No" on the request made by the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter. We can still have a conference committee; we can still find out why the Senate took this arbitrary action, and if there is any reason, I will pledge my support to the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, and I think the support of the Members of this House. If there is any good and valid reason as to why this action was taken we will support the bill and not let the bill fall, but we must have those reasons, and the expense of a little printing will not deter me from asking the reason why.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of Mr. Brown's statement on this floor. I realize that every session of the legislature we find the most important pieces of legislation dumped into the House of Representatives after being amended or being held in Senate committees until the very last day. I have stated here before that if we are going to save democracy then we must stop and think. Men who are now in the army fighting for the country which you and I are here representing do not run home and shirk the duties which they are pledged to do. I realize that it is not a very popular thing to get up here and say to you men that you should stay here. I realize when you say that we should have short sessions of the legislature, that people are deprived of their rights. I realize that the newspapers carry the article that the Legislature is wasting taxpayers' money when we are in session. I say to you that that is the most unfair statement that could be put into a newspaper. Congress of the United States has been in almost continuous session, and I say to you that this is no time for short sessions of the Legislature. I realize that the men in this House are busy and have other things to do. I also realize that those men who gave up their positions and went into the armed forces at this time in order to fight for our country have homes and other things to do too. I say to you men in all fairness you should support Mr. Brown and nonconcur in these amendments. Let us have a chance to bring the Members of the Senate here and explain to us why they inserted such amendments in our bill. Then I say to you if we can agree and go home we will all go home in a much better frame of mind.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. AUKER filed the following reasons for his vote:

Reasons for vote on nonconcurrence in Senate amendments to House Bill No. 1071. I believe that the bonding feature of this bill should be kept in the bill and it is justly due our aged people who have been forced by limited circumstances to be recipients of old age assistance. I believe the House should not concur in the Senate amendments, but for fear that the bill may fall entirely, if we do not concur, and the many other good features of the bill be lost, I am voting for the bill, sincerely feeling that in doing so I am in the long run really voting for what should result in better treatment, better service and more just consideration for our deserving aged peoples.

I feel the milk provision should remain in the bill, but for same reasons stated above, am voting aye on this motion.

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 69

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 3, 1943.

The people of Pennsylvania by a majority vote of the electorate have approved the purchase by the Commonwealth of the few remaining privately-owned intrastate toll bridges in the State and have authorized the issuance of ten million dollars of bonds for that purpose

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth in accordance with that mandate of the electorate has enacted legislation establishing the procedure by which the necessary bonds can be issued and the bridges can be purchased

Both the mandate of the people and the intent of the General Assembly have been nullified by failure to complete the process of acquisition of these toll bridges by the Commonwealth

The continued operation of these toll bridges by the Commonwealth

The continued operation of these toll bridges by private owners prevents Pennsylvania from having a completely free system of highways and bridges and compels millions of highway users to pay more than a million dollars a year in toll-taxes with no prospect of the bridges ever being freed therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby requests and urges the proper executive officers of the Commonwealth take immediate and appropriate action by which all privately-owned intrastate toll bridges in Pennsylvania can be purchased with the proceeds of the authorized bond issue without delay to the end that they shall become free bridges just as soon as the revenues from tolls have been sufficient to retire the bonds and be it further

Resolved That copies of this Resolution be sent to the Governor the Secretary of Highways the Auditor General and the State Treasurer

FILES OF MEMBERS

Mr. HOCHE offered the following resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1943.

Resolved, That the Bureau of Publications, through the Department of Property and Supplies, be directed to mail files of bills and journals on the desks of Members desiring to secure the same, to places designated by them, all files being received by them through the office of the Chief Clerk.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FIGLOCK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I rise at this time to express my indignation and regret for the action of two committees, the Committee on Education and the Committee on Judiciary Special. The Committee on Judiciary Special relegated to the pickling vat one of my bills, House Bill No. 189. According to the assistant floor leader, Mr. O'Dare, he informs me that several of the gentlemen from Philadelphia got cocky and the resolution went by. That bill was a very important bill. I have in my district over two hundred good men who are interested in the sport of cock fighting. They are not the ordinary type, and they feel very sore about it, and rightfully so.

The other good bill that was also relegated to the same place was sort of a brain child from our leader on this side, and I got a "stinko" deal on that, if you please. That was a very good bill, and people in the remote sections are certainly regretting it.

Both of these bills, as my good friend Sarge would say, have been consigned to the dreamless silence of the fathomless dust from which no good bill ever returns.

There was another good bill that I was going to sponsor, but I understood Mr. Huntley was going to have one along those lines, and that was on prohibition. One of my constituents stopped me in Wilkes-Barre the other day and told me in his characteristic manner:

"Mr. Figlock, if you please, what is the matter you don't pass that good bill for prohibition?"

I said, "You don't want that."

He said, "Oh sure, we want that, don't you know we got a lot of money invested in these stills from the last prohibition, and them stills get rusty, and I think it's a good time to start them fires again to make some whiskey."

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEES

Mr. FIGLOCK. I move that the Committee on Education and the Committee on Judiciary Special be discharged from further consideration of these bills.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, I ask the Members to oppose the motion to discharge the Committee on Education. The only bill that we considered and discussed at length, was the privy inspection bill that the gentleman spoke about. Coming from a rural section we found that the bill was very poorly drawn in that it does not specify whether shall be one or two holes or even three. So I ask the House to vote down the motion to discharge the committee.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I am not too familiar with the privy situation, but concerning House Bill No. 189, which I understand pertains to cock fighting, may I suggest to the gentleman, with all the solace in the world, that when the day comes that all of us must go to the portals of Heaven, he might stop and discuss the matter with St. Peter.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY CLERK

There will be a Republican Caucus at 2 o'clock in the new House Caucus Room.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair is about to declare a recess until 2:30 p. m. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The House reconvened at 2:30 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, we have come to the closing day of the Session of the General Assembly, the first session in this Commonwealth during the second World War.

All of us came here with a high degree of determination to enact legislation to help the war effort. We were urged by the Governor of the Commonwealth in a very sincere plea to devote our efforts to this cause and in so doing to lay aside all political considerations.

The history of this Session will not in years to come reflect any glory upon the Commonwealth. I feel that we have missed the high mark of attainment, which we were urged to achieve by the Governor, and the fault must lie with him. He has refused and still refuses to be a leader of the people and to be an advisory leader of the Assembly. On the other hand he has tacitly agreed to a course of conduct that has ignored legislation to aid the war effort and to approve pure power politics.

I have many times during this past session thought about the plight of the Colonists of the 18th Century who were under the rule of the King of England. That monarch did nothing to help establish a new world, but did everything to squeeze out of the Colonists, obedience to him and contributions to his treasury. He denied them a free voice and participation in their own rule. The Colonists of that century eventually by concerted action moved to overthrow the tyranny of the King of England. They finally presented their grievances to the King and eventually these grievances become the basis for the Declaration of Independence which was a declaration against tyrannical rule and a declaration for the rights of men and for the rights of the common people.

I have also attempted to picture a like situation today and it seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that in the not too distant future, the people of the Commonwealth could very easily make its declaration to the Governor of the Commonwealth and to the Republican party of Pennsylvania. It seems that the Declaration would rightfully read in the following manner:

Whereas, the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania have been ignored too long by its Governor in the faithful carrying out of all of the pledges of the dominant party in power.

Whereas, it is the right of the people to protest to their government when they feel that their rights have been ignored.

Whereas, we feel that the good of the entire people of this State and nation has been avoided for considerations other than those for the common benefit.

Therefore, be it resolved That a change in the management and stewardship of that government should be made.

To implement this declaration the people could declare the following:

(1) You have failed to maintain any pledge that was given to the people in the campaign of 1942.

(2) You have failed to meet new issues and new problems by positive action to alleviate difficult situations and to plan for any possible problems that could arise during the war crisis.

(3) You have devoted too much time and thought to the reduction of taxes only to those best able to pay and have completely ignored the matter of taxes for those least able to pay.

(4) You have devoted too much time to legislation pertaining to raising the salaries for politicians.

(5) You have devoted too much time to the reduction of license fees.

(6) You have devoted too little time to the matters of public health which may arise in the future.

(7) You have devoted too much time to personal bills and personal legislation.

(8) You have devoted no real thought and knowledge to the establishment of child day care centers.

(9) You have devoted little thought to the real problem of post war planning and the matter of social security which must go with it.

(10) You have only skimmed the surface with respect to the school problem of Pennsylvania with stop-gap appropriations.

(11) You have barely attempted to give aid and comfort to the farmers of Pennsylvania.

(12) You have devoted too much time to altering the Election laws of the Commonwealth so as to deny the right of franchise to thousands and thousands of war workers.

(13) You have ignored the requests of labor and have moved in the opposite direction to the best interests of the labor movement and the laboring people.

(14) You have indulged in petty recriminations against a man who sought the office of Governor and are chastising him because he made a gallant fight.

(15) You have permitted the raiding of the Unemployment Compensation Fund and have further restricted the amount of benefits to be paid to those who may become unemployed.

(16) You have devoted yourself to the ripping out of governmental functions to satisfy the lust for power of a political party and have thusly aided and abetted the plan of one political party to drive into the ground the opposition party.

(17) You have permitted the emasculation of civil service and with it the basis for a decent functioning of government.

(18) You have paid no heed to the social welfare of the people generally and have given all service to one political party, as opposed to another party whose criticism you say is needed and whose rights you presume to defend, but whose existence you attempt to snuff out.

These things, Mr. Speaker, in my estimation for the basis of a proper and meritorious declaration against the tyranny of a political machine that has entrusted to it, through its members, the safe conduct of the government of this State during the war period.

These things are now on the record and it has been stated by the Republican spokesmen on the floor of the House. It will be the basis for the complaint of the people against you when the time comes for a proper and orderly change of government in this Commonwealth.

I predict, Mr. Speaker, that the people will in all good conscience call you to account and oust you from the control of the State Government and I hope they will at least make their remonstrance so strong that the practices that your party has permitted in this session shall not be repeated again. The lesson that must be learned is that government must be administered for all the people and there shall be no emphasis for the privileges of a few.

I have said many times you may defeat the Democratic party. You may break up its organization, but let me remind you that the Democratic party is the oldest political party in these United States and that it has met the challenge of the several parties in opposition and which is now entitled the Republican party. The Democratic party will be the party of the people long after the present Republican party has disintegrated, because when it had the power, it misused it.

The people will not long stand for this kind of abuse. The people are slow to anger, but once having been aroused and apprised of what is happening to their government, they will surely speak and at that time, Mr. Speaker, you will find that the party of Thomas Jefferson will be the party to carry on with them the fight for decency in governmental conduct and decency in the conduct of government with relation to the affairs of all the people.

The G. O. P. has been acclaimed to be the Grand Old Party and by its performance has become to be known as the party of Greed, Opulence and Power. Its letters now stand revealed for what they really are—Grundy—Owlett—Pew.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I certainly must take exception to the remarks made by the gentleman from Philadelphia.

First he accused a great Governor of a great Commonwealth of insincerity and with not advising properly this General Assembly. This Governor of ours, I think at no time during the present session of this General Assembly has shirked his duty as Governor of Pennsylvania and as the leader of the people of Pennsylvania. No member of this House or the Senate who had any particular problem concerning himself, his community or the state at large that might be corrected by legislation, ever found a door closed by the Governor of the Commonwealth, where he was not welcomed, and where he could not receive counsel, guidance and advice from the Governor of this state. I think we have had a new high as far as cooperation of the Governor and the Members of the Legislature are concerned. I know that many of the men who have served longer than many of us, could speak on the floor of this House of the splendid cooperation the Governor has given to each and every Member of this House, whether he was Democratic or Republican. In my visits to the Governor's office I found on many occasions Democratic members of this House and of the Senate, and I have heard from their lips that they received the finest cooperation and counsel on their particular problem, whether it was an individual problem or a problem that affected their entire constituency at home. So I say that the words of the gentleman from Philadelphia come with poor grace at this time, when he says that the Governor of Pennsylvania has not been a leader and has not given the proper cooperation in this session of the General Assembly.

I might say, with all the filibustering tactics and walk-outs, a new high has been reached in this particular session of the Legislature, yet the Governor of Pennsylvania has never taken anyone to task, has never given any orders to any Member of the Legislature on the Republican side, to take to task or in any way to criticize those tactics. I know that the minority Members of this House heard him make the statement that this is a democratic form of government that we are going to preserve, and that if those tactics are going to be used by the minority, it is perfectly all right and agreeable with him.

The gentleman from Philadelphia listed by number many things he claims are the accomplishments of this session. They remind me very much of the eleven points which we were supposed to accept as the demands of the minority in order to accomplish certain aims of this legislative session. As I have stated repeatedly on the floor of this House we in the majority are willing to accept the responsibility of the legislation enacted in this session. We in the majority are going to accept the responsibility and carry it before the people and let them be the judge as to whether or not we have carried out the promises made to them. The press of Pennsylvania, I think has in very vivid terms expressed itself as to how it feels on the accomplishments of this session and the tactics that were used, as expressed by a Member on the minority side for the purpose of delay. So, Mr. Speaker, I say that this session will redound to the credit of the Republican party for the measures that have been enacted at this session.

We have taken up and passed many wartime measures which will greatly affect the war effort in Pennsylvania pursuant to the Governor's request to speed it up so that we can supply more and more and more vital materials needed at the fronts all over the world.

I have heard loud cries of the minority that they have not been given their rights and privileges as a minority party, that they have not received the proper consideration from the Speaker of this House, and that we on this side of the House have been trying to gag them. Might I say at this time that I have had the record checked, the Journal of this House, to March 31 of this particular session and have had measured the inches consumed by both sides insofar as debate and interrogation are concerned. It may surprise the gentleman to know that up until that time there were 507 inches of the Journal consumed by the majority party and 928 inches consumed by the minority party. That reflects the fact that there must certainly have been greater recognition by the Chair of members of the minority party in their interrogation and willingness to talk and debate the various measures before this House.

When the history of this session is written, together with the legislation enacted, signed by a great war Governor, I am sure it will reflect that the Grand Old Party is still the party of the people of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SKALE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it was certainly enlightening to hear the Majority Floor Leader tell us of the great work done by the administration during this session, and the time and trouble taken to develop a program, the effort they exerted and the results we now have. It seems as though the great effort of the majority party was to measure the wording and the space taken up in the Journal. That is all the majority party has accomplished in this session.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HARE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I listened with a great deal of interest to the canned statement just delivered by the Minority Floor Leader, in regard to setting forth the policy of his party from a political standpoint. I would be derelict in my duty if I did not make reference to the words of May 5 by the distinguished writer of the Philadelphia Inquirer, John Cummings. I herewith read into the record that statement as delivered by him:

Democrats to Play Tag Around Statehouse Dome

Filibuster Stunt-Men Expected To Kidnap
Boies Penrose Statue

By John M. Cummings

Harrisburg, May 5.

Any day now you are likely to see the Democratic contingent in the General Assembly playing tag on the dome of the Capitol. The lads could, of course, disport themselves with greater safety on the Capitol Park grass, but this would not conform to the policy laid down by the wise men in their ranks.

Into this session of the Legislature, now happily rushing to a close, there have been introduced certain bills, resolutions and the like distasteful to some or all of the Democratic brethren. Instead of fighting these measures in the usual way in committee or on the floor, the gentlemen have resorted to silly expedients as a means of directing public attention to themselves and the legislation they regard with disfavor.

First there was the filibuster nonsense. It began in the Senate and soon spread to the House, for Democrats in the lower chamber are not the sort to overlook a scheme bearing the imprint of a nut factory.

So both houses went a-filibustering. They didn't call it a filibuster, of course. They said they were merely invoking the provisions of the Constitution which requires that all bills be read at length on three separate days. The provision is a relic of the era when bills were few and far between and shortness was the rule rather than the exception. It's been many a year since bills were read at length by the clerks. This is a chore the lawmakers themselves are supposed to do in committee.

After a week or so of this nonsense even the Democrats tired of hearing the monotonous voice of the clerk and they looked around for some new way of attracting attention.

They turned up with a pretty good one the other night. There was before the House some sort of bill which the Democrats didn't like, so they staged a walk-out. All but a few who have some conception of their duties went skylarking around the capital in the hope the public would exclaim: "What cute little skunks we have at Harrisburg."

For an hour or two they remained away from the chamber, but while they were out they gave some thought to new stunts to be tried before final adjournment.

It was then that a gentleman from Allegheny suggested a game of tag on the dome of the Capitol. He gave it as his opinion that with Democrats chasing each other around the dome, Capitol Park would soon fill with an applauding audience.

"What we need," said he, "is the undivided attention of the people of this here Commonwealth if we are to get anywhere in the next election. After the tag game on the dome we'll kidnap the statue of Penrose and take it for a ride on one of them coal scows in the Susquehanna. At high noon Friday one of our members who was a stunt man in a circus will hang by his heels from the big central chandelier in the hall of the House."

Our Uncle Dominick says this ought to be the most successful finish of a Legislature in the history of the Commonwealth.

In a saloon our Uncle Dominick visited while covering the water front, he found 12 Democrats practicing the technique of the hot foot.

"I'll give it to Martin," said one.

"I choose Bell," said another.

"All during this session I've been annoyed by that Heyburn bird," said a third Democrat. "I'm going to give him the hot foot if it's the last official act of my legislative career."

"Where's McGinnis?" asked a leader of the group.

"He's watching a cat," said the assistant sergeant-at-arms.

"What's Shapiro going to do to attract public attention?" asked the leader.

"He'll just act natural," said the fifth assistant sergeant-at-arms.

Up to the moment of writing we don't know what the Republicans will do to counterbalance the statesmanship of the Democrats. Still, the Republicans have the votes and it would be difficult to find a better answer to a lot of childish nonsense.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon a Democrat climbed to the top of a flagpole on an island in the river. He said he will sit it out until the end of the session, a symbol of protest against anything and everything the Republicans have sponsored in the Assembly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BENTZEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is borrowed from one of our Republican Senators, and it goes on to say:

Let's dilly dally and shilly shally,
Let's rant and rave and roar,
Let's save the State,
Let's all orate,
Let's rant and rave some more.
Let's not adjourn, each take his turn,
Let's make a great big show,
Let's fool the folk,
Let's laugh and joke,
Let's spend a lot more dough.
Let's fool the voters, the great remoters,
And make them think we're wise;
Let's keep her going, our hot air blowing,
Until the darn thing dies.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LOVETT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to ask what that uncle's name was that the gentleman had down in Philadelphia.

Mr. HARE. Your Uncle Dominic.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 305, as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I rise briefly to read a statement into the record on Senate Bill 305. It is by one of the Democratic members of the Registration Commission in Philadelphia:

Statement by Michael R. Kerwick, member of the Philadelphia Registration Commission.

In order to clarify the position of the Democratic minority on the Registration Commission with respect to the Farrell Bill eliminating removal cards, I wish to make this statement:

I am opposed to enactment of the bill at this time primarily because we are at war, and I think it is important that as many of our citizens vote as possible.

To require every voter who moves from one election division to another to re-register personally would mean a big production loss because it would take workers away from their jobs on the assembly lines and in the war plants to qualify themselves for a voice in the government.

In my opposition to the Farrell Bill I concur with my colleague of the minority, Commissioner Victor E. Moore.

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, I think something very good was spoken by Mr. Scanlon when he attempted to show that this was a war measure.

Senate Bill 305 really is a war measure, it is a weapon of war, an effort on the part of the Republicans in Philadelphia to carry on an election fight by means of the elimination of one of the greatest functions that the electorate has. It would eliminate the change of address cards in all instances where there would be any possible shift of political strength. It says nothing about eliminating the card in divisions as we call them. The bill, of course, refers to our subordinate divisions as well as districts.

In the beginning of Senate Bill No. 305 it very definitely defines what a district is, and then it goes on to amend the law by taking out the word "city" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "district". Now, that amendment seems to be a very simple thing, but the elimination of the word "city" is the thing that upsets the applecart. The Republicans in Philadelphia will tell you that this improves things, and it eliminates volumes of work, that it eliminates countless conditions in which errors occur, yet the report of the Registration Commission to which I referred yesterday has shown that with proper handling and with real elimination of political help, and with help capable of understanding the requirements of the present law, the Registration Commission at the present time and at the last campaign and election was able to reduce the number of delinquencies insofar as recording the names of the electors was concerned to a very, very small minimum. Now, what is going to happen in this case when we are called upon to go long distances for the purpose of reregistering? My, I can't understand why some of the members on the other side of the House cannot realize that there is good logic and common sense in the assertion made by many women, that there is nothing so temporary as a permanent wave, and there is nothing so temporary as a personal registration in the eyes of the Republicans in Philadelphia.

It seems to me that you members in the other parts of the state, if you believe in permanent registration, if you feel that all of the provisions of the original, plus the amendments to the act of 1937 have any merit at all, then surely you ought to realize that the elimination of these cards in behalf of Philadelphia is going to work wonders.

You ought to get in line and insist that these amendments be made for all parts of the State so that we have a uniform law. Instead we find that this is only applicable to cities of the first class, and cities of the first class must always be conceded to be the city and county of Philadelphia. You Members are not fair, as Brother Lovett says. You Members who want to be fair ought to be fair with your Philadelphia brothers and vote down this Senate Bill 305 which would eliminate change of address cards and work untold hardship on the citizens, new and old, in the City of Philadelphia.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I am not at all surprised that the Republican party in Pennsylvania has concluded its successful legislative session with a bill such as Senate Bill 305, because in my humble opinion Senate Bill 305 is a fitting climax to the beginning of the session, when we consider the Philadelphia straw racket bail bill. I am happy, however, to see that in the Senate, due to newspaper pressure the Philadelphia straw racket bail bill was killed finally. I don't know whether the Governor is going to kill—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. IRVIN. Mr. Speaker,—

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. IRVIN. Point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. IRVIN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, is not speaking on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The bill of course is on third reading and final passage.

Mr. IRVIN. He is talking about bills that have already passed the House, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will kindly confine himself to the question before the House.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, isn't it possible that I could go on for at least five minutes without somebody jumping up who doesn't like what I say?

I don't know whether the representatives other than those from Philadelphia know the danger in Senate Bill No. 305. I don't know whether they care, I don't know whether they are going to concern themselves with whether or not one hundred thousand people in Philadelphia will be precluded from voting because of this piece of legislation. I do know that some of the leading Republican legislators in Harrisburg told me five days ago, before the city leader of Philadelphia told the Governor he wants the Farrell Bill, that the bill is no good; they told me that the bill is one of the most vicious pieces of legislation that ever was brought before the Assembly, and if I were permitted to breach a confidence I would say on the floor this afternoon in the dying hours of this session the leader's name that told me just that. There was another bill that came before the House recently, and I know the Governor was so deeply interested in it that he called into his office the members of the committee holding that bill—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker—

Mr. LEVY. Why don't you be quiet a minute? You make a body crazy. Why don't you go back to your home and get what you need?

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. ALSPACH. A point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. ALSPACH. The gentleman is not debating the bill; he is referring to other legislation. In the dying hours of the session it might be all right to be lenient, but I think he is going far beyond the bounds of decency.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The Chair would ask the gentleman to confine himself to Senate Bill 305. The gentleman will proceed in order.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I have been, gentlemen, in session with most of you for many sessions, and I think you know me like I know most of you. When the gentleman from Somerset read into the record a news column—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman please confine his argument to Senate Bill 305. Those things are past. Let us all endeavor to conserve the time of the House.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, is it considered a breach of order when I speak on the bill in question in the House at the present time, and make reference to other events that preceded the passage of this bill on second reading?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would request the gentleman to confine his remarks to the question in order to conserve the time of the House.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I don't know what has developed in the past five days, but apparently the Governor has cast his die and apparently the Governor has elected to go all out for Senate Bill 305, because Dave Harris of Philadelphia went all out for him. In 1939, gentlemen, Governor James was not so tied down, and when this same bill came before him he vetoed it. He said, gentlemen,

This bill would cause unnecessary expenditures of county funds. This bill would open the way for the perpetration of fraud and the inconvenience of bona fide voters of the citizens of the Commonwealth.

Now, there are a great many things on which we differ with the Governor, many issues, but one issue that the Governor saw very clearly was the issue of whether or not to sign a bill that would disfranchise one hundred thousand people in Philadelphia alone.

I have listened with great amusement to the Majority Leader in his answer to Mr. Cohen of Philadelphia. He said,

We, the Republicans are willing to accept the responsibility of our actions before the bar of public opinion and the people.

I would ask the majority leadership what people he is talking about? Is it the one hundred thousand persons he is now attempting to disfranchise from voting in November 1943? Certainly, Mr. Speaker, there could be no other people, because the people that are entitled to vote, if they get the story, will vote against the Republican party, but I suppose the Republican party in its wisdom is not going to try to eliminate them from the privilege of voting granted by the Constitution of the Nation and the Constitution of the Commonwealth.

Why, Mr. Speaker, should a political party attempt to foist upon the people of the Commonwealth such a vicious piece of legislation? I think I know the reason why. The Republican party in Philadelphia apparently is frightened. They saw a revolution occur in the last election, they saw a city controlled and dominated by the Republican party go to the polls and take a terrible lacing, and I say a terrible lacing, because all over the state with the exception of maybe a few other counties, the Republican party was victorious.

Now, what are they attempting to do? They are attempting by one little word to eliminate some one hundred thousand war workers—and apparently the leadership in Philadelphia realizes this, because yesterday on second reading it turned down an amendment that would permit district registration offices in war plants. They are attempting to disfranchise one hundred thousand war workers in Philadelphia. I don't know whether that is in line with the Governor's promise to the people of Pennsylvania; I don't know whether that was in the campaign pledge of the Governor in October of 1942, but if my memory serves me correctly it was not. Then why is he attempting to do it? I know the real reason, and if the rules of the House would permit me I would tell you why, but I say to you, gentlemen of the House, you have before you this afternoon a very serious question. The Majority Leader said that he had his statisticians working over night. He said in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia that the Democrats took up so many more inches than the Republicans in debate. Perhaps it is true, but the same reason that the Journal is empty of Republican arguments up until now is the same reason it will be devoid of Republican arguments this afternoon on Senate Bill No. 305, because they do not have the issues with them and they do not answer the charges made. They don't care to. Only one gentleman, I understand, from Lancaster, the other day attempted to answer some interrogations, and he let the cat out of the bag on the Parole Bill. When he was finally pushed up against the microphone he said "Yes, it is purely political." Gentlemen, we want an answer this afternoon on Senate Bill No. 305 and we don't want any foolish arguments from the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl?

Mr. LEVY. I most certainly will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I will answer the gentleman in due time. I withdraw my request.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, yes, many times this session we have asked the Majority Leader to answer some questions. I have failed to hear any answers. I failed to hear the Majority Whip answer any of the interrogations because, gentlemen, the truth of the matter is you don't have an answer. I have heard many arguments about Americanism on the floor of this House this session. I want the majority leadership to tell the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania what degree of Americanism is included in Senate Bill 305? Yes, Mr. Speaker, I would like the majority leadership of the House this afternoon to let us know on the minority side how much Americanism there was in the civil service ripper against the war veterans of Pennsylvania? I want to know, Mr. Speaker,—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. BRETHERICK. We are being regaled by the apoplectic remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Speaker, but he is not speaking on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken and again the Chair requests the gentleman will confine his remarks to the question before the House.

Mr. LEVY. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I want the majority leadership this afternoon to tell us what Americanism is in the parole ripper—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. BRETHERICK. The gentleman is not speaking on the bill, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Oh yes I am.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The Chair insists that the gentleman confine his remarks to the question before the House on Senate Bill No. 305.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, my contention this afternoon—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman well knows there is nothing in this bill about parole or civil service.

Mr. LEVY. Oh, yes, there is, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman well knows that, and the Chair insists that he confine his remarks to the question before the House.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, my contention is this afternoon that every bill from the straw bail racket down to Senate Bill No. 305—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. IRVIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. IRVIN. The gentleman is not speaking on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has ruled that the gentleman is not speaking on the bill. The Chair requests the gentleman to confine his remarks to the question before the House.

Mr. LEVY. What flag, Mr. Speaker, is the Majority Leader going to parade out to us in support of disfranchising one hundred thousand voters in Philadelphia? I would suggest that the strongest man in the opposition carry the largest American flag in the Capital beside the seat of the Majority Leader this afternoon, because he needs it to explain this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I repeat, he will need a large one because he certainly waved it on the other bills, and I do not mean him personally, I mean every Republican speaker this session, including the Governor of the Commonwealth. Gentlemen, you are not going to kid the people of Pennsylvania if we have to get out a pamphlet and place it in every door in every home in Pennsylvania this year. While the Governor rants about the boys,—

Mr. DILLON. Mr. Speaker, a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, has the floor.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I would remind the gentlemen on the other side that I do have the floor and if they do not permit me to continue I am going to keep it.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. DILLON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. DILLON. Cannot the Speaker keep order in this House?

The SPEAKER. There is order. The Chair cannot suppress the applause of members in the House. The point of order is not well taken.

Mr. DILLON. I think it is, Mr. Speaker. Let us be courteous to this gentleman on the floor.

The SPEAKER. The Chair insists that the gentleman confine his remarks to the question before this House.

Mr. DILLON. You talk about free speech, why can't the majority of this House give the gentleman this courtesy?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has recognized the point of order. The gentleman from Philadelphia has the floor, and will proceed in order.

Mr. LEVY. Now, Mr. Speaker, someone propounded the question once, where does majority rule end and tyranny begin? I say to you that tyranny begins when the minority is gagged. I have listened to these men, and I ask that they listen, and if they don't they have the prerogative of walking out or resigning as Members of this House.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed and confine his remarks to the question before this House.

Mr. LEVY. Have you no comment, Mr. Speaker, on what I said?

The SPEAKER. The Chair's comment is this: Rule 63 of this House requires a Member in debate to confine his remarks to the subject before the House and avoid personal reflections. This rule is almost identical with Rule 14, Section 1 of the National House of Representatives:

It has always been held that a Member must confine himself to the subject under debate.

(Jefferson's Manual, House Rules, Section No. 732)

As the Chair stated on a previous occasion if the Rules of debate are not observed, the discussion becomes a rambling and incoherent medley of unrelated statements.

These are the Rules of debate in this House. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the question before the House.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, the Republican party in Pennsylvania this afternoon and the Governor of the Commonwealth are saying to the people of Pennsylvania "We are going to stop people from voting because we are afraid they may not vote right." That is a statement, Mr.

Speaker and I defy any member of the majority to refute it. When you say to the people of Philadelphia "You cannot file a removal card" you are attempting to stop them from using the sacred privilege that was granted to them by your father's father's father, you who come from the nobility. You, the best people of the community.

This afternoon you are laying another chain in the big chain to wrap around the neck of good government. It is not surprising. The party that passed the Civil Service Ripper, the party that passed the Parole Ripper, the House that passed the Straw Bail Racket—(applause) they can't take it.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not confining himself to the question before this House.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, am I debating those bills? I can mention them.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has ruled that the gentleman is not debating the question before the House. The Chair is determined, if the gentleman continues, to enforce the rules of this House. The Chair insists that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, confine his remarks to the question before the House. The Chair suggests to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, that he is familiar with rule 66 of this House.

Mr. LEVY. I am, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will not hesitate to enforce it. The gentleman will proceed in order.

Mr. LEVY. They call it Americanism. Senate Bill 305 is the Republican slogan for Americanism, taking from the people their privilege of voting. Gentlemen, that is fascism and that is what I say to you this afternoon. I am afraid, coming from a minority race that what you are attempting to foist upon the people of Pennsylvania is fascism in the raw,—take it or leave it.

I know fascism started quite innocently in Germany. They only said "We don't need centralized unions." Gentlemen, there was an attack on the right, the fundamental right of a people to get together in whatever organization they chose, but fascism, gentlemen, in Pennsylvania is starting on a more serious vein. You are saying to the people of Pennsylvania, "We are going to stop you from voting." Because Dave Harris, the Republican tool in Philadelphia is afraid of the free expression of an American population. Let him answer that, and let the leader of the Philadelphia delegation answer that charge. Two months ago the Chairman of the Republican City Committee, the present Secretary of Revenue, was asked where he stands on the Farrell Bill, that is this bill, not the civil service ripper, not the parole ripper but Senate Bill No. 305, and the Chairman of the Republican City Committee said "I have no comment to make." He did say "Ask the Registration Commission." I heard two Republican Members tell me that that is one of Lou Farrell's dreams. Gentlemen, the rules of the House forbid me to talk about a Senator, and I am not going to do it, although I did hear a Republican this session castigate a Democratic Senator. But let me tell you, gentlemen, when a Senator wins by two votes on the record, but actually lost the vote of the people, and then attempts to come to this Assembly and push through a piece of legislation to deny one hundred thousand persons in Philadelphia from voting, then I say it is time that majority rule ended and tyranny began.

Oh, I heard the Majority Leader on the floor this session talk about the rights of the minority, and he wasn't going to be a party to permitting the minority to dictate to the majority. I say, gentlemen, they are fine words, but I also say to the Majority Leader, "You run the majority, let your Governor advise your majority, but not to the extent where tyranny starts and organized government goes to naught."

Oh, I know, gentlemen, some of you say they are serious words, and Senate Bill No. 305 is an innocent piece of legislation, so what is the difference? It denies the right of one hundred thousand people in Philadelphia from voting against sponsors like this. Gentlemen, remember that the good Senator has a right to be peeved. He comes from a normally Republican district, never once Democratic except in a local election, except in the Earle sweep of 1934, so he has a right to be peeved at the people. He lost the election, and a corrupt Republican County Commission had to put him in office by sixteen votes, and then the judges said it was two votes. Don't you remember reading about it, gentlemen? This is the Senator, this is the fellow that got Dave Harris to go to the Governor and deal on Senate Bill 305.

Now, the Republicans from Philadelphia are for Senate Bill No. 305 and I understand that you gentlemen were told to stay in your seats and be sure you gave them a vote. You go ahead, you vote to disfranchise one hundred thousand people in Philadelphia. You have done a lot of bad things in this session before, but what I cannot understand is why the Majority Leader says "We will take the responsibility, we will let the people decide." But he is going to crack the whip and ask you to keep one hundred thousand people from registering so that they can't vote against him. Yes, gentlemen, that is why I am the least bit peeved, I don't like inconsistencies. The gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare, made rather spectacular remarks a few moments ago—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, I will be glad to discuss any issue with the gentleman either on the floor or off the floor. If he insists on not speaking on the subject before the House I am going to ask the Speaker to invoke Rule 66 for this purpose.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare, took the floor. He raised no point of order, and took issue on a subject which was not yet discussed on the floor.

Mr. LEVY. I didn't say anything about the man, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. He raised the point of order that the gentleman was not confining himself to the question. The gentleman will confine himself to the question before the House. The gentleman will proceed in order.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Hare, a few moments ago read from the Philadelphia Inquirer about one John Cummings and what he had to say about climbing some Maypole in the Capitol. I might remind the gentleman from Somerset that Mr. Cummings is not the people of Pennsylvania; that Mr. Cummings is a paid columnist of the Philadelphia Inquirer, that what I am talking about, gentlemen, is not what a columnist says, I am talking about something that I want the Republicans to answer. There has been a deal made. Oh, I know how some of you Republicans feel about this bill. I talked to some of you on the rostrum a few days ago, and you told me it is no good, you told me it is vicious, you told me it is un-American, and yet you are going to vote for it. Is it because the Democratic party is against it?

I saw on the floor this session Republicans vote against a Republican bill with the Democrats opposed to it and didn't make any deals. There was no deal made then because there were sitting around the room five hundred labor people. I wonder how the Republican leadership of Pennsylvania would act on Senate Bill 305 if fifty thousand American citizens, coal miners, war industry workers in Philadelphia would line themselves around this chamber this afternoon and ask you to vote against this vicious piece of legislation?

Oh no, we don't have them here this afternoon; they are doing their own job, and the Republican party is doing its own job by first attempting to destroy the Democratic party in Pennsylvania. Secondly, attempting to destroy the right to vote of a million people in Pennsylvania. You are not going to laugh this one off, gentlemen, no, you are not. You men that come from the farms, you are not going to hide in the pasture, oh no. You men that come from the small communities away from Philadelphia, you are not going to hide behind the Wayne County,—what do you call him, Mr. Dix? You are not going to do it, and you are not going to hide behind Mr. Dix's book of poems on Pennsylvania. You are going to answer for this misdeed because, gentlemen, you are starting fascism in Pennsylvania. Yes, as I said before, it hurts me individually, and I am not speaking for the party. It hurts me individually because I am a member of a minority race. The Constitution says clearly every citizen shall be entitled to vote. The Republican party says, however, give them the right to vote if they can leave their war plants and register. If they can get out to City Hall where it takes twenty-five minutes to go up to the fourteenth floor on an elevator. Let the Republican leadership in Philadelphia deny that. Oh yes, I know what you boys are doing; you are saying it won't matter, there is a war on, Tunisia and Bizerte are taking the front pages, there is no room for disqualifying a person from voting, so we will do anything we please. I heard you Republicans tell it to me, yes sir, but you are not going to get away with it. If there be the right thinking element among you gentlemen this afternoon, you will turn down this Senator who is peeved at the people. You ought to meet him, you ought to go over to the other chamber and see him. You ought to ask him does he really believe in this? If you tell him you are a Republican he will tell you the truth, yes, "You can't trust them, the people." I say to you gentlemen, whether it be Democratic or Republican, let us not take the right of voting from the people in our mills and in our factories and in our palaces in Philadelphia. If the Philadelphia organization wants this bill let them stand up and give you one good reason. Maybe they want to cite you the reason that Governor James offered when he vetoed the bill. Governor James said "I must veto this measure. The bill provides for an unwarranted expenditure of funds." But we couldn't get money for child care. Then he went on to say "... The perpetration of fraud and the inconvenience of bona fide citizens and voters."

What other excuse can they give you? Dave Harris wants it. His own Registration Commission didn't have nerve to come to Harrisburg and face the Committee on Elections when they were invited to do so by the Democratic city leader. However, the Registration Commission did say that it is not their bill. Boy, they disowned it immediately, and Dave Harris still disowns it, but somewhere over in the Revenue office he has called in his boys and has given them the orders. Now, gentlemen, let them deny it if they will.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I have no intention of taking the floor on this bill, because I have already clearly stated my position on second reading, and I need not repeat what I said yesterday.

As to the statement made by the gentleman as to the quality of my argument when he was not here, all I want to say is this: in all my experience I never heard such a rambling speech, such a disconnected speech as the gentleman made this afternoon, and I leave it to the Member of the House to decide that by their vote.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, I know that perhaps it might seem hard, Members on the other side, that we should have to take up a good old-fashioned springtime Saturday afternoon so that you could listen to the deliberations on a bill which strictly relates to Philadelphia, but I plead for your indulgence in so important a matter, which I contend does not affect strictly Philadelphia, but other matters which I will refer to later.

I made a serious study of this situation as far back as 1941 when we had before us in this House various amendments to the permanent personal registration act in Philadelphia. I have studied the problem from that time forward and have noted the manner in which the Commission in Philadelphia has administered this so important function of American government.

I know full well that Governor James some time ago appointed a commission which has done a good job, an efficient job. It is publicly known that they have efficiently administered the Registration Commission in the city of Philadelphia.

I need refer to nothing other than the report of March 1, 1943, to the Governor of this Commonwealth wherein they stated that in the year 1942 they had filed in their Commission 96,580 change of address cards. These change of address cards, gentlemen of the House, are the simple utility by which people who have already registered under the permanent registration act can adjust their record in the commission offices. Their registration is by that function transferred from one election district binder to another, to the one where they are now living. And when 96,580 cards were filed, I made it my business to go to the offices of the Democratic City Committee of Philadelphia to determine how successful the Democratic party in the city of Philadelphia had carried out a campaign to see that the people were qualified to vote. I could find that only 34,582 cards were filed by the members of the Democratic organization, and the Commission admitted that only five or ten thousand had been filed by mail or directly by persons at the office of the commission, so that when I say that the Republican party in the city of Philadelphia is not attempting to disfranchise Democrats in the city of Philadelphia, but is attempting to take away from their own people the right to vote, I cannot think of anything that is more un-American than that. Yesterday in these halls you saw an attempt on the part of the Philadelphia Members on this side to rectify this travesty on the people of the city of Philadelphia. You saw us attempt to expand the traveling registrar system which has been used so efficiently, you saw us attempt to expand that system to permit registration on four separate days in the year and at places which would be convenient to the people of the various outlying sections of the city of Philadelphia.

Failing in that, we asked you to consider amendments which would permit war workers in the great war plants of the city of Philadelphia to register by and with the consent of the plant officials so that they could register to vote on the issues of the day. You also saw us making an attempt to permit registration in the various housing projects of the city of Philadelphia, which I understand now number as many as thirteen, and which are in isolated sections of the city.

Failing in that, we asked you to permit amendments which would permit these one hundred thousand people in the city of Philadelphia to file their change of address cards by registered mail, and we were turned down on that.

Failing in that, we asked your kind permission to postpone this legislation until six months after the cessation of hostilities when people could once more adjust themselves and when gasoline rationing and one thing and another would not prevent them from going to the office of the Commission.

So I say to you, and it is admitted by many of my friends on the other side, that we made a beautiful record on this particular piece of legislation yesterday. We did try by successive steps to alleviate this condition, but we were turned down at every corner. Now, I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that the people who will be affected by this legislation don't know what is happening in Harrisburg, they don't know today that we have before us this so important piece of legislation, for if they did know it they would be up here on Saturday afternoon to exercise their lawful right of protest. They don't know it because the newspapers being as they are today,—and I say that with no reflection on the newspapers. War news takes up most of their space, but I say to you this is something for which the boys at the front are fighting. These people who will be affected by this piece of legislation will find the awful result a month or so or perhaps fifteen days from now when the Governor of the Commonwealth signs it. Their hands will be tied. They won't be safely in their homes in the outlying sections of Philadelphia, in northeast Philadelphia and eastern Philadelphia, northwestern Philadelphia and South Philadelphia where they will say "I want to register to vote. I voted before. I would like to vote now."

The Commission in the City of Philadelphia will say "We will provide traveling registrars for one day in your neighborhood before the primary election." They will set up a system whereby one set of registrars, one from the Republican party and one from the Democratic party will sit in most cases in the back room of a cigar store, woefully ventilated, badly crowded, not able adequately to handle many people who want to register. It has been the experience of the registration officials in the City of Philadelphia that these traveling registrars in most cases cannot handle many more than two hundred or two hundred fifty registration in the time allotted to them on that particular day. And rightfully so, because these registrars sit from two o'clock in the afternoon to four-thirty, when they take a half-hour out for supper. They begin again at five o'clock and sit until nine, and when the gong sounds they can't register any more regardless of how many are out on the sidewalk, outside the little cigar store in the neighborhood.

Now, that was the condition of the present law, and I shudder to think what these people will think when this bill passes finally, when the bomb drops in their midst. Why, Mr. Speaker, I can safely say that there will be as many as four or five times as many people want to register, and the Commission will throw up its hands, and say "We are sorry; it's the best we can do. The Legislature in Harrisburg has decreed that we can do nothing about it." I know some of the members of the Commission not only on the Democratic side but on the Republican side as well, and they have told me personally just how they felt about this. They told me how difficult it would be for them to handle this job. They had a problem with printing, and there will be a great deal of printing under this bill, because they must make an attempt, no matter how feeble it is to see that these people are permitted properly to exercise their franchise. They have told me that they cannot hire typists, they have told me that they cannot rent typewriters because the Government took whatever excess typewriters they had. It seems to me that the people in the far outlying regions of the city of Philadelphia, who because they want to be near their work moved to those sections, the people who live in the housing projects who because of the force of circumstances have had to remove out into the isolated sections, will say they want to vote. The Commission in City Hall in the city of Philadelphia will say "We would like to help you but we cannot."

I appreciate that perhaps you do not want to listen to a long argument today on a piece of legislation that is so important to us that I pleaded with you to permit us to say and to explain to you just why we think it is wrong. The ultimate result of this situation is the denial of the right of suffrage to these one hundred thousand people in the city of Philadelphia, these men and women behind the men behind the gun, these one hundred thousand people who not only are Philadelphians but they are Pennsylvanians like every Member of this House. They are Pennsylvanians like the people in the counties of every Member of this House, and you all well know the travesty in Europe today was started by such a thing as simple as this. Over there they vote

"Yah", and in many cases they are not permitted to vote at all. That thing started in just this way. It is starting in the cradle of liberty, in the city of Philadelphia, where certain people have said, "You, the people of the city of Philadelphia cannot vote; we will not let you vote."

Mr. Speaker, I appeal to you and to the Members of this House to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to go at it very rapidly, because I believe a little cessation of hostilities will be beneficial to all of us. I have heard much about this bill, and like our friend from Westmoreland, "let's be fair."

This is a nonpartisan bill; it applies to neither Republicans nor Democrats; it applies to the voting population of Philadelphia. My friends cannot show you where a Republican has an advantage over a Democrat or a Democrat has an advantage over a Republican. The personal registration bill was born quite recently and is growing, and from time to time various Legislatures have tried to improve on it. They are making an effort to have a system of voting in Philadelphia that shall be a credit to all the people. The greatest privilege that Americans have and for which our men are dying today is this right of suffrage. If the right of suffrage is honestly conducted, and I think it is in most cases, particularly in Philadelphia, and when I say that I say it with due respect to my Democratic friends on the other side, and with due respect to the Republicans on this side. I say in the conduct of elections in Philadelphia, in the large area that it covers Democrats try on election day to turn in a fair and an honest return. I also claim that the Republicans do the same thing. I don't want to make a flag-waving speech on this particular bill; this bill is just pure common sense.

Much has been said about the members of the registration board not asking for this bill. We have a registration board in Philadelphia; I think there are three Republicans and two Democrats, and they are doing a good piece of work. The Republicans are working right and honestly and the Democrats are working right and honestly. Then, we are asked, why don't they demand a change in this law? Mr. Speaker, they cannot come before this House or any place else at this time and ask that they get any help or consideration, because at the present time at the suggestion of the Committee of Seventy and by the orders of the Democratic judge they are to be investigated by the Grand Jury. If they were to come here now and say "Pass this legislation or that legislation" it would be in a way an admission of guilt. I would say for the whole five members of that Board, there is nothing yellow about them and they won't quit under fire because both the Republicans and the Democrats believe that they are an honest body and they won't quit under fire.

I heard the other day that a Mr. Butcher, representing the Committee of Seventy was up here opposing this bill and down in Philadelphia trying to indict the men on the Commission. That is a very handy kaleidoscopic way of looking at this measure. I should like to apply that kaleidoscope and maybe get myself out of many difficulties.

This bill, Mr. Speaker, does nothing that will disfranchise anybody. We have in the city of Philadelphia nearly a million people to look after on election day. Every election a number of citizens do not vote because either they are improperly registered or not registered at all. It has been the habit or custom of our Democratic opponents before and after election to publish in their newspapers cartoons of graveyards and other institutions representing phantoms, saying "One hundred thousand phantom votes in Philadelphia. Democrats were beaten by names taken off the grave stones." Charges such as these, are made and the effort is here being made, and if you want to know why it is being made, it is being made to try and kill those libelous charges that have no foundation whatever. If this bill is passed we will take from some of our Democratic organs the opportunity of maligning the Republicans before and after elections. Not that that has been of great detriment to the Republicans; I think the last time the Democrats elected a mayor in Philadelphia was fifty-two years ago—for fifty-two years this villainy has been going on. Our people down in Philadelphia are used to it, but what worries us most is that these papers go through the counties of Pennsylvania and gave a wrong impression to our fellow Pennsylvanians as to the kind of people we are in Philadelphia and the kind of elections we conduct.

I find no fault with either the Democratic party or the Republican party in the conduct of their elections in our city, and I am safe in saying—and I know what I am talking about, that there is no spot in America where elections are conducted more honestly than they are in Philadelphia, and I give credit as much to the Democrats as I do to the Republicans for that situation.

There is nothing much more that I can say except this: this is an honest piece of legislation, it is not trying to deprive anybody of a vote, it gives equal rights to the Democrats and the Republicans alike, but we are trying the best way we know how under the workmanship and management of the Democratic and Republican Commission to have clean and honest elections in Philadelphia. You would think from the talk you heard here today that every man that works in a munition plant and every man that works in the employment of the United States Government has stamped on him the brand of being a Democrat. There are just as many Republicans working in these munition plants and other places as there are Democrats, and we wouldn't try to disfranchise anybody. The right to vote is a sacred right, it is the right on which this Government is built, it is what the nation and the world, and particularly the American of today is fighting for, liberty; and liberty is based on this right of suffrage. It is a part of the Constitution of the United States and part of the Constitution of the state of Pennsylvania.

I have been told that I cannot be heard. I am doing the best I can. I want to say in conclusion that this is a fair, honest, non-partisan measure under which neither side can have an advantage, and, my friends on the opposition, it seems to me are just using this opportunity to build political propaganda for future campaigns, or else they don't want to see the registration and the voting in Philadelphia conducted on a high, honest, moral ground.

We are trying our best to see that no man who has the right to vote shall be forgotten and that no man who has not the right to vote shall be allowed to vote.

I have but one more statement to make and then I am through. Our friend from Philadelphia—and I am extremely sorry that he made the statement that he did when he said "I am one of a minority race". That has no place in this hall; that has no place in this piece of legislation; that has no place in America whatever. I belong to the same religious faith he does. I belong to no minority race. I belong to the race of people in the United States. I know no other race, I know no other caste, I know no other group, and I hope the day will never come that I will know any other group or class of people. I can have no greater honor than having been born and raised in this great country of ours, and my greatest glory of all glories is that I am an American citizen.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I think we can properly approach this bill from a sensible viewpoint, and if we can follow sensible reasoning I think that we can also vote on this bill intelligently.

The gentleman from Philadelphia who just had the floor stated this was a nonpartisan bill. I submit to you, gentlemen, those of you who heard my remarks on the amendments yesterday, heard me say if this bill were so nonpartisan why didn't the opponents of this bill appear before the Committee on Elections when it held a public hearing, to be heard and state their reasons why this bill was good legislation? The only people who were present were those who opposed this bill and stated their reasons why they think this bill is bad legislation for the people of Philadelphia. I say to you gentlemen who are not from Philadelphia, if this bill is good legislation then why do you permit this bill to state that it applies only to Philadelphia? Why don't you ask that this bill be enlarged to cover the entire state of Pennsylvania? If it is good for Philadelphia, why don't you take it for yourselves? Obviously the conclusion that it is not good enough for you, but for Philadelphia you will throw out anything.

This bill does not deal directly with the members of the Registration Commission in Philadelphia. I want to approach this thing properly, and I think the only right thing to do is to hear those who are opposed to the bill the same as we hear those who are for the bill, because as you have already heard, this bill vitally affects Philadelphia, and whether we are for the bill or against the bill, whether the bill carries or does not, I think we ought to give to it proper consideration. I was saying that this bill does not affect directly the Members of the Registration Commission in Philadelphia. Indirectly it has an affect upon them, because it increases the duties and the burdens of the Commission over what it has now.

We heard reference to phantom voters. The phantom voters are those who appear at the polls under the guise of being the person named on the registration list. There are such violations, we hear and read about, but that is not the problem in this bill. The problem that concerns us in this bill is the difficulty and the hardship which it imposes upon the living not the dead. If there is any fraud at the election that is an entirely different matter. Here we are confronted with the matter of registering today those people who are engaged in this mighty war effort, and I refer not only to the working men, I refer also to the business men and the employers. You heard me say yesterday, and I haven't heard it denied on the floor of this House during this debate, that the registration Commission in Philadelphia opens at 9:30 in the morning and closes at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon. These men who would be harmed by this type of legislation are men who are engaged in the war effort, either directly or indirectly, either as working men or employers. They cannot take time out from their efforts to appear before the Commission during those hours to be registered. I, therefore, say to you that what you cannot do directly you are attempting to do indirectly by this bad bit of legislation. By reason of the constitutional provision voters cannot be denied the right to vote, but by reason of this bill, if it becomes law you will make it so difficult for them that they will not be able to vote because they will not be on the registration list. Let me say this, so far as the Commission is concerned and the travelling registrars which were referred to yesterday afternoon on the amendments to this bill, that the travelling registrars were set up in Philadelphia without enabling legislation. It was done to accommodate the voters who moved from division to division, for people who had not registered and people who became of age and who were able to register. The travelling registrars were set up primarily to help those people to register, not to change their voting address. The change of voting address was set up under the original act so that it would make it easier for a person to vote who has moved from one district or division to another.

Now, has the Registration Commission in Philadelphia which handles these matters complained that the change of address card is not good? That it creates fraud? I am sure that all of you gentlemen will agree with me that no one has said that that is the argument of the Commission. On the contrary, the Commission indicates that it is not in favor of this legislation. The Commission in 1942 handled 96,580 change of address cards of which seventy-five per cent were filed within thirty days prior to the primary deadline, and within sixty days before the general election deadline, and in its report the Commission said that it was well able to have all the removal cards properly filed and the affidavits brought up to date in sufficient time.

Gentleman, who wants this bill? We haven't heard one person outside of this Assembly say that it or they want this bill. There must be some reason, some secret reason, some dark and nefarious reason why the proponents, the sponsors of this bill should want legislation of this type.

I submit further to you gentlemen that, if you are sincere in following out the language and the words of your Governor, he is my Governor too, I would like to call to your attention to an excerpt from his speech before the delegation to the Centennial Celebration at Philadelphia College the other day, when he said

This is no time for play, no time for profit but a time for sacrifice, sweet and blood; if we haven't made some great sacrifice each day we have not done our full duty as American citizens.

I submit to you gentlemen that this piece of legislation is strictly and purely political, has no bearing upon the war effort. If anything it will help to deter the war effort in Philadelphia, because it will take men and women away from their war jobs in order that they may go to the offices of the Registration Commission to register. Somebody might say, "Well, the Commission will set up traveling registrars." Yes, that is true, gentlemen, but those traveling registrars will only act on one or two days during the year, whereas under the present law change of address cards can be filed through three hundred sixty-five days of the year without any inconvenience. If there is one good deed that we can do in this session of the Legislature, in these dying moments of the 1943 Session, it is to give a well deserved burial to this bill.

Mr. CORRIGAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAHL. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CORRIGAN. Mr. Speaker, when the gentleman was under interrogation yesterday by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Welsh, he stated that Senate Bill 305 would take care of those persons who are going to be disfranchised by the deletion or the removal from this act—

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I suggest that the gentleman break it up and make short questions.

Mr. CORRIGAN. Mr. Speaker, would the roving registrars as set up by the Registration Commission of Philadelphia take care of these persons who eventually will be disfranchised if they don't go to the City Hall?

Mr. TAHL. I think the gentleman's assumption is wrong, there is no one going to be disfranchised. That has been the pet argument of those who either are blind, cannot see, or who deliberately won't see. There is no disfranchising; every one has a chance to vote if he wants to take the time to do it.

Mr. CORRIGAN. I will put it in another way. Would the gentleman say that a person moving from North Philadelphia to South Philadelphia, would be permitted to register when the roving registrars are in that district?

Mr. TAHL. If he is there the required number of days, sure, he would be.

Mr. CORRIGAN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman take the bill before him and show me where that provision is in the bill?

Mr. TAHL. It is not necessary to refer to the bill; it is in the code. The gentleman knows that. If you get hold of the code you will see that.

Mr. CORRIGAN. One other question, Mr. Speaker, to clarify for my friends on the majority side. Does the gentleman say that roving registrars are in the particular district certain days in the year, that they are only permitted to register persons who have never registered before and those persons who are first becoming of age?

Mr. TAHL. They are there to register anybody who is entitled and qualified to be registered.

Mr. CORRIGAN. Under the present code, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. TAHL. Yes, I say you have got to refer to the Election Code. If you will look at the Election Code you will find it without any trouble.

Mr. CORRIGAN. Under the Registration Act, Mr. Speaker, if a person removes and cannot go and register, it will have to file a removal card.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, under the present act they either file the card or go down to City Hall. If this bill were passed they could either go to City Hall, or if they didn't want to take that time they could conveniently go around the corner and register when the registrars come around. No trouble about that; they did it all the time.

Mr. CORRIGAN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TAHL. May I ask the gentleman a question, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CORRIGAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TAHL. I understand the gentleman to say, Mr. Speaker, that this bill would disfranchise a Democrat from voting, from registering to vote? Would the gentleman say that?

Mr. CORRIGAN. No, Mr. Speaker, it will do this, as I see it—

Mr. TAHL. Will the gentleman please answer my question, yes or no and then explain.

Mr. CORRIGAN. No, Mr. Speaker, I didn't say that.

Mr. TAHL. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CORRIGAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like each and every Member of this House, both the minority and the majority to have this bill before them, and let me go over it.

On page 3, line 21 it does nothing but this, it strikes out the provision of the removal cards. If you gentlemen understand the Registration Act as it is today, if a person moves from the city of Scranton into Philadelphia he has to be at least six months in the State. If he is from out of the State it is one year. As I see what this bill intends to do, since many persons have moved into the city of Philadelphia into many, many war plants and ship yards, it is to make it very difficult for them to register by striking that out and having to go to City Hall Annex which is located on the fourteenth floor, and due to the fact that many of these outlying districts such as Chestnut Hill and Torresdale in the northern part of the city are approximately fifteen miles distant from City Hall, and down in the southern end, in the Tinicum district it is approximately eleven miles from City Hall. That's the only way these people can register if they move into the city of Philadelphia, and the sole purpose of this bill is that they must appear at the Registration Commission's main office. I will show you in another part of this bill that that is the joker. Let me read it; on page 9, starting with line 3 and ending with line 13. It deletes this:

Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to prevent any elector, who after having been registered under the provisions hereof has removed his residence to another location in the city in lieu of filing a removal notice or application as provided herein from again applying for registration at any office of the commission or any place of registration and being registered as an elector of the district in which he shall then reside if such elector shall then be qualified. The commission shall thereupon cancel such elector's prior registration or registrations.

If that section was left in I would agree with Mr. Tahl that they could go to these roving registrars and be registered, but if they pass this bill there is only one way they can register if they move, and that is to go to the fourteenth floor of the City Hall Annex, and when you take into consideration, gentlemen, that there are many men and women working in defense plants and shipyards, they will be so tired coming from their places of employment making implements of war for our boys on the fighting front that they will not wait three or four hours up on the fourteenth floor of the City Hall Annex, and then be told at 10:00 o'clock at night, which I have seen happen: "We are not going to register any more tonight." The hour of 10:00 o'clock having arrived three or four thousand people are turned away. If you will look over the record of the last election you will find that to be the fact.

The reason I am taking that position, I cannot conceive that any Member, either on the minority or the majority side, will vote for this piece of legislation knowing that it will eventually make the conditions for voting in this country so difficult that they will say "The devil with it, I'm not going up there and wait three or four hours."

That is the purpose, to make it so difficult that people won't wait. Gentlemen, I won't tire you out with a long speech, but I would suggest that you look at this bill. I know you will be fair and square. Gentlemen, I ask that you take those things into consideration when you are considering your vote on this bill.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAHL. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, under the present law removal cards are in vogue all over the state, is that right?

Mr. TAHL. I will say in the city of Philadelphia. I don't know about the rest of the state.

Mr. HERMAN. Well now, the gentleman just stated that he is familiar with the Election Code. Does not the Election Code permit citizens moving from one district to another all over the state to change their registration by filing removal cards?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman knows that this registration act applies only to Philadelphia. We are dealing here with an act that affects Philadelphia. It would be useless to go into that. If the gentleman wants to take up the time to check up the election laws and will do that next week, I will have plenty of time at my office and I will be glad to take it up.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has not answered my question. I want to know whether removal cards are in vogue all over the state at the present time.

Mr. TAHL. I say that Mr. Watkins, chairman of the Elections Committee, said in his county you could not change your address; you have got to go to the Registration Commission to be registered in person.

Mr. HERMAN. In change of registration or change of address?

Mr. TAHL. Right, the change of address, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERMAN. May I ask the gentleman what is the purpose of this bill?

Mr. TAHL. I am very glad to tell the gentleman very simply, Mr. Speaker. The purpose of this bill is to protect those who want to vote, and make sure that they are in the binders and qualified, and when they come to the polls to make sure that they will be able to vote. That is the purpose of this bill.

Mr. HERMAN. Has the gentleman any idea, Mr. Speaker, how many people are unregistered in Philadelphia today by virtue of the fact of their removal from one district to another?

Mr. TAHL. I cannot give the gentleman that information, Mr. Speaker; I do not think the Registration Commission would have that either.

Mr. HERMAN. How many people who sent in removal cards in 1942—and I understand there were ninety-eight thousand—how many of those were not in the binders?

Mr. TAHL. I know a good many of them were; I don't know the exact number. On doubt the gentleman knows some of them too. If he does I would be glad to have the numbers, if he personally knows.

Mr. HERMAN. Has the gentleman taken any people down to the Registration Commission to register before election?

Mr. TAHL. Well, very rarely, Mr. Speaker. Some of the other boys generally take care of that in the division.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman do that himself?

Mr. TAHL. I do that when I have the time, but there are other men who assist me in that.

Mr. HERMAN. Does the gentleman know that out of thirty-nine thousand or over thirty-nine thousand cards the Commission only found thirty-eight that were missing?

Mr. TAHL. Well, Mr. Speaker, I wouldn't like to disagree with that figure, but just from observation there have been many cards missing. I cannot give the figures, but I think if the gentleman would investigate as he should have investigated he would find that my statements are true.

Mr. HERMAN. This is the report of the Commission, Mr. Speaker, that thirty-eight cards out of close to forty thousand are missing in the binders.

Mr. TAHL. Where is the report? The gentleman means so far as they know. I know that in many instances they don't get the right facts and they don't get the cards there.

Mr. HERMAN. In other words, the Commission does not have the correct facts?

Mr. TAHL. I say that the Commission only gets the information the best way they can, but it is common knowledge and the gentleman ought to know, anybody ought to know that many of those cards are not brought down to the Commission's office and the result is that people who are not interested in politics lose a chance to vote.

Mr. HERMAN. Does the gentleman think that this bill will make it easier for people to register?

Mr. TAHL. I think this bill will help those who really want to vote, to make sure that they are in the binder so that when they come to the election, the binder will be there and they can vote.

Mr. HERMAN. Can the gentleman tell us how many of the ninety-eight thousand that registered in 1942 were missing?

Mr. TAHL. How about the gentleman telling me, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. HERMAN. I am telling the gentleman that the report of the Commission is that thirty-eight cards were missing out of about forty thousand.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman have personal knowledge of that?

Mr. HERMAN. No. I have the Commission's word for that.

Mr. TAHL. What is the gentleman's personal knowledge, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, there has been a lot said about this bill, and I would feel amiss representing one of the largest districts in Philadelphia, if not the largest in the city of Philadelphia, consisting of one hundred and eighty thousand inhabitants who live between seven and fifteen miles away from City Hall Annex, where this bill tells us to go to register, if I didn't say a few words on this bill.

When amendments were offered to this bill on second reading I did not participate in the discussion because I felt that this bill is so vicious that no amendments can correct it. I am against this bill not only because it affects Philadelphia or my district; I am against this bill because it strikes at the very vitals of our Democracy. This bill is discriminatory, it is unfair and it is un-American. Instead of helping our citizens to qualify to exercise their privilege of a free ballot which our boys are fighting presently to preserve, it makes it more difficult for them to do so, and in thousands of cases prohibits them. This bill is introduced on the pretext that it is a reform measure, but I say it is a sham and a fraud on the people of Philadelphia and an insult to the Members of this House.

The motive behind this bill is very apparent, it has already been pointed out by prior speakers. The Republican organization in Philadelphia since the last election has the jitters. Out of six hundred thirty-seven thousand votes cast for Governor, Governor Martin was able to squeeze a majority out of Philadelphia of one hundred fifty-seven votes, and the Senator representing the Eighth District in Philadelphia, out of a total of one hundred eighteen thousand, after contest was declared winner by two votes.

This bill changes the state-wide Registration Law, but it makes an exception of Philadelphia only, so that any voter who moves from one district to another must go to City Hall Annex that has already been described here and register. It has been attempted here to be explained by my colleague from Philadelphia whom I interrogated what the purpose of this bill is, but the real purpose is, as I have stated, to disfranchise close to one hundred thousand people in the city of Philadelphia. You men representing the other sixty-six counties in Pennsylvania may say "Well, this doesn't concern us; it's a Philadelphia measure." But I say to you gentlemen that it does concern you and it concerns everybody in the state of Pennsylvania. Philadelphia has one-fifth of the population of this Commonwealth. It affects the whole state. What affects the city of Philadelphia will affect the whole state. This bill strikes at the very foundation of our democracy. As I stated before, the Philadelphia Republican organization has the jitters, seeing the handwriting on the wall as a result of the last election, and being confronted with a municipal election it is purely an attempt to deprive one hundred thousand war workers, both Republicans and Democrats of their vote. That is un-American. I ask you not to penalize the men and women who are now busy in the war effort and working day and night on twenty-four hour shifts because, should such legislation pass, there may be a day of reckoning when the boys come home and when the soldiers in overalls at home are not too busy and have time to think. I plead with you in this final day of this session not to change that sacred aim of democracy to hypocrisy. I earnestly urge you, Members of the House, not as a Democrat or as a Republican, but as an American to defeat this measure. I thank you.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not present.

Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Chudoff, yield to the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Grant?

Mr. CHUDOFF. I will temporarily, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GRANT. Mr. Speaker, we were talking about bills pertaining to Philadelphia. It seems as though they want to amend the law that is good enough for the rest of Pennsylvania but for some reason is not satisfactory to Philadelphia. When I first came up here we were confronted with so many Philadelphia bills that I went back home and told my constituents that I was not a Member of the state Legislature but a Member of the Philadelphia Legislature. Here we are, gentlemen, on another Philadelphia bill. I am sure that when I go back home I will have to say that I still agree with the statement made by many of the Members on both sides of the House that we want to give Philadelphia back to the state of New Jersey. I want to say at this time that the Members on the other side of the House, I am sure, will also feel, after listening to the astute remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl, that they still wish Philadelphia be turned over to the state of New Jersey.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, whether or not the county of Cambria has a permanent personal registration act?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. And I should like to know under the permanent personal registration act in Cambria County whether or not if a person removes from one district to another he may file removal cards?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. And I should also like to know from the gentleman from Cambria whether or not, if a person removes in Johnstown, Pennsylvania, and removes from one election district to another he can file a removal card?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. He can, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like further to know from the gentleman from Cambria whether or not he is in favor of eliminating removal cards in the city of Johnstown and in the county of Cambria?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. There have been certain situations that have arisen, Mr. Speaker, that I would.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Now, Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the gentleman from Cambria if he has felt it necessary, and if he would like to eliminate the removal cards in Cambria County and the city of Johnstown, and believing that the majority rules, why did he not introduce bills which would eliminate the removal cards in his county and city?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I have been so busy in my legislative duties and in debate that I have neglected a lot of things of personal interest during this session.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I want to thank the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Speaker.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, is it possible for me to interrogate the Speaker?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman state on what points he desires to interrogate?

Mr. CHUDOFF. I would like to know from the Speaker if it is possible to interrogate him as to whether or not there is a permanent personal registration act in the county of Snyder.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is endeavoring to preside, and the Chair is of the opinion that interrogation of the Speaker is not proper interrogation.

Mr. CHUDOFF. If the Speaker does not feel that that is proper interrogation I will not interrogate the Speaker. If the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, is in the hall of the House I would like to interrogate him.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman from Lehigh whether there is a permanent personal registration act in the county of Lehigh.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. There is, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like to know from the gentleman whether if a person removes from one election district in the county of Lehigh to another district in the county of Lehigh, it is possible to file a removal card?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, that just depends. If he removes from one district to another in our county, that is true, but if he moves from the county to the city or from the city to the county, he then has to go into the Registration office personally and sign a card to register.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like to know from the gentleman from Lehigh if a registered elector moves from one election district in the same city to another election district in the same city he can file the removal card?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I cannot answer, Mr. Speaker. I live in a very small town and do not represent a city district. I think the gentleman had better ask somebody from a city district.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like to know from the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Speaker, as to how many election districts he has in the town that he lives in.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. We have one election district, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like further to know from the gentleman from Lehigh whether he is in favor of doing away with removal cards in any city or town in the county of Lehigh where removal cards can be filed now?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would say that probably in many instances I might be in favor of it.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Well, Mr. Speaker, they why hasn't the gentleman from Lehigh, being in the majority and believing in majority rule, introduced a bill eliminating removal cards in Lehigh County?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, answering the gentleman's question as far as Lehigh County is concerned, we are very happy operating under the existing law, but if people want it in Johnstown or in the city of Philadelphia, then I will go along and say that it is all right so far as those counties are concerned.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Alspach.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALSPACH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the gentleman from Lancaster whether or not there is a permanent registration act in the county of Lancaster?

Mr. ALSPACH. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the gentleman from Lancaster whether or not when a person removes from one election district in the city of Lancaster to another election district in the city of Lancaster, he can file a removal card?

Mr. ALSPACH. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like further to know from the gentleman from Lancaster whether he is in favor of eliminating removal cards in the city of Lancaster?

Mr. ALSPACH. I don't see that that has anything to do with Senate Bill No. 305, Mr. Speaker. They are different problems.

I would like to interrogate the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHUDOFF. I will be glad to be interrogated, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALSPACH. I would like to inquire of the gentleman from Philadelphia whether he heard the speech of Mr. Tate in the House?

Mr. CHUDOFF. I did, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALSPACH. I would like to know whether the gentleman heard the remarks of Mr. Tate that it would hurt the Republicans more than it would the Democrats?

Mr. CHUDOFF. I believe he didn't say that it would hurt the Republicans more than it would the Democrats, but he said that the bill would hurt both parties. We feel, Mr. Speaker, that we not only represent Democrats in Philadelphia, we represent Republicans, and if this bill is going to hurt any party I don't think it should be passed.

Mr. ALSPACH. The gentleman didn't answer my question, Mr. Speaker. I said I understood the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tate, to make the remark that it would affect the Republicans more than it would the Democrats, possibly twice as much, because approximately twice as many Republicans as Democrats would take advantage of the removal cards.

Mr. CHUDOFF. In answer to the gentleman from Lancaster, if Mr. Tate made that statement I do not think we should pass any legislation to hurt anybody, whether Republican or Democrat.

Mr. ALSPACH. Then, Mr. Speaker, I wonder what there is so much to worry about in this situation if it is going to affect the Democrats less than the Republicans.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I might say in answer to the gentleman from Lancaster that if this bill affected Lancaster County he would be better off if he would not be for it. I want to thank the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Speaker.

I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like to know from the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Speaker, whether or not there is a permanent personal registration act in the county of Allegheny?

Mr. FLEMING. There are two in the county of Allegheny, one for the city of Pittsburgh and one for the county of Allegheny.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like further to know from the gentleman from Allegheny whether or not in the city of Pittsburgh, if a person removes from one election district to another he can file a removal card?

Mr. FLEMING. If he removes from one district to another in the city of Pittsburgh he can file it. If he removes from a district in Pittsburgh to any borough or township it is necessary that he go into the County Registration office and do it personally.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Is the gentleman from Allegheny in favor of the elimination of removal cards in the city of Pittsburgh?

Mr. FLEMING. I don't know, Mr. Speaker, that that has anything to do with the bill. I will say this, I am heartily in favor of this bill. I think it is a step forward and a good one.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I might say, Mr. Speaker, in answer to that answer that if the gentleman is not interested in the bill and says he thinks it only affects Philadelphia, as I take from his remarks, why does he vote on the bill if it doesn't affect his county?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman desire to further interrogate?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have an answer to my question as to whether or not the gentleman is in favor of the elimination of the removal cards in the city of Pittsburgh or the county of Allegheny.

Mr. FLEMING. My advisors, Mr. Speaker, have given me a lot of different answers, so I will now give my own; possibly it might be a very excellent thing if it were done. It is at least worth a trial.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I should like to know from the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Speaker, whether since he thinks it is a good thing, and since we have heard time and time again that the majority rules, why he does not introduce a bill to eliminate removal cards in the city of Pittsburgh and county of Allegheny?

Mr. FLEMING. I have thought of that, Mr. Speaker, but I didn't think of it until March 21st, and it was too late to do it.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I want to thank the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Speaker.

I believe this line of interrogation shows clearly that the gentleman representing counties other than Philadelphia on the Republican side of the House are not interested in this bill. I know whereof I speak because I believe if this bill affected the entire state of Pennsylvania I do not believe you could get anybody to vote for it outside of the Republican delegation in Philadelphia. I might say, Mr. Speake., that we have been in this session since January, and whenever the minority complained about its treatment, whenever the minority complained about being gagged the answer by the Majority Leader and the Majority Whip was that the majority rules, "You fellows are in the minority and we will do as we please." Now, if you want to be consistent, quoting the gentleman from Westmoreland, as far as the amendments are concerned, in the past election the people of Philadelphia in their wisdom sent to the House to represent them here twenty-four Democrats and fifteen Republicans. That means that the Democratic delegation from Philadelphia are in the majority, and I don't have to tell you gentlemen, because you have been here all afternoon listening to the Democratic Members from Philadelphia telling you how they feel about this bill. I ask you to think about this legislation, let us be fair about it, let us really think about it, because if this bill affected each of the counties I am sure you would be against it. If the majority rules, then give the people of Philadelphia the right to retain these removal cards which will help them to be eligible to vote in Philadelphia this coming November.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I have often heard that patience is a virtue, so judging by the debate tonight, the Members of this House are very virtuous, and I am going to ask your indulgence while I speak against Senate Bill No. 305.

In my opinion Senate Bill No. 305 now before us for consideration is a deliberate attempt to sabotage the permanent registration set-up, and has for its immediate purpose the disfranchisement of a large number of voters in the city of Philadelphia who are employed in essential industry and war plants.

This trick proposal now before us is going to make it more difficult for persons to register after having moved their residence from one election division to another. Probably the Republican organization of Philadelphia has lulled themselves into believing that this measure will help them steal control of Philadelphia's government in the coming municipal election.

The majority party of Philadelphia gives very eloquent lip service to the citizens of our fair city when they discuss the electors' right to vote, but their very actions on legislation similar to Senate Bill 305 and other methods, belie their words and place them in the category of political hypocrites.

This attempt to disfranchise thousands of citizens of Philadelphia from voting at the coming municipal election has all the earmarks of ideologies practiced by certain European governments.

Senate Bill No. 305 is a cheap sample of the political trickery which the Republican party practices continuously in our fair city of historic shrines and dirty water and I am looking forward to the day in the not too far distant future when the lawmakers at Harrisburg who reside outside our city will refuse to help the Philadelphia Republican machine cleanse its dirty linen.

In passing I might suggest this is a good time to start cleaning.

Basically, legislation of the kind proposed by Senate Bill No. 305 is unworthy of our great state. It is a step in the wrong direction. In fact the bill before us in democracy in reverse.

It might be well and more in keeping with the times if the Republican party of Philadelphia and the planners of Senate Bill No. 305 were to devote their energies and talents to a plan to promote the war effort rather than in an attempt to disfranchise patriotic citizens of our city from the right to vote, and as a fair deal for the voters of Philadelphia I hope you will vote on this bill as if it were affecting your own city.

I say to you, gentlemen of the House, if you vote accordingly every one in a city that has a first class registration system with a removal card must vote "no".

Mr. MODEL. Mr. Speaker, in the long array of gentlemen who have arisen to the floor to speak against this bill we have heard numerous arguments. As against that array we have had but two gentlemen rise to the floor as proponents of this bill. Of those two gentlemen, the arguments of one of them consisted of facetious answers to interrogations and the other gave a most inadequate and cagy reason or reasons for supporting this bill. I must say with regard to that latter gentleman that his approach makes me repeat what I stated yesterday, that I certainly do not question his or his proponents' sincerity in arguing about this bill. I do, however, question their judgment and the judgment of any man who votes for this bill. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, in speaking upon this bill stated that one argument for voting for this bill was that neither party received special advantages by this bill. In my opinion it should not be a question of advantage to either party, Republican or Democrat. It is a question of whether citizens should be permitted to vote instead of being refused the privilege, or what is tantamount to a refusal, by telling them to go down to a crowded city hall on a day when there are thousands waiting in line for that privilege, when it so easily could be handled by a removal card upon which there are two people vouching for that removal.

The gentleman further stated that the Members of the Registration Commission in Philadelphia could not come before this body to state their position. However, Mr. Speaker, I might point out that at least two of the members of that Philadelphia Registration Commission did come before the committee which had this bill and stated their position very clearly, which was against the passage of this bill.

The gentleman from Philadelphia further stated that this bill would not disfranchise anyone, and I might say to him that it is no answer to say that we must register these people, one hundred thousand in number, because then the Democratic party in Philadelphia couldn't charge that the Republicans voted phantom voters. I state again as I stated yesterday, that this bill is not only discriminatory but it is un-American, as is anything that takes away the right of American citizens to register to vote on election day.

All of us know from what we have heard that the Registration Commission in Philadelphia cannot possibly carry out any provisions of this act fifteen days from its passage or even a year from its passage because, as I have stated before, present conditions will not allow them to do so. There is a manpower shortage which will prevent the Commission from having qualified and experienced registrars working for them on the needed days. There is a lack of typists and a lack of typewriters.

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Chudoff, in his interrogation a few moments ago brought to light some very interesting facts, and I say to you that in the very near future we may find a bill in this House which will be introduced to affect the counties other than Philadelphia, and you gentlemen who are sitting in this House today, about to vote on a so-called Philadelphia bill may find that you will be voting on a bill to affect your particular county and city in the very near future, and then to be consistent if you vote in favor of this bill today you will be in the position of having to vote for a bill eliminating the removal cards from your particular county. I predict, Mr. Speaker, as I predicted once before on the floor of this House that you will be in a position of having to vote for a bill removing the removal cards from your particular county.

I predict, Mr. Speaker, as I have predicted once before on the floor of this House, which will be later proven to be correct, that these one hundred thousand people in Philadelphia who have been disfranchised, and if you don't like that word, who have been refused the proper right to register, will shout from the housetops when election time comes, stating that they have not been given their privilege to vote. I say to the majority party, that your bad judgment in voting for this bill will come back to haunt you.

Mr. O'BRIEN. I will be very brief, Mr. Speaker. I understand that I am to bring to a close the debate on this particular bill. During the many discourses this afternoon we have heard everything from A to Z, but one of the funniest arguments I have ever heard was that of measuring legislative debate in inches. There have been many, many things measured in inches, but never have I heard such a reference being made to legislative debate.

I would like to read into the record an article from one of the Philadelphia newspapers. I also have here at my desk some fifty or sixty communications from various people, none of which are in favor of this bill, but I would like to read particularly into the record this article. It is headlined:

Registry Chief denies any part in Farrell Bill. Didn't sponsor measure, Shoyer says in letter to Clark.

The article then goes on to say as follows:

Kendall H. Shoyer, chairman of the Registration Commission, yesterday disclaimed all responsibility for the Farrell bill abolishing removal notices.

The bill, which has passed the State Senate and now is on first reading calendar in the House, would require voters who move from one election district to another to re-register personally at the commission's office in City Hall Annex. Under the present law, changes in address can be certified to the commission by mailing a postcard.

Didn't Sponsor Bill.

In a letter to James P. Clark, Democratic city chairman, Shoyer declared:

"We did not sponsor the bill, and our opinion was not asked as to its merits."

"However, he added, 'If the Legislature sees fit to pass it, we are pledged to administer the provisions of the registration act, with whatever amendments thereto may be adopted, just as efficiently as possible.'"

Widely Condemned.

The measure, sponsored by Republican State Senator Louis H. Farrell, a member of the upper house who was re-elected last November by a margin of two votes, has been condemned by:

The Committee of 70, a non-partisan civic organization devoted to better government.

The Central Labor Union, AFL, representing more than 300,000 members in Philadelphia.

The Philadelphia Industrial Union Council, CIO, representing more than 120,000 workers.

The legislative representatives of the railroad brotherhoods.

To date, no organization openly has indorsed it.

James Vetoed Similar Bill.

A similar bill was vetoed in 1939 by Governor Arthur H. James on the grounds it would permit frauds, burden county governments with unnecessary and excessive costs and destroy the permanent feature of permanent registration.

The bill applies only to Philadelphia, although permanent registration is Statewide.

Mr. Speaker, I am going to ask something that I have never asked while I have been a Member of the Legislature, and that is that only those Members answering to their names loudly and distinctly be recorded, otherwise I am going to ask for a verification, and I will personally interrogate every Member who is supposedly recorded as voting "aye" on this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, in offering this resolution I would respectfully ask the Members to give it particular attention, not on my account, but because it affects a Member of this House. I would like in all kindness to ask the Clerk to read the resolution slowly in order that all the Members and visitors may hear its contents.

Mr. HEWITT offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1943.

It is almost as great an offense for a man to hide his light under a bushel as to have no light at all.

This House has as a Member one who has hidden, not only a candle, but a light bulb of wonderful brilliance under a bushel.

Did any Member ever dream that there was one among us who could write:

"Great is my Pennsylvania
With river and mountain and hill
And its wonderful men and women
Who labor with courage and skill,
Who toil in forest and farmlands
In mine and market and mill
Who share the wealth of an empire
And challenge the hand of fate,—
Great is my Pennsylvania
Great is the Keystone State."

Would you have thought that that same poet could then have word-pictured a baby in this manner:

"The little hands close nestling
On tired mother's breast
Two little feet now wrestling
But soon at rest."

That same Member has in a volume of verse just published dealt equally well with history and places, with peace and war, happiness and home, faith and love and has not hesitated to deal poetically with pirates and haunted houses, chickadees, water lilies, snow flakes and potato bugs.

This gifted and erudite Member is the Honorable Irving Sidney Dix of Wayne County, and the Book of Poems he has just released "Poems of Pennsylvania" is destined to mark its author as a poet of outstanding ability.

The very last line in our Member's book is: "Art begins where dullness ends." His book is all art because dullness never enters in; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House extends to the Honorable Irving Sidney Dix its congratulations, not only on the publication of his book of excellent verse, but upon the ability and talent it demonstrates and upon the picture it presents of his depth of knowledge of events and of human emotions, as well as a tenderness that brings tears: therefore be it further

Resolved, That in recognition of his ability and as evidence of our pleasure in the recognition that his book of poems must compel, we direct the Chief Clerk of the House to forward a copy of this resolution to Pennsylvania's outstanding poet, the Poet Laureate of the House, and our fellow Member, the Honorable Irving Sidney Dix.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the Poet Laureate of the House, the Hon. Irving S. Dix of Wayne County.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I wish to assure you that this is entirely unexpected. I don't know who is the author of this resolution or who is the author of these expressions, but I wish to offer my appreciation to all the Members of this House for them. I believe it is the Hon. Earl Hewitt who is entirely responsible and if that is so, I wish to offer him especially my appreciation.

I might say, Mr. Speaker, that this,—I am trying to be modest,—book represents the work of some twenty-five years. In it I have endeavored to express the life and characteristics of the pioneers of the people of Pennsylvania, and to depict in some manner the wonderful scenery we have in our Commonwealth.

Words fail me to express my feeling at this time. I would however, like to take this opportunity, inasmuch as I am on my feet, to recite one short poem in this book, which is the result of an idea that was put into my mind when General Martin was in my county. At that time he said there was a great parade of boys going out from the state of Pennsylvania and that there would be nearly a million of these men, and he hoped they would return safely. That gave me an idea, and as my own son went into the service I sat down and wrote these verses.

With your permission, Mr. Speaker, I will recite these verses and then I will not weary you any more about the poems of Pennsylvania. This poem is entitled "The Great Parade."

The Boys of Pennsylvania have joined the Great Parade,
Have left the field and factory and every place of trade;
They're going off to battle against a World of Wrong,
And form a mighty army, almost a million strong,—
Your boy and my boy, that great adventure share,
The Boys of Pennsylvania, her sons who do and dare.

They're going from the cities, from hamlets and from town,
They're leaving wives and sweethearts, perhaps to win renown,
They're leaving friends and family, afar from hearth and home,
And the war will not be over until they homeward come,—
The Boys of Pennsylvania in whom we all have pride,
Who battle now for Freedom the dictators have denied.

They're going—some to Iceland or Ireland's shores of green,
Or pitch their tents in Africa, with sand dunes for a screen,
And some will march at midnight across those desert sands
Near by Egyptian pyramids or strange Australian lands,—
But where, it matters little, be it by land or sea,
The Boys of Pennsylvania will fight for Liberty.

They've said good-bye to mother and joined the caravan,
To fight and die till Victory has brought good-will to man;
They've gone to take their stations a thousand miles away,
With a noble Band of Nations to join us in the fray.—
The Boys of Pennsylvania, the brave, the unafraid,
Who rendezvous with Life and Death and join the Great Parade."

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Dix gave me credit for the resolution which was just adopted unanimously by this House. I am very proud to say it was a request resolution. In other words, you see bills coming from the Senate marked "Introduced by request." The leadership of the House, including the Parliamentarian and the Speaker were the ones from whom this resolution came. I was merely asked to introduce it. I am very proud to have been asked to do it, but I do not want to take credit for its initiation.

Mr. REAGAN. Mr. Speaker, there has been much said about the Poet Laureate of the House. On two occasions he has read us some of his poetry. Unfortunately, no matter how good the man might be at writing poetry he is usually poor at interpreting it. He has only given you the hifaluting part of the poems which he has written.

Now, I would like to show you gentlemen that he is very versatile, that he is not above taking cracks at his enemies; for instance "Pike County People,"

There's an old saying, which no sense makes,
That little in all of Pike is found,
Excepting Democrats, whisky and snakes,—

Of course he goes on to soften that up, but I won't inflict any more of it on you. Here is one that especially struck me, and I commend it to the single gentlemen who are our co-laborers, "What Is Home Without A Baby?"

Here is one in a sentimental vein and I just wondered when I read it how old Mr. Dix was when he wrote it.

"O, if I had some one to love
And some one to love me,
I would not ask more of this world,
Nor could I want more of this world,
Than some one to love,—"

This one I think is his best; it is something that I think will appeal to all of you:

"No man can have his sins forgiven
By Saint on earth or Saint in Heaven;
The laws of God are made;
Men only sin as men believe,
And are forgiven, whene'er they grieve
That they afar have strayed."

Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire if you have charge of the hall after the Legislature adjourns?

The SPEAKER. Is somebody in the mood to rob the place?

Mr. REAGAN. No, Mr. Speaker, but more important by far one of our Members, I will not mention his name, but he lives in a county contiguous to mine, is thinking, in fact has resolved to perform an act which he ought to have done long ago, and I was wondering for this great event whether we couldn't have the hall of this House and have all the Members attend.

The SPEAKER. If he wants to get married, make it Sunday.

Mr. REAGAN. I am afraid that is the only way he will get married. With your consent then we would like to have the hall of the House with all of the Members present on May 23.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have been very much embarrassed by the remarks of the preceding speaker and also some of the poems of the gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Dix, referred to by Earl Hewitt. I dare say that Mr. Dix is one of the best printers, in this House. He is a man of some reputation as a writer, in fact he is a very good writer, and the next time we have some of this poetry read, I hope we will have someone like Earl Hewitt read it.

WELCOME EXTENDED

The SPEAKER. The House is honored this afternoon in having with us the wife of the Governor of the Commonwealth and his daughter. Being so near Mother's Day it is with delight that the Chair makes this announcement from the rostrum.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Stockham, to preside.

Mr. STOCKHAM IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Mr. Speaker, after all the bickering of the week past, with all the name calling, all the fireworks, we are going to take a little while off to do those things that occur at the end of every session. If we could but look forward through the days of the session to the very pleasant expressions that are made on this occasion, how much easier and how much better would be some of our deliberations.

It is quite fitting, I think, that we start our program this evening with the singing of America.

Mr. Barrett will preside at the piano, and Mr. Wachhaus will lead us in the singing of this beloved hymn.

America was sung by the Members and visitors.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say a word before I offer this resolution. It was my happy privilege at the beginning of this session of 1943, to place in nomination the name of a colleague and friend of mine, the Honorable Ira T. Fiss, now Speaker of this House. I said on that occasion the requirements and qualifications for this high office would be difficult to attain, particularly because of the precedents established and the high standards set, by the gentlemen who held this office in the past. In order to accomplish this end, the Speaker would have to be a man of tolerance and patience and I feel at all times, especially during the trying moments of this session, the qualifications which I set forth earlier, have been clearly and definitely met by our Speaker in presiding over the deliberations of this House. I know that everyone will agree with me that he has not been found wanting in filling the office of Speaker during the days of this wartime session even though presiding over the affairs of this House has not been an easy task; indeed, it has been trying, it has been tiresome, and many, many times during tense moments, almost to the breaking point. We found in the Speaker of this House, a man who was firm, a man who was always willing to consent to anything fair and reasonable, a man who was ready to deal justly with all requests from the floor of this House, and I feel there is no one who could have served more capably as Speaker during this turbulent session of 1943 than our Honorable Speaker, Ira T. Fiss.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I present with great pleasure the following privileged resolution and ask for its immediate unanimous adoption.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. LICHTENWALTER offered a resolution which was read, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1943.

When one is selected for an important position for which he has had no special training and performs the duties attached to that position to the full satisfaction of everyone, he is entitled to more credit than if he had been schooled for years in the performance of similar duties.

This House and its business has never been handled more expeditiously nor with less friction than during the session now closing.

The poet Tennyson wrote:

Oh God, for a man with heart, head, hand
Like some of the simple great; gone
Forever and forever by,
One still, strong man in a blatant land.
Whatever they call him, what care I
Aristocrat, democrat, autocrat—one
Who can rule and dare not lie.

The Honorable Ira T. Fiss is one of the simple great men, a tender man with a well of lofty thoughts, whose armor is honest thought, and whose strength is simple truth. One who can rule and would not dare to lie. He is possessed of a sincerity that pervades his whole being, a simpleness that makes his one desire to do the thing he ought to do openly and naturally, and with firmness and virtue enough to maintain at all times the character of an Honest Man.

He would not, in directing the affairs of this House, maintain an attitude, enforce a ruling or render a decision wherein his tongue would be confuted by his conscience.

Honesty and courage and fidelity and sincerity are the attributes that carried him into the Speaker's Chair, and he has failed in none. He leaves that Chair with the respect and confidence and esteem of every Member of this House.

If the measure of a life is not length, but honesty, then our Speaker has long since passed his three score years and ten.

Our own American poet Whittier must have had in mind a man like Ira T. Fiss, when he wrote:

"Formed on the good old plan
A true and brave and downright honest man,
He blew no trumpet in the market place,
Nor in the church with hypocritic face
Supplied with cant the lack of Christian grace.
Loathing pretense, he did with cheerful will What others talked of while their hands were still."

therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the Members of this House, feel that we have gone through a session which has been marked in great measure with smoothness and dignity, but that when rough weather and troublesome seas threatened the ship of state, their leader, with quiet dignity, unruffled temper and sincere honesty, set his course by the north star of patience and tolerance and with gentle speech brought it safely into the quiet harbor of understanding and safety; and be it further

Resolved, That we extend to him our thanks for his efforts to keep the business of the House moving and our appreciation of his patience, his fairness and his constant friendliness, and we wish for him the consummation of all his dreams, the realization of all his hopes and the fulfillment of all his wishes; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House shall transmit a copy of this resolution to the Honorable Ira T. Fiss, as an added evidence of our high esteem for him and for his conduct of the House, during the session of one thousand nine hundred forty-three.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, we have about concluded a rather unusual session. It was unusual because it is the first session, and I hope the last session, of this General Assembly in a war year. Because of unsettled conditions and the great stress and strain that must be the lot of every man in this House, there is no question that the tenor of our deliberations did lend itself to a session of unusual turbulence. The contending parties fought and the contending parties stood firm to their ground for the principles which they in all sincerity thought would best fit the course of Pennsylvania in the ensuing months.

Through it all, as the head of this great deliberative body, presided a man who has been a Member of this House for, I believe, three sessions. He is a man with whom I have had the great pleasure and distinction of serving since 1939. During all these years there has never been any question in any man's mind but that he was a man of kindness, a man of calmness, a man of deep sincerity, a man of understanding. These qualities he exhibited in all of his contacts and discussions with us.

In this session, Mr. Speaker, he had to meet a great test. He had thrust upon him the difficult job of keeping and molding together a deliberative body that was on edge at all times, and to say that he has performed his task well would be the essence of minimizing his great effort. To say that he has performed in a noble and grand manner would be merely expressing that which need not be expressed, because his actions have spoken well for him throughout the entire session.

I know the minority joins with the rest of the House in saying that their position as a minority party has been accorded full cooperation. Their position as a minority party has been respected, for which the minority party is thankful, and through me as its spokesman wishes to express its thanks. As far as I am concerned personally, I could not say that any greater cooperation could have been shown me, and through me, to my party. For this I wish to add my own appreciation and my own thanks.

Prior to the session when I read in the public press that Ira T. Fiss was the choice of the majority party for Speaker of the House I immediately sent a message of my sincere congratulations to him. I felt at that time that he was going to make a great Speaker. I know now that he has been a great Speaker, and I feel that it is a particular tribute to myself that in my position I am now able officially for my party and personally to say that we offer our thanks and our appreciation to a gentleman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, it is with a great deal of personal satisfaction that I second the resolution, commending our Speaker, which has been presented here this evening. I second it heartily.

I feel that in its language, in the sentiments it expresses, it leaves open little more to be said of the fine character and simple virtues of our Speaker, Ira T. Fiss.

Seconding this resolution, my mind goes back to the day when I first crossed the threshold of this House as a Member of this body. I shall remember that day so long as I live, for this House was a beautiful sight and the day was fine; our friends and families and well-wishers had sent to us floral tributes in great profusion, so that the Members, until the flowers were removed, had very little reason to notice anything but the splendor and perfume of the environment into which they had been brought by their election to this House.

As we were brought to order and the flowers taken away, the gentleman who was seated directly in front of me turned at once and made himself known to me. I sat behind Ira Fiss during all of that session. I soon learned to love him for his kindness; to trust him for his fundamental honesty and sincerity and to appreciate his understanding of the values of friendship.

When I found at the beginning of this session that Ira was to be our Speaker I felt very certain that we would have in the Chair a man who would lead us with calm deliberation. I recalled that any time when he had taken the floor as a Member of this House, he spoke to the body dispassionately and without heat, and I felt sure that, under all and any circumstances, this session would be presided over with the ultimate of patience and calmness and peace.

Alas, Mr. Speaker, there came a time of trial and turbulence in this session when exasperation and temper tested the endurance of many of us, even that of our Speaker.

I have heard it said that on one occasion a piece of the gavel flew off the rostrum, but we all know now that it was only a peanut shell that happened to be lying on the slab and was blown to the floor by the ordinary force of the falling gavel.

I wondered sometimes, during the late filibuster and during the times when we were having something more than a deliberative session here, how Ira managed to keep his calm and his even way as presiding officer.

A couple of weeks ago, I met Ira downstairs in the hall and I began a discussion on that very subject. I am going to tell you what he said to me. He said "Ben, I keep my patience and even tenor, because when I feel distress or anger rising in me, I have recourse to my Bible. Whenever I feel that things have gone beyond mortal patience and endurance, I turn to the twenty-third chapter of St. Matthew and I read the thirty-third verse."

I left him, making a mental note that I would look up that passage. I have always been aware that there are occasions when it might do me a great deal of good to have recourse to some calming influence. This is what I read:

"Ye serpents, ye generation of vipers, how can ye escape the damnation of Hell?"

Mr. Speaker, I recommend to all Members of this House the formula of our beloved Speaker for maintaining a sweet and even temper under all conditions.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and fellow colleagues, how refreshing it is to sit here in the quietude of the closing hours of this General Assembly and to have the honor of paying a slight tribute to one who has led us through these awful times, "times that try the souls of men," times when all of the hate and passion and prejudices that can come from the souls of men have been set loose on a world that is on fire. Our General, the Speaker of this House has successfully led us through these times; when our tempers overpowered the best of us, we were restrained by virtue of his patience, we were counselled by words that have come down to us through the ages: "Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad." We shall never forget that on one occasion our Speaker felt that he had committed an error, and his anxiety that the error should be corrected. It was corrected upon his own initiative as we will remember, in a session that vividly portrayed the greatness of our Speaker in carrying out one of the cardinal principles of mankind: "To err is human, to forgive is divine."

Allow me, therefore, Mr. Speaker, to second this resolution, and if I can say anything to our Speaker, my friend and your friend that may guide and that may help us in the days that are ahead, to give us strength, to give us confidence, to give us fortitude, I leave with you the words of the Apostle Paul to the Corinthians: "Watch ye; stand fast in the faith; acquit you as men; be strong."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker and fellow Members, it gives me great pleasure to second the resolution that has just been offered.

When I was sworn in as a Member of this House of Representatives, I was under the impression that I knew a considerable amount of legislative procedure, but I soon discovered that I didn't know as much about it as I thought I did, and immediately tried to rectify that error. Many of the other new Members were in a similar position, and I want to speak on behalf of the new Members especially in these remarks. We became interested in the legislation which was being offered and introduced many bills ourselves. Due to the efforts of our Speaker and his fairness toward all of us, it helped us a great deal in the introduction of this legislation, and helped us debate our views concerning the same on the floor of this House.

I believe that the position of the Speaker of this House is somewhat similar to that of a Judge in a Court of Law. A stern and unyielding Judge can make the practise of law almost unbearable to a new lawyer, but the considerate Judge can make the practise of law very interesting to the new lawyer, and enable him to take a keen interest in his work, and thereby give him the incentive to do his best for himself as well as his client.

I believe that our Speaker, Ira T. Fiss, has been the kind and considerate judge; he has made our job here more easy, because of his fair rulings; he has made it more interesting and beneficial not only to us but to the people whom we represent. Due to this we have been able to participate in a short, economical and patriotic legislative program. I believe that every Member has profited by this, and is appreciative for the part which our Speaker has taken in this program, and I speak for all the new men in saying that because of his fine, kind and considerate treatment we are anxious to return for another term.

We wish to thank Ira T. Fiss for the fine things he has done for all of us and therefore I wholeheartedly second this resolution of appreciation to our Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair presents the Speaker of the House, Ira T. Fiss.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss). Mr. Speaker, I assure you that I don't know exactly what to say. I deeply appreciate your confidence and kindness, that is one of the things that overcomes me more than anything else I know of. I want to say to you, especially to the Members of our own caucus, that I did not ask you to work any harder than I did myself. If I could at times render service to a Member of this House I felt that I should do it, that I should make a sacrifice to do it, because I owe that to the Members of this House as well as to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Often as I stood on this rostrum, on some dark and stormy days and looked back at the mural in the rear of this room I could not help but think of the sacrifice and suffering of our forefathers. They too had trying moments, they too had many trials and they suffered even beyond what you and I are asked to endure today.

The picture there represents the suffering and sacrifice of those who left bloody foot prints in the snow on the hill sides of Valley Forge. And also the great mural of Edwin A. Abbey back of the rostrum in this House, where if you will take the time to read the title, "Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations, ask thy Father and he will show thee, thy elders and they will tell thee," it will certainly give you courage in these perilous times.

It always gave me courage to know that our forefathers fought these battles that men might be free.

They trusted in the same God for strength that we trust, they came through victorious and gave to us the most priceless heritage any people were ever privileged to enjoy. We cannot do less than our fathers, can we? They endured suffering and hardship, but handed down to us a rich legacy, a sacred trust. Shall we be worthy keepers of that sacred trust? America makes men free, at her feet are the broken chains of slavery and servitude.

In a world seething like an angry sea of despotic power, this nation stands like an island of eternal light, bearing the torch of freedom and liberty for all the world.

This is the time to think of how the boys in our armed services are suffering, how little children are even dying from hunger. The men and women of the countries of Europe have lost not only their freedom but nearly all they possess. It may be your son or friend is engaged in battle at this moment. We must win this war. America is the last hope of the world.

As members of this General Assembly we have passed legislation which will aid in winning the war and I am confident we are willing to give our all for our country.

"America so proud, so free,
We give our hearts and lives to thee."

As we close this session let us resolve to carry on, by virtuous conduct, courageous action, and unselfish service in our home districts.

Should we not be as courageous as these men who are portrayed on the mural back of this rostrum, who gave to us in Pennsylvania something we cannot afford to forget? Here, more than anywhere else in the world. Here in Pennsylvania liberty first raised its voice; the Declaration of Independence was signed in the City of Philadelphia.

"Governments are instituted among men by the consent of the governed, all men are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights, among them life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Even the majestic and melodic tones of the Liberty Bell that "proclaimed liberty throughout the land to all the inhabitants thereof," could not produce a sweeter sound than, that government among men must be established by their consent.

Here the constitution was framed, the greatest instrument ever given by the hand of man.

"We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty, to ourselves and our posterity," for this cause we pledge our lives, our sacred honor, and all that we possess.

Are we not privileged as members of the House of Representatives to be heirs of such greatness, to be heirs of such a priceless heritage?

We here, will never fail the people of this great country. Where liberty first raised its voice we will always be ready to make any sacrifice to preserve it.

You also see in this painting a representative of the school, of the church, of the arts, and of industry.

This Commonwealth is an empire in itself, and those who would practice the same principles as the founding fathers certainly cannot fail.

They answered the first call to arms when the battle drum of the revolution sounded.

They answered the first call of Abraham Lincoln to preserve this nation a union of States.

We shall be gloriously proud of our heritage in Pennsylvania. I am proud to be Speaker of this House of Representatives.

"Love thyself last; cherish those hearts that hate thee;
Corruption wins not more than honesty.
Still in they right hand carry gentle peace.
To silence envious tongues be just and fear not.
Let all the ends thou aimest at, be thy country's Thy God's, and truth's."

From the bottom of my heart I thank you.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, sitting here these past few moments and listening to our Speaker, I was somewhat overcome myself, but I would like to ask the Speaker and the presiding officer, and I do so without any desire to find fault, whether our delegation from Philadelphia, representing the largest individual delegation in this House, have the right and privilege to be a party to the proceedings tonight, and in a way endorse what has been said?

We have long ago learned that we are step-children. We don't mind being step-children in legislation, but when it comes to expressing the feelings of our hearts and our kindly disposition toward a gentleman like our presiding officer, we would like to know whether we will be considered sacreligious, whether we will be considered traitors, or whether we may be considered as part and parcel of this great celebration? We would love to be a part of it. We want to express from the bottom of our hearts every sentiment that was expressed by every person who has been on this floor. Democrats from Philadelphia were recognized, and should have been recognized. Representatives from Allegheny were recognized and should have been recognized. We in Philadelphia are human beings, we love our city, we love our state, we love our nation and we love our Speaker, and we would like to have had an opportunity to be considered with the great group of men in this hall.

Mr. Speaker, and you, Mr. Fiss, I may be doing something here that I shouldn't do,—this may be wrong,—I don't want anybody to consider it as an effort on anyone's part to break up the pleasantries of the evening, but we in Philadelphia, notwithstanding our love for our Speaker, notwithstanding our love for our city, notwithstanding our love for our state and nation, have been hurt.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair appreciates the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia and apologizes for the oversight. The Chair assures the gentleman that his remarks are very fitting. It was in no way intentional.

The Chair now recognizes the Chief Clerk of the House.

The CHIEF CLERK (William E. Habbyslaw). Mr. Speaker, the old Members of the Legislature are always eager to see the new Members, and I definitely recall my first meeting the present Speaker. I knew at that time that the folks of Snyder County had chosen an outstanding man to represent them. When he came into this House it had fewer Republican Members than at any time since the Civil War.

He had to be an able man to break into this House as a Republican at that time. He was in our midst but a very short time before we learned of his sterling qualities and good judgment. His ability very early manifested itself and his influence upon legislation soon became evident.

Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the Members and officers of the House of Representatives, Republicans and Democrats, we extend sincere thanks and appreciation for the way you have conducted yourself as the head of the House. This was not an easy session to preside over as Speaker, but because of your friendliness and fairness you lead us with honor and distinction, and in order that you may have some remembrance of the services you have so ably rendered in this House we present you with this gift. (A gavel). We trust you will treasure it, not for its intrinsic value, but because of the love and respect that we all hold for you.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss). The Chair can only say thanks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1943.

The navigator and the bombardier of the House, the man who plots its course and when necessary, drops the dynamite is ordinarily known as the Majority Floor Leader.

In this session of the General Assembly he is also known as Squire Lichtenwalter and it is due to his study, his familiarity with the bills introduced and his qualities of leadership that an early adjournment has been made possible.

Able and intelligent, modest and unassuming, likeable and trustworthy, the leader of the majority party early in the session, won the respect and trust of those he was chosen to lead and the close of this session finds him even more highly respected and trusted.

His party's members have felt and still feel that they could blindly follow his advice and leadership without fear of error.

The members of the minority party have never had occasion to attack his honesty of purpose or the exact truthfulness of any statement made by him in debate; therefore be it

Resolved, by the Members of this House that we congratulate the Honorable Franklin H. Lichtenwalter upon the enviable record he has made as a leader during this session and at its closing we wish him every success that a continuance of activity in public life can bring to him; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Honorable Franklin H. Lichtenwalter by the Chief Clerk of this House.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, if you will permit me to make a personal apology as a preface to my remarks, I would like to say that I am not given to sentimental expressions. I have been trained by heredity and environment to regard sentimental expressions almost as a sign of weakness. I know that is wrong, but even if it is wrong I will allow myself the weakness of making the expressions I have in mind this evening on this resolution.

I know, Mr. Speaker, that my remarks are unnecessary so far as the gentleman on my immediate left is concerned, but I would like every Member of the House and all of the guests to realize the way we have been privileged to work together and what a pleasure that has been to me.

When we were first elected, at the outset of this session as the Majority Leader and the Majority Whip it was expected that that relationship would be almost as Damon and Pythias, we would be teammates, and we have kept on all through this session in that relationship. Not very many of the Members, I fear, realize the terrific physical strain, the nervous tension and the hours of work that go into the position of Majority Leader. I do not fully understand that myself, but I have been close enough to the gentleman from Lehigh to see what it does and how it works. There are times when our nerves are tense, when there are caustic criticisms coming from sources unexpected; there are times that due to the pressure and the hurry of the work, one feels like exploding, feels like throwing everything overboard, and it takes the strength of character of a real man to hold up and to keep under control and keep pushing and working as though nothing had happened to upset the even tenor of the work.

I have worked with the gentleman from Lehigh all through the session. We have worked long hours, have been in conference many times and long hours after tedious sessions, and in all this time, Mr. Speaker, regardless of the hour, the time of day, I have never been subjected to one single look of criticism, not one gesture of impatience, not a single moment of embarrassment lest I had let him down in something he had expected of me at times when I knew I had.

When this session is over I am going to carry a lot of fond memories of everybody, from the oldest Members to the newest Member, but believe me, one of the most sincere and deepest recollections that I am going to carry away is that of my friend, and if the remarks of one young man to another young man are not quite as reverent as those concerning the Speaker, they are none the less tender and deeply rooted.

It has always been a pleasure to serve with him during this session, and I wish to say thanks for the opportunity. I shall never forget the real friendship that has come to me all through the session. He has been a real fellow worker, a real teammate and my very close and true friend, Franklin H. Lichtenwalter.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Chairman, the hours and many of the days were long, the work sometimes very tedious and strain severe, but I want to say that I enjoyed every minute of it, because I had in this job a group of men to work with who had the real spirit of cooperation. I had also the cooperation of the Speaker of this House, and the cooperation of the Minority Leader of this House in working out the various problems that confronted us at this session.

At the start of this session I had an aim in mind, and that was definitely to have a short session in 1943. I felt in the time in which we are living there are many things that all of us can do away from the halls of this House to help in the war-effort, to bring to a successful conclusion the fight in which we are now engaged.

It has been a pleasure, and the work to me has not been hard because of the grand fellowship, the grand sportsmanship of all of my colleagues. I deserve no credit whatsoever in accomplishing the aim of a short session, the shortest session. I believe in the past ten sessions of this House. I deserve no credit because I believe in the trite saying,—I know I mentioned it to the men on this side of the House at the time I was elected Majority Leader.

It is not the individual or the group as a whole
But the everlasting teamwork of every blooming soul.

If anything has been accomplished, if there is to be any credit given, I say it is to be given to the Members of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania. I certainly thank all of you from the bottom of my heart for the presentation of this resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goodwin.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. GOODWIN offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1943.

A minority party is of but little importance unless it is a fighting minority, and in this House to be of any importance, even a fighting minority must have a capable, shrewd, intelligent and likeable leader.

This session has witnessed the work of such a man. The Honorable Reuben E. Cohen knows the legislation that has come upon the calendar, he knows its background and its intent, and he has strenuously and ably protested the passage of such as he felt was harmful to the Commonwealth or to his party.

He rants not, neither does he rave with loud and strenuous tones, but fairly, calmly, fearlessly, and with the compelling dignity of a judge upon the bench, he tells his story and at times almost persuades the majority that it is wrong.

Better legislation always comes from strong opposition which acts as a brake upon the sometimes ruthless activity of a majority. Nothing has escaped the watchful eye of the minority leader of this session, nor has he once failed to pull the brakes or raise his voice in endeavoring to promote the interests of his party and the principles for which it stands; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of this House hereby extend to the Honorable Reuben E. Cohen, their congratulations upon his work in this session, and upon the ability displayed at all times; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of this House to the said Honorable Reuben E. Cohen.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. GOODWIN. Mr. Speaker, I too will carry from this Assembly, this legislative session many fond memories. I want to remember you fine fellows that I have met and known, because from each and every one of you I have received to some degree inspiration. It is regrettable that we must so soon part and possibly not be able to meet again for a considerable length of time.

I would like to say, however, when we gathered at the first of this year to organize the minority party, the Democratic party, we in the minority party looked for leadership that we felt would carry with credit and honor our banner, and I believe you Members on the other side of the House and the officers of this body will agree with me that we gave to this House one of the ablest, one of the fairest and one of the hardest fighting men that it has been our privilege to know. He knows how to fight without hitting below the belt, and those of us on this side who have come to know Reuben E. Cohen, as we do, wish for him and his family all the luck and Godspeed possible.

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, I am really happy tonight to have this opportunity to speak in behalf of the Members of the minority party. No matter what you say to me I won't get hurt and go home. I always feel that as a Member of the minority party I have been used to being hurt many times, but that has nothing to do with the gentleman we honor so much tonight, because I well recall serving with him on more than one occasion and in various capacities. Sometimes my faith in him was a bit weak, sometimes I felt that maybe he wouldn't measure up to the things that I particularly had visualized for him to do, but in spite of everything I never lost absolute confidence in his ability, in his sincerity, and in his judgment, and in the darkest days of this session, when he was perturbed and I was impatient, I generally strung along behind the banner of his leadership, and even when he took the powder the other night I went along with him. I am not ashamed of it; it's something for all of us to think about. It means that this boasted democracy we have pictured so vividly could never exist without a strong, determined, fighting minority. That was acknowledged on the oor not so many days ago by the Majority Leader. It has been enunciated by thinkers in all departments of democratic thought.

Tonight it gives me pleasure to second this resolution and to assure Mr. Reuben Cohen that he has done a wonderful job in the eyes of the minority party. I believe that all fair-minded Republicans will say that he has worked sincerely, honestly and tirelessly, and I might say to him and to you in conclusion in the stanzas of a modern poet:

"It is not all in getting rich
It is not all in winning fame
A greater thing than victory
Is how you try to play the game.
Success is keeping faith with men
And standing firm for what is best
Doing what you find to do
Keeping fit for every test."

Mr. Chairman, it gives me pleasure to second the resolution commending Mr. Reuben E. Cohen from our Philadelphia handbox district.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I am afraid I am a softy. I am much unlike the gentleman from Cambria, who is tough, and I think I spring somewhat from the same roots as the Speaker. I was just wondering whether there was some municipal authority around that would like to buy a water works.

Mr. Speaker, there is no man in this House who has not sacrificed a great deal this session, so that I feel that I have plenty of company if I want to feel sorry for myself. But I do not think we ought to take it that way; we have all sacrificed personally. I haven't seen my daughter in three weeks, but I think it was worth it. We have all attempted to do a job as we saw it, and the job that I tried to do was to leave this session, to leave these legislative halls a monument of legislative efficiency. The issues that were debated, sometimes sanely, sometimes passionately, sometimes freely will go on and they will be with us again, but the work that was accomplished as a legislative body stays on the record as a monument or tribute to all of us.

I want first to say to my colleagues on this side that if I have had more work to do than they, it is only because the prevailing opinion requires that I do more work than they, but I am not one bit less appreciative of their cooperation, of their support, of their encouragement and of their counsel. They have been a decent bunch to work with, and I say to the men on the other side that if I have not convinced you, it is not because I have not tried; and if I have not convinced you it was just because I didn't have the votes. But, if I have left but one thing with you I would consider all this work worth while. If you have taken with you any regard for what I am rather than for who I am, I am deeply appreciative.

I could not let this occasion pass, Mr. Speaker, without saying to the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, that he will never know, and I will never be able to tell him either publicly or privately how much I have appreciated his help. Even though it almost came to the point where I dared not smile to him and he dared not smile to me, because Members on both sides of the House might feel something was cooking, yet Mr. Speaker, I want to say for Frank that from the first time I met him I liked him, not because I happened to find out what made him tick, but because his whole body, his face was enough proof to me that what went on inside him was decent and clean. When he was put to the test, as far as I was concerned in this session, he proved that my original judgment was correct.

So, Mr. Speaker, to this legislative body which as a body will cease to exist tonight—I hope—I want to give my sincere thanks, my deepest appreciation for everything that you have given me. I trust that I may have given you something.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Moser.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. MOSER offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1943.

If the majority floor leader is a navigator, then the majority whip could well be called the ground force, for it is he who keeps together the cogs of the majority machine, keeps it oiled and is responsible for its efficient operation.

That the machine worked well during this session is evidence of the efficiency of the ground force—it is proof of the wisdom of the majority party in electing Walter E. Rose, as the majority whip.

Although called a whip, Walter is far from being a slave driver—he does not whip into line the unwilling, he charms them. His spoken wish would compel any member of the majority party to vote for a reduction in salary, and like it. He is irresistible and to his winning way can be attributed the large vote for some of the appropriation bills.

The majority whip will celebrate his thirty-second birthday on July 21st, which is quite a tender age for one who has just completed his third term; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House extends to the Honorable Walter E. Rose, its congratulations upon the close occurrence of the day for celebrating his birth and hopes that each return of that day will find him farther on his way to wherever it is that he wishes to go; it congratulates him upon the manner in which he has performed his duties upon the floor of this House, and wishes for him continued success, much happiness and full contentment; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk shall forward a copy of this resolution to the majority whip on July 21st, 1943, as a reminder of the congratulations just expressed and as evidence of its wishes for many happy returns of the day.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. MOSER. Mr. Speaker, it was indeed a pleasure to me to have the honor of presenting the resolution concerning the Republican Whip. He is small in stature but courageous in heart. Many evenings I have known him to work late in the night and early in the morning in preparing the program for the next day's session. It made no difference when you went to him for advice or assistance, and I know that many of the new Members went to him and he helped them with their various problems; he gave them guidance and assistance. I know that not only the new Members but some of the older Members appreciate what he has done. I want to wish him success in the future, and I hope that he will be here to greet many of us in 1945.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution.

It was unanimously adopted.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, this is a real pleasure and a surprise to me. I didn't know I was going to be credited with giving advice and charging and oiling the thing; I thought I always did my oiling in private.

I appreciate the remarks because I have enjoyed every minute of the session. If I have been able to be of any help to anybody, new or old in any way during the session, it has been just because I enjoyed it and got a real kick out of doing it. If the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Moser, is not going to give us a special session in 1944, then I will come back if I can in 1945 and I would like to continue to be of whatever help I can be. I thank all of you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Yester.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. YESTER offered a resolution which was read, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1943.

Whatever the majority party does, the minority party must emulate in some manner. When the majority party got a whip, the minority party had to have one, even though it does not have so much whipping to do.

A minority generally stays in line. It needs little forcing. In selecting a whip this year, the party sought some one who would not only fill the job, but "love it" too.

That perhaps is one reason why James E. Lovett was elected—the other reason is that his long service as a member in this House equipped him to work well in that capacity, and he has been no disappointment to his party even though his efficiency has not been so well appreciated by the majority.

He has done a good job without making any enemies. He is not only a good persuader, but he is an able and industrious member of the House and has made many friends; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House extends to the Honorable James E. Lovett, the Minority Whip, its congratulations upon the success of his work and the quiet and efficient way in which he has kept the minority forces together; and be it further Resolved, That as the Minority Party, in order to further follow the example of the majority, selected a whip who was born July, the Chief Clerk is directed to forward a copy of this resolution to the Honorable James E. Lovett on the thirtieth day of July as an expression of the congratulation and best wishes of this House upon the re-occurrence of his birthday.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. YESTER. Mr. Speaker, let's be fair; those words have become very popular in this session, and I believe I know, and I think the rest of you know that when our Whip said those words he meant them. It mattered not whether the person was a friend or an enemy, he was always anxious to be fair. I think his work in this session has proven that he has done a mighty good job for the minority, because they were certainly hard to handle. They went here and they went there; there were times when our Whip did things that we thought were a little harsh, but today I think we all appreciate the work he has done.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, let's be fair. I want to say to the Speaker pro tempore, to the Speaker and to the Members of the House, that if there is anything I have said or anything I have done during the session of the Legislature in which I haven't been fair, or anything that has hurt any Member of this House, regardless of whether he be on the majority side or the minority side, I certainly apologize.

One thing I don't quite understand regarding the name "Whip", everybody around here cracks the whip but the Whip. The Whip is the one fellow that never cracks the whip. He usually pleads with the Members to do what is right. I want to say to the Members of this House that I have enjoyed this session as I have enjoyed every session I have been here. I have learned to love the men in this House. The little words that I've left with you, "Let's be fair" to me mean a lot, because I think as we go through life men who possibly are over other men, men who have families of their own, men who deal with other men, men who deal with their immediate families, if everyone in the world would be fair we would get along much better.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1943

The work of the officers and clerks of this House during this session has been especially difficult because of the unusual burden imposed upon them by reason of the long hours spent in strictly following constitutional requirements.

Every officer and clerk has given fully of his time and effort to the end that the business of the House should not be retarded or interrupted.

The new Chief Clerk of the House has again demonstrated the wisdom of his election by the House and his executive ability has been of great assistance in speeding the work of the session in spite of the scarcity of adequate help; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House extends its thanks to the Chief Clerk of this House, the Honorable William E. Habbyslaw, and to William P. Roan, the Secretary of the House, and through them to the officers and clerks who have so diligently labored under and with them, for the part they have contributed toward shortening the days of the session and making easier the work of the Members of the House.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I think the resolution just presented merits special consideration by all the Members of this House. Our Chief Clerk has given us valiant aid by virtue of his former association with us in this House and his thorough acquaintance with the details of his office. I also feel that I would be remiss were I not to mention the fact that he is ably assisted by the Secretary of the House. And with them are those many workers who know no set daily schedule, who do not serve by the hour but who must work until the session's business has been taken care of and the schedule arranged for the next.

Through the able guidance of our Chief Clerk the machinery of this House has functioned in a manner unsurpassed I think in the three terms I have been here as a Member. I know the Members also agree with me that through the efforts of the Chief Clerk and the Secretary of the House we have had fairness on roll calls, and only those have been recorded who responded to their names. As the result of their kind cooperation with both sides of the House while sitting at the front desk, carefully noting the absentees and observing those present they have expedited the work of the session and as a result we are coming to the closing days of a very short session.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I think such a resolution is well considered, and I think that from the Chief Clerk to the lowest employe of this House, the membership on both sides should express their thanks.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the Chief Clerk.

The CHIEF CLERK (William E. Habbyslaw). Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the force in the Chief Clerk's office, my good friend Secretary Bill Roan and myself, I thank you. It was only because of the patience of the Members of this House that we could give you the service we did. You owe us nothing; all the credit belongs to the Members of the House.

I hope if we can be of any service to you in the future you will not hesitate to call upon us.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes Bill Roan, and in recognizing him may I say that both of these gentlemen are former members of the House.

The SECRETARY (William Rowan). Mr. Speaker, I concur in what the Chief Clerk has said. It has been a pleasure to work for you. We wish you good luck, good health and a safe journey home.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. NORMAN WOOD offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representative, May 8, 1943

There must have existed in the minds of the founders of our Commonwealth a firm conviction of the existence of a divine power that guided the destinies of nations and peoples.

Those of our forefathers who first promulgated the rules of procedure for this Legislature, provided that each day's work should be opened with a prayer to that Divinity which shapes our end.

During this session the day's work in this House has been begun by the eloquent prayers of our Chaplain, the Reverend Lester C. Updegrave, and the Members of the House feel grateful for the help and inspiration that they have brought; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of this House, appreciative of the services of the Chaplain, and the long hours that he spent in preparing his inspirational utterances extend to him our deepest and most sincere thanks and direct the Chief Clerk of the House to transmit to him a copy of this resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Lancaster who is a man of few words places his blessing upon this resolution.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair regrets that the Chaplain is not present.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. TROUT offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1943.

So long as newspaper correspondents of the Nation are as fair and unbiased in reports of public affairs as have been the newspaper men in attendance at this session of the General Assembly, the freedom of the press in the United States will not be threatened with suppression.

In every way and on every occasion, the representatives of the press have been courteous and gentlemanly and fair; therefore be it

Resolved, By the Members of this House, that we extend to the gentlemen of the press, who have been with us during this session, our most sincere thanks for their constant fairness and for their untainted reports of our proceedings, and we congratulate them upon maintaining the high principles which should ever be practiced and upheld by the men of their privileged profession; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of their association.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Chairman, I just want to say that you are mistaken; I was not where you thought I was.

I want to convey a little information to the Members of the House and to the gentlemen of the Press. For the past thirty years I had the pleasure and opportunity of periodically, when certain spasms took hold of me, of writing an editorial, but my editorial days are going to end at the end of this session. The proposition was made to me the other day by the Minority Floor Leader, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, that due to the fact that he had been reading some of my editorials he now is going to take charge of the editorial columns of my paper. He is going to write the editorials and I am going to read them, so the Democratic party can expect some things that they will probably agree are better than the editorials I have been writing.

The gentlemen of the Press, I think, have given the House and the proceedings of the House fair treatment. We cannot always agree with what they say, but they are not infallible, and as a rule I think give a very fair picture of the proceedings of the House. I believe we owe a great deal to the gentlemen of the Press for the publicity which they are enabled to give.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, is Mr. Cummings of the Philadelphia Inquirer a member of the Press, or would he come within this resolution?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thinks Uncle Domin' it would be so included.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Chairman, am I correct? If my memory serves me rightly I heard the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare, this afternoon read an article written by the gentleman, Mr. Cummings, in which he referred to the Democrats as skunks. Some of the boys on this side of the House before voting on this resolution would like you to call on the gentleman, if he is in the House, so we can give him our congratulatory message.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Taylor.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I have a resolution to introduce tonight, and I am going to take advantage of this opportunity. I have been a Member of this House for three sessions, and this is the first time I have had the opportunity of addressing the House. I am going to take advantage of that opportunity. You know in war, as in peace, in legislative halls and out of legislative halls men are sometimes prone to forget the forgotten man. They are sometimes prone to forget the man behind the gun, and I have a resolution tonight which has been handed to me which recognizes one of the men behind the gun one of the forgotten men.

I have listened with a great deal of interest and appreciation to remarks with reference to our Speaker, with reference to the Majority Leader, with reference to the Minority Leader, with reference to the Whip on this side of the House, with reference to the Whip on the other side of the House, and all those other people including Mr. Habbyslaw and Bill Roan and the employees and officers of the House, but I want to present a resolution and ask this House to give its unanimous support to a man by the name of Braggins, by name it is Freddy, by middle name, according to my resolution it starts with an "E". He is listed as the head Printing Order Clerk in the Bureau of Publications of the Department of Property and Supplies. This resolution goes on to say that in a business way he has been a wizard in printing. It says years and years ago he was a printer's devil and now he is a devilish good printer.

I ask the consent of this House to offer this resolution for one of those men behind the gun, one of those forgotten men that work when you and I have gone to our beds and slept in the arms of Morpheus.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. TAYLOR offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1943.

In the State Manual and in the Capitol Telephone Directory, appears the name of Frederick E. Braggins, listed as Head Printing Order Clerk in the Bureau of Publications of the Department of Proper and Supplies.

The name is unfamiliar to many Members of this House and the title means nothing to any of them, but to those whose worry it is to see that the printing is promptly and properly done, the name Braggins is synonymous with wizardry.

Years and years ago he was a Printer's Devil, and now he is a devilish good printer.

It is his job to see that bills are printed according to copy and that amendments are properly inserted, which is no mean accomplishment and at this job he is a master.

It is his artistry and ability that has made an early adjournment possible; therefore be it

Resolved That this House extends its congratulations to the Wizard of the Printery for the success he has achieved during this session and its thanks for his untiring efforts in making that success possible; and be it further

Resolved, That as an evidence of its gratitude and in the nature of an award of merit, it officially pronounces him and awards to him the degree of Master Printer and directs the Chief Clerk of the House to certify to such award by forwarding to Frederick E. Braggins a copy of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was unanimously adopted.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time we have consumed has been rather lengthy. We have a few more parts really to this program, the presentation of the gifts to the officers of the House, and then some other presentations that have been planned. I might advise you these gifts will all be made in the form of bonds, and there will be appropriate presentation made of them. We will have a recess as relates to this part of the program and proceed with the regular order of business of the House, that we may dispose of other business on the calendar, and we will again take up this program a little later in the evening.

THE SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Stockham, for presiding.

It was, therefore, unnecessary to print a special report.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE
ON SENATE BILL No. 311

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 311, Printer's No. 483.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering Senate Bill No. 311, entitled: An Act relating to appointments reclassifications and promotions made under any civil service system of this Commonwealth after the effective date of this act until a period after the cessation of hostilities making such appointments of war duration providing for examinations at the end of such period suspending inconsistent laws saving the right to return to former position and status suspending powers and duties of the Personnel Director of the State Civil Service Commission for a limited period and conferring powers on the State Civil Service Commission.

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

Geo. N. Wade,
M. Harvey Taylor,
(Committee on the part of the Senate.)

Edwin Winner,
David P. Reese, Jr.
(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives)

An Act relating to appointments reclassifications and promotions made under any civil service system of this Commonwealth after the effective date of this act until a period after the cessation of hostilities making such appointments of war duration providing for examinations at the end of such period and providing for experience credit for men and women honorably discharged from the armed forces or the uniformed services of the United States suspending inconsistent laws saving the right to return to former position and status suspending powers and duties of the Personnel Director of the State Civil Service Commission for a limited period and conferring powers on the State Civil Service Commission

Section 1 In order that the men serving in the armed forces of the United States and the women serving in the uniformed services directly connected with the armed forces of the United States during the present hostilities shall not be put to a disadvantage because of such service in securing public employment under the several civil service systems of this Commonwealth through examinations held for permanent appointments and permanent appointments pursuant thereto made during their absence all appointments reclassifications and promotions to positions in any department board commission or state agency of this Commonwealth that is now or hereafter becomes subject to civil service requirements under any law rule or regulation of any department board commission or state agency that are made after the effective date of this act shall be war-duration appointments until appropriate eligible lists can be established after the cessation of all hostilities as hereinafter provided

Section 2 Each such appointment reclassification and promotion hereafter made by the appointing authority shall be made under and in accordance with such rules and regulations as may with the approval of the Executive Board established by The Administrative Code of 1929 as amended be adopted by the department board commission or state agency having or whose head has the power of appointment or has supervision over other appointing authorities. All appointments reclassifications and promotions made under the authority of this act shall continue until the same can be filled from employment and promotion lists established as the result of examinations given by the Personnel Director or other appropriate officer or agency on or after a date as hereinafter provided in the manner and subject to the provisions of the Civil Service Act or other applicable law rule or regulation. Any person who accepts war-duration appointments reclassifications or promotions shall have the right of return to their former positions and status in the Classified service.

In evaluating experience in order to compute the final rating attained in any examination to establish eligible lists as provided for in this section persons honorably discharged from any branch of the armed service of the United States or from any woman's uniformed service directly connected therewith shall not be given less credit for experience than would have been given for continued experience in the position held at the time of induction into service.

Section 4 The powers and duties of the Personnel Director of the State Civil Service Commission are hereby suspended for the duration of the war and until six months after the cessation of all hostilities but the State Civil Service Commission shall exercise such powers and duties of the Director as are not inconsistent with the provisions of this act or with any rules and regulations adopted by the department board or state agency having or whose head has the power of appointment. Provided however that the Personnel Director shall exercise such powers and duties as the State Civil Service Commission may authorize him to exercise.

Section 5 The provisions of the act approved the fifth day of August one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 752) entitled "An act regulating and improving the civil service of certain departments and agencies of the Commonwealth vesting in the State Civil Service Commission and a Personnel Director certain powers and duties providing for classification of positions adoption of compensation schedules and certification of payrolls imposing duties upon certain officers and employees of the Commonwealth authorizing service to other State departments or agencies and political subdivisions of the Commonwealth in matters relating to civil service defining certain crimes and misdemeanors imposing penalties making certain appropriations and repealing certain acts and parts thereof" in so far as the same are inconsistent with the provisions of this act and every other act and part of act inconsistent therewith are hereby suspended so long as this act shall remain in effect.

Section 6 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment and remain in effect until eligible lists have been established and appointments made as provided herein.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, every bill that comes before this House has a story and every bill has a reason. Senate Bill No. 311, is commonly called by the Press, whose word we take for it, the Civil Service Ripper Bill. To begin with, the bill itself has been protested against to my knowledge by every decent non-partisan independent group of persons in Pennsylvania. I understand the League of Women Voters, the Committee of Seventy in Philadelphia and various other good government leagues throughout the state have opposed this bill.

This is what I think the history of this bill is. Back in 1941 a resolution was proposed to put several of the departments of the Commonwealth under one general civil service head. That bill received the approval of the Republican Senate and the Democratic House and was signed by Governor James and became law. At that time the Liquor Control system was under its own merit system, the Public Assistance was under its own merit system, but the departments of Health and Welfare were not. I too believe, Mr. Speaker, that the purpose of the civil service bill of the 1941 session was to freeze into office certain jobholders, to make certain that should the election of 1943 not go as the party in power wished, at least those persons might be saved their place.

I think civil service properly administered is a good thing. But, Mr. Speaker, we now have the conference report on the Wade-Taylor bill, or as someone has facetiously said, the Taylor-Made Civil Service Bill before us. As it was originally introduced it was a pure out and out ripper without regard to anything but its desire to make jobs free from the restraint of civil service. At the instance of the House and at my offering, certain amendments were inserted to make certain that what the Governor publicly said some time ago, that the men in service would not be discriminated against in the matter of civil service appointments, would come true.

I proposed that civil service should be suspended in the following way: that those persons who would be war duration employes, those persons who would be added to the rolls from the time of the enactment of the bill and the signature by the Governor would be temporary employes in the sense that they would not be credited by experience in the job, so that when the soldier came home to take examinations to qualify for a position the experience which the man at home had received would not be counted up against the soldier who came back, so that in establishing eligibility lists they would be on an equal footing at that time.

After this House adopted that amendment and sent it to the Senate, they refused to concur. The bill was then sent into a conference committee. That conference committee has deleted a previously unanimously House-adopted amendment, which was aimed solely at the returning veterans, and in its place there was put in the following clause:

In evaluating the experience in order to compute the final rating attained in any examination to establish eligible lists as provided for in this section persons honorably discharged from any branch of the armed service of the United States or from any woman's uniformed service directly connected therewith shall not be given less credit for experience than would have been given for continued experience in the position held at the time of induction into service.

Reduced to its practical and basic terms that means this: when the soldier returns home, if he has remained only a buck private or maybe a corporal or sergeant the amount of experience that could be credited in his examination for a position on the eligibility list could not rise higher than a war duration employe or any other person who at that time sought to come into the system.

There is nothing in the bill that would prevent giving credit to the experienced outsider who is asking to come into the system for his experience during the time the soldier was away fighting for his country, so that the returning veteran would definitely be at a disadvantage in competing with the so-called outsider.

Then let me point to another part of the bill:

The powers and duties of the Personnel Director of the State Civil Service Commission are hereby suspended for the duration of the war and until six months after the cessation of all hostilities but the State Civil Service Commission shall exercise such powers and duties of the Director as are not inconsistent with the provisions of this act or with any rules and regulations adopted by the department board or state agency having or whose head has the power of appointment provided however that the Personnel Director shall exercise such powers and duties as the State Civil Service Commission may authorize him to exercise.

Now, Mr. Speaker, some parts of this bill have already been eliminated, but I say to you that the plan works something like this: now that the election is over it will be perfectly all right for the Republican machine to unfreeze the people in the Welfare Department and the Department of Health. I don't know that they will unfreeze those in Public Assistance, because I believe public demand will refute any attempt to do that, so it leaves me with but one conclusion to reach, and that is this, you will remember that previous to the last election the people that worked for the Liquor Control Board under the merit system conducted a campaign for an increase in their very low wages. As a result of the refusal of the then Governor to meet with them and discuss their grievances as to low pay, they stopped working in order to bring to the public's attention in a forcible manner the bad conditions under which they worked.

It became a matter of good politics then to increase their wages, and it became a matter of better politics at the same time to increase the wages of all state employes by fifteen per cent, so that while the Liquor Store employes were taken care of to some extent the others were taken care of at the same time. But here's the catch, here's the purpose of the bill, the Liquor Control Board employes are members of an organization that seeks to collectively bargain for them; they cannot be used as political tools. In fact the current opinion is that they are opposed to the party in political power, although they can take no action, and in order to clean them out of their jobs and replace them by party hacks, —although I don't see why any self-respecting politician would take such steps in order to make a political haven for political workers, this bill is designed and for no other purpose. It is to get rid of the so-called obnoxious workers in the Liquor Control system.

Of course I cannot give you the blueprint and I cannot tell you what is in the mind of the sponsor of this bill, but I venture this prediction now, and I am sure it will come to pass, that before many moons have gone by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control system will be a place of refuge for political workers without regard to their ability or without regard to their merit.

That, Mr. Speaker, is what this bill does, and nothing else. As I said before, I do not think this administration would have the guts to rip out the Public Assistance merit system; I do not think that they would dare do it, but they are doing it to the Liquor Control system, and you might just as well know what the true story is and ask the sponsors of the bill. If they will tell you what the true story is they will either admit that that is what it is for or they will merely turn aside and bid you the time of day.

Therefore, I ask you to vote down and not give approval to this conference report.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I just want to make a few brief remarks regarding the conference report on Senate Bill 311. This particular bill as it has been amended in the House and in the conference report has restored practically all of the features that are contained in the existing law. The board has been restored, the Director of Civil Service, the authority has again been granted to the Director. The only change that is actually being made is that for the duration of the war, upon the final enactment of this bill employes shall be provisional employes for the duration of the war and six months thereafter.

The bill provides and directs that the board, or Director of civil service shall set up the machinery to again give examinations to qualify for the various civil service positions in the Commonwealth.

As far as the Liquor Control Board is concerned I think the gentleman has probably stretched more than a point because under the existing law the provisions of the act are very broad. I think he will also admit that under existing law the Governor may fire practically without asking any questions, or if it were the desire of the administration now in power to rip that particular board or its employes, it could be done under existing law.

We well recall that under the administration of Governor James there were a number of people in the employ of the Liquor Control Board that were dismissed for the good of the service. I think the present law provides that the Governor can dismiss for the good of the service, and that I think in the remarks of the gentleman concerning the Liquor Control Board was certainly stretching more than a point.

As I previously stated, the way this act has been amended, it restores the Board's and the Director's authority; provides for provisional employes for the duration of the war, and those returning from the service of our country will have the opportunity to participate in competition for the various positions under Civil Service within the Commonwealth. I, therefore, ask that the conference report on Senate Bill 311 be adopted.

Mr. WELSH. Mr. Speaker, I was absent a few moments but I heard the remarks of the Majority Floor leader. I only got the tail-end of the remarks of the Minority Floor Leader. In looking over the conference report on Senate Bill No. 311 I notice that there are no minority signers to it. Could the Chair explain that to my satisfaction?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that the minority Members probably refused to sign.

Mr. WELSH. Is that true in both the Senate and the House, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The Chair can only speak for the House, but apparently that is also true of the Senate.

Mr. WELSH. Do I understand then that the minority Members will file separate reports, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The conference report under the Rules of the House must be signed by the majority of the committee of both Housees.

Mr. WELSH. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

APPOINTMENT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1071

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has insisted upon its amendments, non-concurred in by the House of Representatives, to House Bill No. 1071, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2051) entitled "An act relating to public assistance providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children aged persons blind persons and other persons requiring relief providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with and to accept and disburse moneys received from the United States Government for assistance to such persons providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Board Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance pensions for the blind old age assistance and the State Emergency Relief Board" declaring the legislative intent restricting the powers of the Department of Public Assistance and the State Board of Public Assistance extending the powers of county boards of assistance and making provision reciprocal with other states for assistance to certain aged persons

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House recede from its non-concurrence in the amendments made and insisted upon by the Senate and concur in the Senate amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I desire for the purpose of the record to clarify the situation as far as it applies to House Bill No. 1071. The bill as passed by the House contained amendments inserted on second reading eliminating the provisions for filing restitution bonds by recipients of public assistance.

The Senate deleted that provision from the bill. It came back here to the House, and the House this afternoon non-concurred by a roll call vote on the amendments offered by the Senate. The Senate has insisted upon its amendments, and the bill is now back before us for action.

I would like to make a statement to the Members of the House, calling your attention to the particular status of these things which have been referred to as restitution bonds and whatnot in our law. There has always been liability on the part of those persons receiving assistance from the state to make restitution when they received funds or have assets capable of making restitution. That has been the common law, that has been the nonsupport law of 1918, that is the law more recently enacted, and that is the law at the present day. This particular doctrine has been recently annunciated by the Supreme Court of this Commonwealth which I want the Members of the House to know reported in 336 Pa. The law is very definite that if any person has assets he must make restitution to the Commonwealth, or restitution must be made from those assets, may I put it that way.

Now, here are two ways in which this can be done; it can be done by the Commonwealth bringing suit against each and every recipient of assistance and obtain judgment, which judgment would be a lien on the property, any real estate that the recipient might own. The second way is that of requiring the recipient to sign a certificate or paper stating that he recognizes the liability to the Commonwealth and agrees that when that property is transferred out of his hands or the hands of his immediate family, restitution will be made to the Commonwealth. There is the situation, and the question is which is the easiest way for the Commonwealth to obtain reimbursement to which the Commonwealth is entitled?

In 1937 the then Attorney General, Bard, wrote an opinion in which he said:

It seems to be highly important that the Department of Public Assistance should expedite collections from these relief recipients by requiring them to furnish bond pending the collection or confession of judgment, thereby eliminating the necessity of bringing suit against the relief recipient.

In 1939 this was affirmed by Attorney General Reno, and has of course been the law and is the law at the present time. We, therefore, have this situation, that we either allow the relief recipient to continue to make restitution to the Commonwealth or we place the burden upon the Commonwealth to lien each and every relief recipient for the amount of relief that he has received so that that may be a lien upon his real estate. That would mean an enormous volume of litigation and court costs; a process to be served upon return day in court, judgment would be a lien upon his real estate. That would cost approximately fifty or sixty dollars for each and every case, and that of course would be a cost taxable against the defendant, the same as any other defendant in any suit of assumpsit. That of course would place an additional cost or burden upon the recipient of assistance, to say nothing of the inconvenience. The total cost of all these proceedings would be between two and three million dollars. At the present time the Commonwealth has about eight thousand judgments running to its use from relief recipients, and the moment this law is enforced they of course would be wiped out. The Commonwealth would have to bring suit against all of the recipients, and the effective date of the lien or judgment would be the date on which the judgment would be entered. All of the liens that would be entered subsequently to the original judgment bond given to the Department would be pushed out of their priority, and the Commonwealth would at the very end in many cases get practically nothing.

Members of the House, this bill is not the act to be amended or the desired purpose of the amendments to be carried out, because the act to be amended would be the support law, and this is not an amendment to the support law.

I would inform the Members of the House that these are the reasons why it is requested that the House do concur in the amendments inserted by the Senate, for the simple reason that relief recipients under the law make restitution according to law.

Secondly, it would place a terrific burden upon the recipients to be sued, to require the Commonwealth to sue them to enforce the rights of restitution, and I submit to the House that the present system is much more advantageous, much simpler and much more desirable than would otherwise be necessary. I submit to the House that we should concur in the amendments inserted by the Senate.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I am not only surprised, but I am amazed at my good friend from Lancaster, Mr. Alspach, at this time trying to screen this bill with legal technicalities. It comes to me with ill grace that he would arise. When this bill was before this House no arguments were made of a legal nature; no arguments were made this afternoon of a legal nature, and it seems to me that if we want to pass this act instead of trying to get behind the law which has nothing to do with this act, we ought to tell the real reason that we must pass it with the amendments as deleted by the Senate.

The gentleman is a lawyer and is an able lawyer. He knows, or he should know that this amendment has nothing to do with the support act. He knows or he should know that, and if he doesn't know he can easily find out that the Commonwealth under the support law that he talks about could utilize best with this act the remedies it has always had if it wishes to utilize those remedies.

The gentleman says this is the easiest way out for the Commonwealth. With that I agree, but it is the hardest way out for those aged persons who cannot be here tonight to speak for themselves. They have no lobby here. I am not against lobbyists, it is the right of everyone to come here and lobby for anything he wants so long as he does not violate any law. These people have no lobbyists; some of them are aged and infirm, some of them can hardly move around, and we must speak for them.

Mr. Speaker, rather would my right hand forget its cunning and my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth than I turn my back on these aged, defenseless, helpless people and let them be brought into a maze of legal technicalities that have nothing to do whatsoever with the amendments taken out by the Senate.

The basic principle of this amendment is correct. When you placed this amendment in the law we knew that the people on relief would go back to gainful occupations. We know or should know that the aged do not get younger in years, but they get older, and that this assistance to them is a permanent thing. It is the easiest way out for the Commonwealth, but we have aged cases and every man in this House has had aged cases coming to him, but the Commonwealth, before he can get assistance, puts a lien of two thousand dollars or three thousand dollars against his house, and if his roof is leaking, if his plumbing is falling down, if he wants to protect the roof over his head, the roof of the home which is the only shelter he has, the lien of the Commonwealth stands over it, and under the law the Attorney General has no power to waive that lien, even if the house falls to the ground.

It is the easiest way out, but I repeat, if we are to take the easiest way out, which is the most cruel and the hardest way for those aged persons who cannot stand here and speak in their own behalf, then I say to you, Mr. Speaker, we have come to the end of a democratic form of government.

I am not going to ask for a roll call, I am not going to try to defeat this bill; I am going to let the record speak for itself, but I say to you that the spirit of these aged people that we are crucifying because we fear to ask the Senate why, will some day come back in the conscience of every man here and I am sure we will be ashamed of our actions.

We could have appointed a conference committee, we could have asked the Senate why. We cannot lose this bill. I know that as well as anybody else, because embodied in this bill is the repeal of another vicious provision, the Eckels Milk Law, and the guns are at our heads. Let us not deceive anybody by saying that we are passing this bill because it is the easiest way out for the Commonwealth.

Mr. FREED. Mr. Speaker, I rise more as a matter of record, because in studying this bill there are many things in it that I think are good. I have been fighting and trying to help these aged people. They have been my chief concern. I have given them a lot of time, and I shall continue to give them of my time and help just as long as I am able to do so.

I agree with the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, wholeheartedly, but I don't want to lose the rest of the bill, the good parts of the bill. I have had hundreds of people come to see me in my district. I am having a lot of these people come to see me today, but the one thing I don't want to do is lose the good part. I will take three-quarters instead of losing all, so I ask the rest of the Members to vote for it.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, we, the people on this side of the House, resent the implication that the Republican party is trying to crucify the old people. That is the farthest thing from the minds of each and every Member on this side of the House. I think the Members on this side of the House are unanimous on that score. I think the record will show that the Republican party has done much for the elderly people of this Commonwealth; I think the record will show and the history of legislation will show that the Republican party has always been aware of the needs of our elderly people; that the Republican party has always lived up to and has been equal to the situation so far as elderly people are concerned. We resent greatly any implications that we are trying to crucify the old people.

The explanation I have made concerning the reimbursement bond is an explanation based on sound law. If the gentleman from Allegheny will take time to read the decision of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, I think he will agree with me. As a matter of fact in discussion he rather disagreed with me but wound up by agreeing that that is the law, but he says he is sorry. If you are seeking to accomplish this purpose this is not the act to amend. I want the record to show, and I think all of the members on this side of the House want the record to show, that the Republican party at the present time, and I am certain in the future, will be planning to be one hundred percent for the old people, always solicitous for their welfare and always equal to the occasion whenever occasion presents itself.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I don't know why the gentleman made an inference from my remarks as to the Republican party. I never said anything in my remarks about the Republican party and I don't say anything tonight. Let the record speak for itself.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Alspach.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALSPACH. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, not being an attorney, but knowing that this bill affects practically all of my district, this relief that is given out by the Commonwealth, is there any of that money that comes from the Federal Government?

Mr. ALSPACH. The relief money, is that what the gentleman means?

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. This old age assistance, Mr. Speaker. Is there any of that money that comes from the Federal Government?

Mr. ALSPACH. Yes, half of it, fifty percent, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, when the aged people put up a bond with the Commonwealth and receive one thousand dollars, does five hundred dollars of that when they reimburse the Commonwealth go back to the Federal Government?

Mr. ALSPACH. To the best of my knowledge, no.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Well then, Mr. Speaker, the Commonwealth would gain money by lending it out to those old people, wouldn't they?

Mr. ALSPACH. Will the gentleman say it again, repeat the question?

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. If the Commonwealth were to lend me a thousand dollars to keep me in my old age, Mr. Speaker, and half of that thousand the Commonwealth got from the Government; then at my death my children would pay back the Commonwealth one thousand dollars, isn't that correct?

Mr. ALSPACH. That is correct, but half of the reimbursement would be credited, of course, to the Federal Government. I know they would receive the credit.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Does the gentleman mean the Commonwealth gives that back to the Federal Government?

Mr. ALSPACH. You don't give it back; it is a credit, a bookkeeping transaction, Mr. Speaker. It amounts to the same thing but there is no money transferred; it is a credit to the Federal Government.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, on February 3 of this year I introduced a bill which went to the Committee of Welfare to do away with these bonds. I was glad when Mr. Cordier amended this bill, because one of my neighbors, a couple who got somewhere around twelve or fourteen hundred dollars from the Commonwealth, when the husband died the widow had to sell that home for sixteen hundred dollars. She sold the home, and from the story I received the state of Pennsylvania came in and demanded eleven hundred dollars, which left her with three hundred dollars. Now, what I wanted to try to find out was, out of that eleven hundred dollars are they going to pay back the Federal government half of that? I don't know anything about bookkeeping, and I don't see anything in the bill where they are going to pay back the government. I admit with the other gentleman that the milk part of the bill we should vote for, but I am in doubt right now as to whether I want to concur with the Senate or kill the whole bill.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Heatherington, I might say that half of the amount which is returned to the Commonwealth is in effect returned to the United States as a credit upon the next month's payment by the United States to the Commonwealth. In other words, you understand the United States contributes half of the money paid out in that particular branch of the system to the Commonwealth. It is a fifty-fifty proposition.

In answer to the gentleman's query, I think the answer would be that "from the stories I have heard";—I think that is the whole trouble. I think some facts that he has are rather garbled. Understand, Members of the House, the provisions of the act definitely provide that the property shall not be sold during the lifetime of the recipient or the surviving spouse. In other words there is no requirement that the property be sold unless and until it passes into outside hands, at which time the Commonwealth steps in and requires restitution of the money. In other words the provision is written into the law specifically forbidding the Commonwealth from selling the property during the lifetime of the recipient of relief.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I had hoped very sincerely that we would have enabled at this session of the Legislature to pass legislation alleviating the fear of these many hundreds of aged relief recipients, occasioned by the insistence of the Commonwealth on the signing of these reimbursement bonds.

I think those people who have been interested in this question on both sides of the House have put up a very good fight on this question and we have given a very clear expression of our views on it by insertion of the amendment on the floor of this House. We have given sufficient expression so that it may possibly be well for the Department of Public Assistance to consider the advisability of going easy on insisting upon the reimbursement from these aged people. Certainly the number of people on relief now and the amount of money involved that the Commonwealth may get through reimbursement is infinitesimal when you look at it in retrospect, as compared with the amount of money that the Commonwealth collects.

I feel that we have gone as far as we can go. I feel that sufficient expression has been given so that perhaps the Welfare Committee of the House and Senate may consider the feasibility of recommending in the future the amending of the support law of Pennsylvania to the end that those aged people will be exempt from the law insofar as reimbursement is concerned.

I am supporting the position of the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Alspach, because I realize that it would be fatal to lose this bill with the other good things that are in it, and it is for these reasons, Mr. Speaker, that I ask support of the amendments.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, this afternoon when I spoke on this bill I stated that it is always in the rush at the end of a legislative session that we find these matters that are so interesting to the poor people, and the old people of Pennsylvania.

I want to say to you that the specially privileged already have their legislation well passed and in the hands of the Governor. We find legislation now that affects the lives of the people of Pennsylvania, those people that Mr. Brown says have no lobbyists. We realize that we are in the dying days of the session. I have realized it every time that a session came to an end in Harrisburg, and I have preached to you men that very story.

I tried this afternoon to explain to you that we are at war; there isn't any question that a lot of people think that we should fold up and go home, but I don't feel that way about it, and I don't see any necessity for a short session of the Legislature. I have been in sessions of the Legislature when we were here until June and until July. I say to you that this question rests on the backs of the Members of the Legislature regardless of whether you say it does or not.

I understand from Mr. Hetherington that he has introduced legislation in this House to correct the evil of bonding and the placing of bonds on the old people. Does the bill that Mr. Heatherington introduced amend the particular act that the gentleman is talking about over here? How much longer would it take to get the bill out of committee and pass it in the state Legislature? Do you mean to tell me that you men would refuse to stay here a few extra days or a few extra weeks in order that the poor people of Pennsylvania, the old people of Pennsylvania would not have to face this issue again for possibly two more years? Gentlemen, you are not fooling anybody. I say to you that democracy is the finest thing in the world but I say to you that democracy will fail unless you men take your duties in Harrisburg seriously and say "We will stay here as long as it is necessary to pass the legislation that is needed."

I realize that no man is popular who gets up here and says these things. Possibly over in Germany, where men fought to try to protect some form of decent government they were not popular there. Possibly a lot of men were set up against the wall and were shot, but I say to you that I am no better fixed in this world than any man that sits on this side of the House or that side of the House; I am perfectly willing to stay here three more weeks if it is necessary to eliminate the bond that is placed on these old people, and I think you men ought to be big enough to do the same thing. If you think enough of democracy that you talk about here and the flag that you wave, then I say to you forget the almighty dollar for a few days and sit down and do the things that you should do.

I know those are harsh words; sometimes you have got to use harsh words. Do you ever stop to think of the old people, the roof is leaking and it is dripping in on them at night? No, you don't stop to think of them. If you did you would not be in such a hurry to go home; you would possibly get Mr. Heatherington's bill out of committee and sit down and pass it before you left Harrisburg.

Of course, we were told we were not going to be here at this time of night; we were going to be home. Tomorrow is Mothers' Day. Gentleman, I have heard and I know from experience that every session of the Legislature the same thing happens. How long do you think democracy is going to work unless you gentlemen change your minds and make it work? I admit it will go on a long, long time; possibly it went on a long, long time some place else before people woke up, but it will happen.

The gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Cordier, says that the Department should go easy. Yes, if you have some political friend the Department might go easy. Gentlemen, I am not pleading for the ones that have political friends. You have thousands of old people in the state; they haven't got any political friends; they haven't got anybody to go to. Those are the people we should be interested in, and if it is necessary to stay here I for one am willing to stay, and I don't have any more of the world's goods than any other man.

Of course I will admit that this bill is a very essential bill. I say to go along with this bill, don't vote against this bill,—no, I wouldn't vote against this bill. If the gentleman over here is right, and we are doing the wrong thing, why try to amend this act? That gentleman knows very well that is the right thing to do. He knows what act we should amend; he isn't fooling anybody; he isn't going to fool the people of Pennsylvania, the old people. He knows the act that should be amended, and if there isn't a bill in committee that amends it, let's get another one, let us stay here and pass that bill and pass this one too.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON RULES

Mr. LICHTENWALTER submitted a report from the Committee on Rules.

The report was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1943.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That this regular session of the General Assembly adjourn sine die Saturday, May 8, 1943 at 11:45 P. M.

Committee on Rules:

Ira T. Fiss
Franklin H. Lichtenwalter
Wilson L. Yeakel
D. Raymond Sollenberger
Lloyd H. Wood

RESOLUTION

Messrs. CHUDOFF and SAMUEL ROSE offered the following resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1943.

Congressman John Edward Sheridan, a well known figure in the hall of this House during the legislative sessions of 1935 and 1937, was first elected to Congress at the general election in 1938. He had also served as counsel for the Delaware River Bridge Commission.

We now find that he likewise pursued engrossing private interests. This evening's paper tells us that "Representative John E. Sheridan and Virginia Bethel Wight were married to-day at city hall by Municipal Court Judge Adrian Bonnelly;" therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby congratulate this benedict and his young bride, and wish them health, wealth and happiness throughout the years of their married life, which we hope will be many, and wholly unmarried by hardships and sorrow; and be it

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk to the Honorable and Mrs. John E. Sheridan at their home in Philadelphia.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 34, as follows:

An Act prescribing temporary emergency war provisions with respect to the administration of certain provisions of the school laws of this Commonwealth relating to days for schools to be in session closing schools and suspending classes temporary assignment and reassignment of teachers extension of transportation facilities payment of tuition in lieu of transportation and granting temporary farm and conservation employment certificates for certain pupils under certain conditions providing for full state subsidies when employing teachers holding Special Wartime certificates authorizing boards of school directors (or boards of public education) subject to the approval of the district or county superintendent to put such provisions into operation

Section 1 Whenever during the continuance of any war in which this Nation is or may become engaged it shall be found as a fact by the board of school directors (or board of public education) of any school district and so recorded on the minutes of a regular or special meeting of such board and certified to the Department of Public Instruction that the normal operation of the schools as required by the school laws of the Commonwealth in respect to any of the matters hereinafter set forth shall interfere with the prosecution of such war such board of school directors (or board of public education) shall have power subject to the approval of the district or county superintendent to put into operation in such school district any one or more temporary emergency war provisions authorized by this act but in no event longer than for a period of one year after the cessation of the hostilities of such war

Section 2 Subject to the provisions of the foregoing section of this act and subject to the approval of the district or county superintendent any board of school directors (or board of public education) may

(a) Keep the schools of the district in session such days and number of days per week as they shall deem necessary or desirable but no present provision of law requiring a minimum of one hundred eighty (180) session days as a school year shall be affected by this act

(b) Extend the length of the school days in such manner as to make it possible to complete and to accredit a calendar day as a full school day and a fractional portion of an additional school day

(c) Suspend temporarily the regular session of any class or classes or to close temporarily any school or all the schools of the district as an emergency war measure or when the Governor by proclamation so directs. The days on which the regular sessions of classes or schools are so suspended or closed shall be recorded and credited as if they were days taught. Provided That in no instance shall the sessions so suspended or closed exceed thirty school days during any school term for any pupil except by special wartime emergency proclamation by the Governor

(d) Adjust the assignment and reassignment of teachers in such fields subjects schedules and semesters or other periods of work and in such schools as their preparation experience and certification may qualify them. No such temporary emergency assignment or reassignment shall reduce the annual compensation any teacher now receives nor shall the emergency assignment reassignment or the return to the original type of assignment when the emergency has ended be deemed to be a demotion under the tenure provisions of the school laws of this Commonwealth

(e) Grant farm and conservation employment permits to pupils who have attained the age of fourteen years and have completed the sixth grade or equivalent thereof and to enable group participation by pupils regularly enrolled in schools in seasonal farm and conservation activities. The word "conservation" as used in this clause shall mean the conserving preserving guarding or protecting of crops forests and rivers

(f) Accept the certification of the family physician of any child as satisfactory proof of suitable physical condition for the issuance of any farm or conservation permit granted during the period of emergency

(g) Make such arrangements for extending the use of school buses or other school transportation facilities as may seem desirable for the transportation of teachers as well as pupils or for otherwise furthering the war and civilian defense effort

(h) Provide in lieu of pupil transportation required by law tuition to a school in another district when educational facilities can thus be made available without requiring such pupils to walk more than two miles to the school to which the pupil has been assigned. The above provisions shall also apply in any case where the Department of Public Instruction determines that a revision of present transportation practices will result in the more economical use of school facilities and the conservation of transportation equipment

(i) Obtain the full State subsidy provided for fully and regularly certified teachers when at the request of the responsible local district or county superintendent of schools the Superintendent of Public Instruction has issued to a teacher temporarily employed a Special Emergency Wartime Certificate to teach in the subject or field for which wartime emergency conditions make it necessary to employ such teacher

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose Senate Bill No. 34. The people of this country have been fighting as long as I can recall to enforce school laws, to enforce education. Everywhere you go they insist upon education, and we find at this time that they use the term "emergency" to reduce the age limit when children can leave school. At the present time throughout the length and breadth of the country the cities are taking effective action to protect the children. Delinquency among children will increase if they are permitted to leave school at fourteen years of age. These children if left out of school at fourteen will never return again to school, because this law permits this to continue for a year after the war ceases.

I am sure we are more interested in looking after the children at the age of fourteen than anything that would weaken our present school system. We must strengthen our school system, not weaken it, and I am asking the Members of the House to consider it from that viewpoint. There is no reason for this bill at this time, and there isn't any reason why fourteen and fifteen year olds cannot give the necessary assistance at home without interfering with their attendance at school. The teachers' tenure rights will be destroyed by the provisions of this bill. Legitimate needs of the various school districts are being met now under the present school law, and why should we at this time do something detrimental to the Americans of tomorrow? I don't think it is necessary to discuss it much further if you will give the proper consideration to this important legislation. I ask you to vote against this bill.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I want to make but a few brief remarks. I don't want to take the time of the House in support of this measure. The war effort, I think we will all agree, at least we on this side of the House should receive priority. Anything that interferes with it must be suspended for the duration, and we must be careful that this is done with due understanding and consideration. Pupils between the ages of fourteen and eighteen, with a minimum of sixth grade education certainly are mentally and physically able to assist on the farms of Pennsylvania for short periods of time as this bill provides. It is healthful and wholesome and will be of tremendous value to the war effort. Neither the soldier nor the civilian can fight the war without food. Food is the basic need of all our efforts. It must come first because the worker must be physically able to produce the arms so vitally needed. Therefore, with our food production falling twenty-five to thirty per cent, as it has been variously predicted, the situation certainly is a grave one. This is only an emergency measure and I say we should cooperate with the Commander-in-Chief in his efforts and in his pleas for greater food production not only in Pennsylvania but throughout the nation. In other words let us find the way to help, and not an excuse for failing to contribute in every way possible.

I want to say to the gentleman from Allegheny concerning his remarks as far as the tenure act is concerned, it has been brought to my attention by a few people that there might be such a possibility. If the gentleman will take the time to read the amendments that were inserted yesterday, that were scrutinized by school teachers interested in that particular problem he will note that that feature has been entirely deleted from this bill.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I ask the members to support this measure.

Mr. BENTZEL. Mr. Speaker, this to my way of thinking is probably one of the most important bills that has been presented in this House. Insofar as the absurdity is concerned, this bill from start to finish is useless. This bill is designed to wreck the Pennsylvania school system. This bill is drawn for the purpose of taking out of the country schools the youth of our nation. This bill is drawn for the purpose of taking out of school boys and girls that are past the sixth grade for the purpose of putting them to work. The matter of the city boy and the city girl has been deleted from this bill, because it is obnoxious insofar as taking a boy or girl into a domestic home or into manufacturing plants is concerned. I say to you gentlemen that this bill if it is enacted into law will wreck the country schools. I appeal to you Members from the rural districts to be careful with this piece of legislation. It has been designed that the boy or girl of the rural district shall attend school for one hundred eighty days. It is also designed that the school should be kept open more than nine months a year. It is also designed that the school teachers of our state in the rural districts will be obliged to work ten instead of nine months.

I would like to read from the New York Times of April 18, 1943. Dr. Donald DuShane, who is the Secretary of the National Education Association's Democracy commission, has this to say about putting youth to work. There were about twenty-five hundred teachers by the way, who attended this meeting at the Hotel Commodore, New York, and being one of our best authorities on the teaching profession he has this to say, and I quote:

Dr. DuShane called upon the teachers to unite in order to "save our schools and our democracy." He said: "I'm weary of teachers fighting each other, breaking up into small units and quibbling when the world is on fire."

The tendency to employ 'teen-age youth in industry "in the name of patriotism" was deplored by Dr. DuShane. Children of 13, 14 and even 12 are leaving school throughout the nation "to work in dead-end jobs," Dr. DuShane said, adding that when the draft age was lowered to 18 the best thing America could do was to keep every child in school until that age.

"This country does not need to grind up its children to win this war," he declared.

I think that is very important. I quote further:

Only the education of the masses of this country will save democracy, which will face its most serious trial in the post-war world, he asserted. He said it would be a "suicidal policy" to cut school budgets and put our children to work. Moreover, he warned that if we neglect the education of the 30,000,000 boys and girls in American schools today "we will have 30,000,000 young voters ripe for fascist leaders, as in Germany."

If democracy goes down and fascism rises, it will be because of lack of education of the masses, he warned.

I say to you gentlemen that I have sat here since the beginning of the session. I think I have been courteous to the Members who have spoken on this bill. At least I try to be. If you are not interested in the public school system, I say to you vote for the bill. If you are interested in the public school system I appeal to you be patient with me for just a few more minutes, and if my remarks have good common sense I will ask you to oppose the bill.

I quote further:

Dr. Bella V. Dodd called upon the teachers to be constantly on guard against enemies of education and democracy. Teachers should be concerned with their pupils not only five hours but twenty-four hours each day, she said.

Now as I said before, we find in this bill it says "temporary assignment and reassignment of teachers, extension of transportation facilities, payment of tuition—" and goes on to say just what the sponsors have in mind in order to keep these boys and girls out of school in the rural districts.

I read these amendments to this bill, but I want to point out to you gentlemen that we in this House passed House Bill 1082 which gave Governor Martin wartime control. I find here in this bill:

Provided that in no instance shall the sessions so suspended or closed exceed thirty days during any school term for any pupil except by special wartime emergency proclamation by the Governor.

I want you to bear with me just a moment and I think I can visualize for you just what this bill could do to our public schools in the rural sections.

This bill is so designed that the Superintendent of Schools may grant to all the country boys and girls past the sixth grade that they may absent themselves for thirty days. It does nothing at all about the machinery to be set up to bring these boys and girls back into schools. You men who are school teachers, especially in the rural districts should readily realize that when you grant this power to the Superintendent to allow these boys and girls to absent themselves from the schools, can you visualize what the school would be like and what the curriculum of the school would be like and just what would happen to the school system in the rural districts?

This bill is absolutely unessential for the reason that the Governor is given the right today to do the very thing that we are trying to do under this bill. I appeal to you Members of the House to defeat this bill or refer it back to the source from which it came. It is unnecessary, it is unfair to your school children in the rural school districts, and they will condemn you to the last day you live. If this bill passes it gives authority to take the children out of the schools when it is unnecessary. I challenge any man in the rural districts to tell me in their experiences with children of the ages outlined in this bill, where their parents have ever become involved in the law in taking their children out of school in order to help them with their agricultural work. Again I say this bill should not be passed, and I am going to appeal to the members of this House to vote down the bill.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to make a few statements on this Senate Bill No. 34. It is the purpose of this bill to do something that we would never do in peace time, but I think it is the only thing we can do in time of war. This bill has not been written hurriedly, it has been considered from all angles. We have had information gathered from various sources in the compilation of the bill.

The gentleman from York mentioned about the age. It might be interesting to know that we have been asked on this committee to lower this age in this emergency, and I would not accede to the wishes of those people who asked that. But we did feel that we could lower to the age of fourteen for those pupils who have passed the sixth grade work.

There was another statement made concerning the children being out of school, that it was not necessary. I wonder if we have given sincere thought to the fact that the mothers and wives have been taken out of the home to aid in the war efforts? It seems to me that is more of a tragedy than healthy boys going out to do work in the open air.

We have also taken back into the shops retired men, and those retired men felt it was their duty to go back, so when we think of disrupting the home, I doubt if it is a disruption to the extent that my good friend feels it might be.

Relative to the transportation he mentioned, we haven't done anything to harm transportation except to give power to the department to do a little changing of routes during this emergency and that only. It is very true that we have a duplication of routes. We have wasted time, we have waste of machinery in travelling the routes in transporting these boys and girls. That seems very foolish during war times. Each district jealously guards its own rights, therefore they will haul these boys and girls past the school several miles to another school where those boys and girls could walk a distance of a mile or two or less than that and be at another school and save this transportation. That is provided for in the bill. I do not believe that is a tragedy for the schools; I think it is helpful.

None of us wants to lower the standards of the schools; we do not aim to do that with this bill. There is one aim, and only, and that is to facilitate the education of the boys and girls, but at the same time that we can supply the farmers with help in war times and help to harvest the crops or save our forests or public works. Now, that is largely what the bill does. I don't see how you can condemn it. The only condemnation there could be is perchance if those who enforce the law would do so in an unjust and an unfair way.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, is this House of Representatives on war time?

The SPEAKER. The House is controlled by its own time.

Mr. LOVETT. May I further ask the Speaker if the state of Pennsylvania is on war time?

The SPEAKER. The time of the House is controlled by its adjournment resolution.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, is a motion to adjourn in order at all times in this House?

The SPEAKER. Not while a member has the floor. The Chair has recognized the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Mr. Speaker, my final statement is that I would ask the Members of this House to support this bill for the purpose of helping to prosecute the war on the home front.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I picked up a paper this evening in a restaurant in Harrisburg, and in the paper I find where the House of Representatives has passed a resolution observing the Sabbath day. I say to you gentleman now that it is five minutes past twelve o'clock, or Sunday morning.

I, therefore, move that this House do now adjourn until Monday night at 9:00 o'clock Eastern Standard Time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that the motion is not in order, because we have already passed an adjournment resolution.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, the important thing about this bill is that you are going to permit the parents to take children fourteen years old out of school, and that means that they will not go to school any more. Another thing is as far as my knowledge goes the Commander-in-Chief hasn't asked anyone up until now to suspend school laws and put children to work. When the time comes to put children to work the Commander-in-Chief and his aides in Washington will know when to give the word, and then is when to put the children to work, and not until then. What right have we to use the term "emergency" for the purpose of passing a bill that will lower the standards of the school law? I can't understand what you mean when you do that. If we need these boys and girls of fourteen years of age to win the war we will be told in plenty of time and they will be glad to do their part.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask whether a motion is in order to recess this House until Monday night at 9:00 o'clock?

The SPEAKER. The motion is not in order because an adjournment resolution has already been presented and adopted by this House.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill No. 34 that is now before the House will possibly be before this House for a long time. I would like to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I will answer one question, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LOVETT. Does this bill apply to any other district except the fourth class school districts?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. It does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. May I interrogate my colleague and friend, Mr. Rose, the Majority Whip? Maybe he will be a little kinder. How many questions will the gentleman answer?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. I will go half way, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. That's all right, Mr. Speaker. How many school districts does this apply to?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Two thousand four hundred fifty.

Mr. LOVETT. May I interrogate the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. I will, Mr. Speaker, but not a fourth question. I will answer one, or try to at least.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman says he will answer one question. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LOVETT. Does this bill apply to first class school districts?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Yes, it does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. May I interrogate the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Somerset permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HARE. I want to be fair with the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, if he will ask an intelligent question I will try to answer it.

Mr. LOVETT. Does the gentleman know any district that this bill does not cover?

Mr. HARE. Yes, a lot in Ohio, New York and New Jersey.

Mr. LOVETT. I am not tired, Mr. Speaker, and I haven't any place to go. If you are not in a hurry, boys, I am not.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman wish to talk on the bill further?

Mr. LOVETT. I would like to interrogate the fellow that loves the ladies.

The SPEAKER. No one seems to be willing to be interrogated.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, on Senate Bill No. 34 there are a few questions I would like to ask, and I would like someone on the other side to answer them if they will, anyone, and I will guarantee that there will only be a few.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. YESTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. YESTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know what the people of Pennsylvania would think if they knew what is going on here at the present time. There are amendments on the bills, but we don't know what they are. No, we are supposed to vote. They are not willing to give an intelligent answer when it is asked for.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland has the floor.

Mr. LOVETT. May I interrogate the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Sollenberger?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Yes, Mr. Speaker, for a reasonable length of time.

The SPEAKER. We would like to have the House adjourned in an orderly way. "Let's be fair."

Mr. LOVETT. That's all I ask, that they be fair.

The SPEAKER. Then let us stop these delaying tactics. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LOVETT. May I ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, if under this bill you close the entire school in a particular community, or do you let those boys or girls who receive certificates go out and work on the farm?

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Either of those statements, Mr. Speaker, or either of those questions is true. We could close the entire school for a limited period of time or an emergency permit would be given to a pupil for a limited period of time.

Mr. LOVETT. Or pupils, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER. Yes, or pupils.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, the point I am interested in in this particular bill is this; I realize as you do under this bill there could be farmers in the state of Pennsylvania who would have sons and daughters in school and those sons and daughters could continue to go to school while they issued certificates for boys and girls to go out and work on that particular farm that those sons and daughters were coming from. Now, that is a fact under this bill. This bill will apply to the boys and girls in school districts whose parents are poor, who will possibly have to ask for a permit to go out and work on farms of the fathers of children who remain in school.

Do you men realize that? Those are the things that are wrong with Senate Bill No. 34; those were the things that were wrong with the other bills that you passed at this session of the Legislature. I told you that your sons would not go to work in the factories when they were fourteen or sixteen, but you will drive the poor boys and girls into the factory.

Now you are going to drive them out of the schools and onto the farms.

I realize you get very impatient, the House gets impatient when we stand up here in the interests of those people who don't have a lobby here in Harrisburg. I realize that under the system in a democracy you fellows can do anything under the Constitution and under the Rules of the House. They are not doing anything under the Rules of the House over in Germany, because Hitler says what will be done. If I could only waken you fellows up to the fact that unless you go along with the Constitution in the democracy that you are all so proud of, unless you are willing to sacrifice a little bit in order to protect these poor children and do not allow them to be taken out of school and put on farms while the other man's children go to school you will not have that democracy. If this bill said that we would close the school in that particular district and that every one of these boys and girls went out on the farm, I would say you were nearer right; you wouldn't be showing any partiality between one and the other. But that is not what this bill says. I realize why you enact such a bill. If the emergency came from the President of the United States or the Commander-in-Chief, he would not issue an order that you could take certain boys and girls out of school, he would close the school and take all of them out.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to point out certain defects in this bill, if you will permit me. You know that the committee has labored very hard on this bill and they have attempted to make a decent bill out of it to help out on a serious problem. I know that the Members on this side of the House were totally in disagreement with what the Senate did originally, but these are the things that I would like to point to.

It has been alluded to that there are no restrictions against discrimination in knowing what pupils will be taken. All I know is that last year in a similar project all were taken simultaneously. This is what happened. The request was made that pupils be taken from schools when the parents' consent was asked and given. The pupils were asked to sign a paper, and that paper was a release executed to the person in charge at the time, relieving them of any liability for any damage or injury to those children, either in transportation or while working. Now, there is nothing in this bill which would give to the parents or the pupils any assurance first that they would have proper and adequate and safe transportation; second that they would have proper housing facilities and third that there would be any workmen's compensation insurance or any provisions for their insurance in case of injury.

Many of the Members of the House with whom I have talked about this bill have expressed a great deal of concern about those children who are sent to work on a farm and who will be working with complicated machinery. You and I know that you cannot get compensation insurance for boys and girls under fourteen. They will slide out because they cannot issue policies for children under sixteen; that is what I am concerned about. But if you cannot give us assurance about this bill as to transportation liability, if you cannot give us assurance as to workmen's compensation in case of injury, if you cannot give us assurance as to the payment of wages—and there is nothing in this bill that makes provision for that—then I think we are treading on dangerous ground. It is for these reasons we must be in opposition to this bill. If there were some way to take care of the evils and defects in this bill we might be for it, but without such corrections we can not go hastily into a proposition such as this.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows

Section 6 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I believe I should say as briefly as it can be said that Senate Bill 473 as it has been amended in this House represents a genuine contribution to the authority law of this state. Whatever contribution Senate Bill 473 makes to the authority law is made in the amendments that have been included in the bill in this House. When the bill came to the House it had apparently but one purpose, and that purpose was to withdraw the little authorities throughout the state from the supervision and the management of locally elected and appointed people, and place them under the jurisdiction of the Public Utility Commission.

Our amendments in the House have gone very much further; they have made clarifications and they have made limitations. They have provided for the means of doing things necessary to the proper operation of authorities that were not contemplated at all in the authority law. I know that when Senate Bill 473 came to the House a great many of the Members had been advised by their people back home, and particularly those people who are served by authorities and who have had to do with the organization and operation of authorities, to vote against this bill.

I also know that when the bill was presented to the House there was a great deal of undercurrent of dissatisfaction, and possibly misunderstanding of the purposes for which this bill was written.

The bill has a genuine value; it has provided for things that as I said before were not provided for at all in the original law. For example, the matter of joint authority has been fully covered. The matter of the manner of rate-making by those authorities now in existence and their relations to municipalities which are served by authorities, but not a part of the authority organization also has been covered. It includes under the projects that may be operated under the authorities incinerators which, as everyone knows who lives in a community that is rapidly building up, are now important and as time goes on will be far more important.

The provisions that are included in this bill have almost entirely to do with authorities now in existence, but there is left in Senate Bill 473 a reasonable proposition with respect to those authorities which may be organized hereafter. Any authority being organized hereafter will be organized under the jurisdiction and under the provisions of the law of the Public Utility Commission of this Commonwealth. In that sense the bill represents a compromise, but that compromise has been made after thoughtful study and after a wide consultation, and in the light of opinion of much expert authority and experience.

As the matter now stands while some of us still disagree with an authority being formed and managed under the jurisdiction of the P. U. C., there is an opportunity to try that out. There are many who feel that it will be a splendid thing that the P. U. C. shall have such jurisdiction. I do not, and I believe that the time will come when there will be a general clamor to have that power withdrawn from the authority law, but inasmuch as this bill as it is now written, with amendments, meets with general approval on our part and on the part of all those who are qualified to discuss the subject of municipal authorities, I am recommending it without reservation for final passage at this time.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, when Senate Bill 473 was first sent to the House and when it first came out of committee it represented to this side rather a good situation, because it put under the P. U. C. control of the acquisition price of the utility under municipal authorities. It is regrettable that the amendments were inserted just before the final day of the session, and it is regrettable that most of the Members of the House, because of the rush of work in the last days have been unable to sit down and research sufficiently to determine whether or not the amendments are good amendments or bad amendments. Frankly I tender the thought that possibly the amendments might possibly hinder the administration of the law; I am not sure of that, I do not know, I hope they do not, but in any event one thing has been accomplished, final acquisition cost and price will be under the P. U. C. jurisdiction. For that purpose and for that reason we must agree with the bill.

May I point out to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James, on page 19 that the amendment there was inserted and the use of rather peculiar language was made. On line 20 it is stated that "the W. P. A., Works Progress Administration—" I submit to the gentleman that it is not the intent of the W. P. A. to get into the picture because W. P. A. is all washed up. In that respect the bill is somewhat defective, but since there is no alternative, it will not be rendered useless. I wish the record to show that, because I would not want any suspicion in case of attack on the bill because of defects in the language that is used and which concerns an agency which is slowly drying up and disappearing. We will vote for this bill.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, the words "Works Progress Administration" we might well say is put there for a good purpose. It is quite likely that there will be another alphabetical agency set up, and it could have the same initials.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STONIER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to make a few remarks about Senate Bill 492, Printer's No. 371.

In the words of the immortal Al Smith, "Let's look at the word" or my friend Mr. Lovett, of Westmoreland, "Let's be fair."

This bill only concerns three counties, all in the anthracite region, Lackawanna, Luzerne and Carbon. These counties are all in poor financial condition and the economic condition in all of them is bad.

However, if you pass this bill our condition will be worse. In other words the great state of Pennsylvania is going to take away from us that which our home owners and tax payers have paid for and leave us liable for our equity in four or five institutions, two of which are the largest and best equipped mental institutions in the state, and leave us to pay our bonded indebtedness on the same.

I have no quarrel with the state of Pennsylvania taking these institutions away from us, but I do object to its making us pay our bonded indebtedness on the same.

I am not so foolish as to get up on the floor and believe this bill has not a good chance of passing. As a matter of fact I believe it will, as the heat has gone out from the Attorney General on the same.

There are twelve Republican legislators from these three counties and not one of them would introduce any legislation in regard to the same, or as a matter of fact, neither would any state Senator from any of the districts involved.

Then on the first of April the present bill, fifteen pages in length, was introduced by Senator Watkins of Schuylkill, a neighboring county.

I was elected by the people of Lackawanna county and the city of Scranton, in particular, and I feel that I would be derelict in my duty to my constituents if I did not protest this steal of my constituents' property and receive no reimbursement from the great state of Pennsylvania for the same.

One institution in Lackawanna county alone, the Hill-side Home, carries fire insurance of $1,865,000 on an eighty per cent basis or value of $2,330,000. That's a lot of money in anybody's language, especially so in the coal regions, on which the city of Scranton still has to pay $50,000 a year for the next seven years plus four and one-half per cent or over $400,000.

Gentlemen, they may not mean much to you, but they are box car figures to the owners of real estate in the city of Scranton, where a special tax will be necessary in the year 1944 to keep up on our bond maturities.

Probably not a word I have said will change a single vote on this measure, but I want you to consider that in my home town we have 3,500 empty homes and increasing daily, and think of the added expenses to the property owners if this bill becomes a law.

Many of you cannot realize the desperate straits in the anthracite region, especially where you have war plants and overcrowded housing conditions.

So when you vote, kindly consider the under dog in this great Commonwealth—the anthracite region—and in the words of Mr. Lovett "be fair."

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, the act of September 29, 1938 transferred to the Commonwealth all buildings acquired or erected by any city, county or institutional district for the care of mental patients. This bill, Senate Bill No. 492, amends that act to include boroughs, townships and wards, because it has been found that there are other institutions in these districts that were not named in the bill or in the original act. It is done to remove the doubt as to whether the act of 1938 is apropos of these hospitals. The amendments would add these additional words "boroughs, townships and wards." It follows that this step to amend the act is simply a corrective one. The institutions that have been taken over, as has been stated in the original act, have been taken over in the same fashion, and those cities and districts have been relieved of the costs of the operation of those plants. Those districts have had to pay off the bonded indebtednesses that were created at the time those institutions were built. These institutions in the various counties will be taken over in the same way, and it will relieve those districts of the costs of operation, but their paying of the bonded indebtedness will continue just the same. It seems that the commissioners of Lackawanna County have attacked the constitutionality of the act, but the Supreme Court declared it constitutional, and at this time I believe they have filed a petition to open up the decision to secure a ruling that the act does not apply to mental hospitals owned by boroughs, townships and city wards. The purpose in this instance is to add these, so that it is the desire to secure passage of this amendment prior to the day of the argument, which is to be held on May 24, in order to eliminate the objection that the act does not cover these four hospitals.

This is an equitable feature and places all these institutions on an equal basis. Other districts particularly in Philadelphia and Allegheny have been relieved of these expenses. They have paid or are paying on the bonds, and this does the same thing for the institutions in question, and it is right and proper that the law should be thus amended.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I find at this time I must rise in the name of the people of Lackawanna County in opposition to this legislation. I realize that perhaps what I may say will not have any affect upon the vote on this measure, and it will probably pass, but I feel I would be lax if I did not place the pleadings of those residents of Lackawanna County before this Legislature.

I can agree with the gentleman from Bucks up to a certain point. I agree that the bill passed in 1938 with perhaps this amendment is unfair. It is up to a certain point. We have a special condition in Lackawanna County. The citizens there have erected a number of beautiful institutions with their own funds. We ask for no special privilege that has not been granted to any other district throughout the Commonwealth. We know there were no reimbursements made, but many of those institutions were in a dilapidated condition, whereas our institutions were kept in good condition. The only thing we are asking here is for some reimbursement, because in the two counties there is still outstanding $750,000 of bonded indebtedness. In addition to that the commissioners of both counties have gone to great expense in instituting a court case protesting the 1937 act. It is for these reasons in addition to the reasons given by my colleague, Mr. Stonier, that I find that I must vote "no" on this measure.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, this is probaly the last bill or one of the last bills that will be acted upon in this session, and I cannot say that I am not thankful, because my onerous duties are now beginning to thin out to almost nothing, and I might succumb, Mr. Speaker, to a weakness of the flesh and just sit in my seat and ask that a rollcall be had. But the spirit won't let me.

I think, Mr. Speaker, what is being attempted by this bill is to try to read into the law something that does not exist. This bill is attempting to declare in effect that the police power of the Commonwealth may be extended as a weapon over labor unions. Labor unions are rightfully resentful of any such legislation as this, and organized labor in every one of its phases is unalterably opposed to legislation of the type in this bill. You are attempting to tell an unincorporated group of men, who under the law of the land are permitted to congregate and bargain collectively for their rights as the law provides, what they can and cannot do. You are attempting in this bill to tell them that they may not make contributions to any political party, or on behalf of any political candidate and in that way express their political thought. If you really wanted to be sincere about this thing and if you wanted to carry it through you ought also to put an amendment into the law that would prevent a member of the labor union from running for public office; you ought to provide that members of labor unions or officials of unions may not be public officials, but when you attempt to tell by this bill an unincorporated association of men and women what you may think about public matters but they may not act about public matters, then I think we are coming dangerously close to a situation that we all abhor.

Maybe it is just unfortunate that the labor unions in the last few years have been backing the wrong horse, as you see it, but I do know that labor organizations in the past have backed individual candidates opposed to my party, and they have backed individual candidates opposed to your party. They have been supporting financially and otherwise my party in some places and your party in others.

You well remember a few years ago when the head of one of the great unions in America openly opposed my party. When he did I thought it was his right to express his opinion, and if he was the leader of his union as he seemed to be, to attempt to persuade the members of his union to take that position.

What we are trying to do by this bill, Mr. Speaker, is to make it a penal offense for an unincorporated group of American citizens to express their political action in terms of contributions. That, I think is bad; it is fundamentally bad. There would be in this act that which would prevent members of a labor union, officers or the treasurer or the organization itself from contributing money to one of its own members who may seek public office. No body would say that a fraternal organization might not, if they saw fit, contribute to the support of one of their own members running for public office. Nowhere in the law is there a provision against a corporation or any individual contributing to one of its own members for political purposes. It is true, as a matter of public policy, and acting under the police power, that corporations and persons are limited in the amount of money they could contribute, because corruption in elections has been traced to excessive contributions by certain types of corporations. But, Mr. Speaker, when you come to the point where you want to snuff out organized labor in one way or the other and you have no great concern about the means by which you do so, I believe you take one step too far in the wrong direction.

I feel that the bill is not constitutional, but will not belabor you tonight with the law on the subject, because fundamentally what we want is an expression of how we feel about the unions. We will let the courts take care of the law. I ask you with all the sincerity I can command to think fundamentally about what is being done and forget about the practical result you want to attain possibly this year or next, because the making of laws such as this, or rather the wrecking of laws such as this, the wrecking of the fundamental rights and the putting of a premium on the privileges and the rights of people to express themselves freely in their political thought is going to come back and haunt us some day, and I hope it will not be because expression of approval of his bill tonight.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose Senate Bill No. 304, at the same time realizing that it is a bad precedent for anyone to rise and waste time. Secondly, I am not going to take much time, but I understand that there are Members in the House on the Republican side who pretend to be the friends of organized labor. Let me tell you now that this is a sneak up the alley against the American labor movement, and if you are a friend of organized labor and want to do something in their protection and in their behalf you will vote "no" on this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally

RESOLUTION

CREATING AUTHORITIES

Mr. JAMES offered the following resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1943.

Whereas, under the provisions of the Act of June 28, 1935, (P. L. 463) any municipality is authorized to create an "Authority" to acquire, construct, lease and maintain various projects including bridges, tunnels, waterworks, water systems, sewage systems, etc., in the interests of people of such municipality; and

Whereas, many of such "Municipal Authorities" have been created and are serving the public good; and

Whereas, the price paid for the acquisition of projects by "Municipal Authorities" has been questioned; and

Whereas, it is desirable that an investigation and study of the acquisitions, operations and maintenance of the municipal authorities be undertaken for the purpose of ascertaining what amendments to the authority law is necessary to bring about better protection for the public as well as improved efficiency; and

Whereas, such investigation and study shall be made by a joint committee representing both houses of the General Assembly since remedial legislation must be enacted by the joint action of both Houses; therefore be it

Resolved, that the Joint State Government Commission be and it is hereby charged to undertake immediately the investigation and study of the Municipal Authorities and the law under which they are created, to ascertain

a. Number created

b. Costs of acquisitions

c. Operation and maintenance

d. Rates paid by consumers

e. Benefits derived

f. Defects in the law

g. Amendments deemed necessary to improve the operation of the law.

h. Any other pertinent facts considered as important to this investigation, and be it further

Resolved that a report be made to the General Assembly of its findings to the first special or regular session following the adjournment of the present session together with recommendations and drafts of Legislation deemed necessary and desirable.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Stockham to preside.

MR. STOCKHAM IN THE CHAIR

PRESENTATIONS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We will resume the program we recessed from a little while ago, to continue with the calendar.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Reese.

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. Mr. Speaker, it is with a great deal of pleasure that I present this resolution in behalf of my good friend from a neighboring county, Bob Frey.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. DAVID P. REESE, Jr. offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1943.

When it comes to writing resolutions, there is but one master who has the abundant use of language, in poetry as well as in prose, and to whom thoughts, sentimental, humorous, profound and lofty, come as freely as the breath he breathes, whose works stand out like jewels from the pages of legislative journals for many years past.

Not only as an artist in expression does he excel, but as a shrewd and sagacious legislative counsellor, a capable and conscientious drafter of bills and propounder of parliamentary strategy, all of which qualifications fit him to perform with the highest degree of efficiency the duties of the office which he holds, that of Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House hereby congratulates the Honorable Robert S. Frey on his great success, and thanks him for his splendid services to the members of this body, and express their appreciation of his friendly and willing helpfulness; and that, in further token of the feeling of each member for their friend and adviser, the Chief Clerk be instructed to transmit a copy of this resolution to the man best known to all of us as "Bob Frey."

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The resolution was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, Mr. Frey.

Mr. ROBERT S. FREY. Mr. Speaker, this is the second time in a little less than five weeks I have been taken entirely by surprise and unprepared.

The Parliamentarian of the House and I had a sort of agreement that I would not draw a resolution of any kind about him and he would do the same thing about me. I don't know whether Ed slipped or somebody else got in, but of course I appreciate it. I am tired and I want to get home. However, I want every Member to know that I have enjoyed the session; I have enjoyed my contacts with all the Members and I want you to realize after you go home that the Bureau will still be working. If you want anything after you go home don't hesitate to call upon us. It will give us as much pleasure to serve you when you are away as it did when you were here. I thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The part that we now come to in the program is the part that was planned originally to be held at a separate time. The work of the House for the last forty-eight hours has been such that those plans have had to be changed as to the arrangements when the presentation of the gifts would be made by various Members of this House. Resolutions have been adopted here tonight, and upon those resolutions comments were made by Members concerning those for whom the resolutions were presented and to whom the attention of the House is directed with its best wishes and felicitations.

The resolutions that were presented expressed the sincere appreciation of the House, and those who will take part in this second part of the program have contended that it would be repetitious and that it would take too much time, particularly at this hour to have each one of these men direct the attention of this body to those to whom gifts are to be made, and so it was directed that your presiding officer should make the presentations, thus saving time.

I think then as the presiding officer I can but second all the very fine things that have been said about the various officers and those connected with the workings of this House together with others to whom we will make presentations.

It was the plan of your committee this year that we should make these presentations in the form of bonds. It is very difficult to secure appropriate presents today, and it is far more patriotic and of possibly even greater value to the recipients that bonds be given in lieu of the usual presents, and to this end I will make the following presentations.

To the Speaker of the House and in behalf of you Members I want to present these bonds as a further token of the esteem of the Members of the House. In this envelope there are five hundred fifty dollars worth of bonds.

SPEAKER IRA T. FISS. Mr. Speaker, I want to assure the Members of this House that it has been a pleasure to work with such a fine group of men. I do not think

I can ever forget, especially when you are so generous as to give a present such as this. I shall treasure this gift and keep it as long as it is possible to keep it, and as each year goes by I shall be thinking of every Member of this House of Representatives.

I deeply appreciate your kindness, courtesy and the wholehearted fellowship and willingness to do things. The work of the House can be accomplished by good will and the things that really make for advancement. I don't know what else I can say, but I hope that we shall be able to meet again, all of us, in the same kind of a session. That in our daily life during the coming season we shall meet each other often, with expressions of the same good will and kindly feeling.

I just happened to think of a little poem which I think is appropriate. It is very short and runs something like this:

I know not where his islands lift
Their fronded palms in air,
I only know I cannot drift
Beyond His love and care.

That is the expression I wish to convey to you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The next gift is to the Majority Floor Leader. I will not add to the words that have already been addressed to those who have received gifts, excepting to say that the House makes this very tangible contribution with their best wishes to the Majority Floor Leader for the fine service he has rendered, so Frank Lichtenwalter—I believe he is busy in the Senate—Mr. Rose, will you accept it for him.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, my friend, Mr. Lichtenwalter, will be back shortly, and I will say nothing in his behalf, because when he returns he will do that himself.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For the Minority Floor Leader we have a deep appreciation for the very fine way he has kept his even demeanor, and so I ask Reuben Cohen to come to the rostrum. These two gifts are in denominations of one hundred dollars.

Mr. COHEN. I am very happy for this material manifestation of your good wishes in working for Uncle Sam for the next few years. But let me make this plain; when the time comes that Uncle Sam does not need it any more, I am going to try to get for myself something which I think you might have given me, something that might have been your choice so that I may have that to treasure for the rest of my life.

Since we have all become so poetic I was thinking in the last half hour of a very favorite poem of mine which I like to think and feel reflects the calm and the quiet that should be with all of us after this hectic session is over. It goes something like this:

Under a bright and starry sky
Dig the grave and let me lie
For gladly I lived and gladly I die
And I lay me down with a will.

This be the word you grave for me
Here he lies where he longed to be Home is the hunter home from the hill
And the sailor home from the sea.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, who has returned to the House.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry I was not here at the time of the presentation. I was over checking with the Senate to keep you going.

I know that every one of you is weary and tired. We are trying to get to the end of this session as soon as possible. I do want to say from the bottom of my heart that I thank you, every one of you, for this gift. It certainly was not necessary—it was my job—you elected me to do it, and all I can say is thank you anyhow.

Mr. FREED. Mr. Chairman, we all admire Frank Lichtenwalter. We who come from Lehigh County are very proud of him because we think of one thing:

When the Great Scorer comes
To write against your name
He writes not how you won or lost
But how you played the game.

And that is Frank Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Now, the Majority Whip. Walter Rose's job has been referred as being tedious and hard, and his reward is well deserved. I now present to Walter E. Rose a fifty dollar bond.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Chairman, I probably am too modest, the way I work on you fellows. You are the workers; it takes fellows like you to make my job whatever success it has been, but I really accept this gift in all kindness of heart. It has been a pleasure to work with you, and I ought to have a bond to give to the rest of you instead of getting one.

Mr. GREENWOOD. Mr. Speaker, how about the Bible Belt? What do we get? Nothing?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Bible Belt gets our prayer.

The next gentleman is the Minority Whip, James E. Lovett. I want to welcome Mr. Lovett to the rostrum and present to him this fifty dollar bond.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I don't know why you have given me this unless it is because of all the trouble I caused you.

I do want to let you all in on something here. The other day Mr. Stockham came over to my desk and said "What is your wife's name?"

I said "Grace".

He said "What is her middle initial?" And I said "E."

So after he left I wondered why he wanted my wife's name. I wrote down the telephone number and took it over to him and said "you might as well have this too."

Let's be fair about it, gentlemen, I deeply appreciate this for two reasons. I know that this is fair because this is in my own name and my wife's name, and nothing could be fairer than that. I certainly appreciate it and I will be glad to share with my wife and be fair about it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. I want to say when Mr. Lovett gave me the telephone number he told me that he was not worried about it because she was so far away he didn't think I would try to find her, he didn't believe I would spend the money to go up there.

Reference has been made concerning the wives of members receiving gifts that possibly requires an explanation. It was the thought of the committee that possibly the bonds really should be in joint ownership, but it was decided finally that the bonds should be in the name of the recipient alone, so that really we have fooled Mr.

Lovett. He thinks his wife's name is on the bond, but it is not there at all.

The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Hall.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. HALL offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 8, 1943.

The Parliamentarian of this House looms larger at each session of the General Assembly.

For years S. Edward Moore has struggled to keep changing Speakers from the parliamentary pitfalls that constantly await them and the humiliating situations into which they are led.

That he has been chosen to fill this important position at each session since 1929 regardless of the political complexion of the House, is convincing testimony of his value and the necessity of his retention.

To him the conducting of this House by rule and by precedent is a religion and it would be sacrilege to deviate from that which has been established by custom and by the rules of this House.

He is as jealous of his interpretation of the rules of the House, of the rules of parliamentary procedure, and of established precedents as the judge on the bench and he could not advise a course for political expediency that ran counter to his judgment; therefore be it

Resolved, By the Members of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that we extend to our Parliamentarian, S. Edward Moore, our sincere thanks for the help he has been to us during the Session now closing and congratulate him upon the manner in which he has fulfilled the duties of his most important position and that the Chief Clerk of the House be directed to transmit a copy of this resolution to him immediately upon the adjournment of this House.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, it has been a very great pleasure to me to be able to present this resolution. I believe with Ed that what we do speaks so loud that what we say cannot be heard. I just wish him the best of everything.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the Speaker of the House.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss). Mr. Speaker, I would like to second this resolution. I cannot let this opportunity pass because I don't know whether the Members of this House realize what the Parliamentarian means to the House. It is real work, and the tremendous amount of detail that is required back of the scenes is a part of the work of the Parliamentarian. You only see the Parliamentarian at work when he is on the rostrum; he is working before and after, and I certainly want to pay this tribute to Eddie Moore, because he is one of the very best qualified men in parliamentary practice, and certainly this House would suffer a great loss if we didn't have a man like Edward Moore. I cannot let this opportunity pass without paying this tribute to one of the finest parliamentarians I think that we have in any state in the United States.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Before recognizing Mr. Moore the Chair will include the gift that the House is presenting him with and its very best regards. The House presents to you this fifty dollar War Bond.

Mr. S. EDWARD MOORE. Mr. Speaker, it is very difficult at a time like this to find words to express one's feelings. I am not unmindful of the sentiments expressed in the resolution and the remarks made in reference thereto, which I deeply appreciate and sincerely thank all of you for this gift.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The next presentation is to the Chief Clerk. Those of you who have been here during other years know Bill Habbyshaw as a Member of the House. We know his real worth as a Member. The experience he gained is one that entitles him indeed to have a part in this presentation, so I want to present to Mr. Habbyshaw a fifty dollar bond.

Mr. WILLIAM E. HABBYSRAW. Mr. Speaker, I want to say many, many thanks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. To the Secretary of the House I could almost repeat the words I used a minute ago, because Bill Roan was also a Member of the House. On my first term here he sat right in front of me.

Mr. WILLIAM P. ROAN. Mr. Speaker, I thank you very much. I don't know what you gentlemen are going to do in the next few days, but I am going to take my boy and go fishing. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. There are other pleasant duties to perform. So far we have heard from the officers, but there are others who are working constantly, taking care of the details of the office. While we are up here they are busily engaged in work. They are all good friends of ours. The job they are doing is one that has no glamor, but requires faithful workers, so I want to present to the Secretary of the Chief Clerk a twenty-five dollar bond. Will Miss Barbush come to the rostrum?

Miss BARBUSH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I thank you very much.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We have a presentation to make to the Secretary to Mr. Roan. We have known this lady during the years as being one who is very familiar with matters of government. Many of us have often referred to her for information, and so I present Mrs. Justine Cohen, I don't need to introduce her to you, every one of us knows her and knows of the fine work she has been doing.

Mrs. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, and Members of the House, I thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Now for the stenographers in the Chief Clerk's office. These ladies have taken care of the correspondence for Members of the House. We have provided for these folks stamps. To each one we are presenting ten dollars worth of stamps. Will the young ladies present themselves at the bar of the House. The Chair will request this good looking young man, the page to the Speaker, to make the presentations.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Next the pages. The Chair will request Mr. Adam Bower to make the presentations to the boys.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, while Mr. Bower is getting ready to make the presentation, the Clerk handed me a slip concerning one of the pages. I think it is very laudable, and we should all know that Billy Proctor won the 112 pound championship in 1942. He also won the 112 pound championship in 1943 in the finals in Philadelphia. He has won the central Pennsylvania championship twice. He has won his last three bouts, and let us hope he will be champion some day.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We have now completed the presentation of gifts to the officers and employes, if there is no objection at this time the Chair will clear the table. The Chair hears none.

SENATE MESSAGES

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

In the Senate, May 7, 1943.

Whereas, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania recognizes that there should be some equitable distribution of State funds to the cities, boroughs and townships of the first class for the maintenance of their streets and highways in view of the substantial distributions that have been made and are still being made to the counties and the second class townships of the State; and

Whereas, war conditions and the curtailed use of automobiles with the consequent reduction in revenues have rendered it impossible at this session to make any further contributions or to set up any permanent plan of distribution to all the municipal subdivisions which is the objective the General Assembly hopes, ultimately, to attain; and

Whereas, one half cent of gasoline tax is now distributed currently to the counties in addition to the substantial appropriation to the second class townships, and

Whereas, a few of the counties, recognizing the situation, have made an equitable distribution of a part of the funds received from the State among their municipal subdivisions exclusive of second class townships; now therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That it is the sense of the General Assembly that all of the counties of the State should make a fair and equitable distribution of a portion of the funds received by them from the gasoline tax among their political subdivisions to assist said subdivisions in the maintenance of their streets and highways; and be it further

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), that the Joint State Government Commission in conjunction with the Department of Highways be, and they hereby are directed to make a study of the distribution of State funds to all of the political subdivisions of the State as well as to the counties with the objectives in mind of establishing a permanent and equitable distribution of a portion of the funds of the Commonwealth so that all political subdivisions will receive their fair proportionate share of the funds and thus equitably relieve local real estate of taxation to the greatest extent possible.
